SUPREME COURT CASES KEYS TO 1936 CAMPAIGN

AAA and Other New Laws at Stake.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 29.—[Special.]—The future course of the New Deal and probably the most vital issue of the 1936 presidential election will be determined by the October term of the Supreme court, which meets a week from tomorrow. Before the national conventions are held next June the court is expected to render decisions on New Deal legislation which will determine once and for all time whether President Roosevelt is bent upon changing the American form of government. The Republicans are somewhat in doubt on the AAA, as so many farmers like it for paying them for what they did not raise.

Roosevelt Clings to AAA.

In his speech at Fremont, Neb., yesterday, President Roosevelt committed himself permanently to the agricultural adjustment act and offered it as a major claim to a vote of confidence next year.

The AAA will be tested in the case of the United States vs. Butler, receiver for the Hoosac Mills company, who refused to pay the floor taxes on his stock. The Court of Appeals at Boston reversed the District court and called the tax unconstitutional. The case has been appealed by the government.

If that act is upheld by the Supreme court the New Deal's stock will soar. If it is not upheld the New Deal will be forced to make the United States constitution the major issue in 1936.

May Recall Dred Scott Case.

The Hoosac Mills case may rank with the Dred Scott decision in its political consequences.

That the Roosevelt administration will seek to amend the constitution to give the federal government virtually unlimited powers, in the event the Supreme court holds the AAA and other New Deal legislation unconstitutional, was plainly indicated by Secretary of Commerce Daniel C. Roper in his Constitution day address.

The Supreme court not only will decide the constitutionality of the AAA at its forthcoming session but also:

The Bankhead cotton control act.

The corporate reorganization act.

Coal Act in Lower Courts.

The Guffey coal act, which President Roosevelt demanded despite doubts as to its constitutionality, "however reasonable," is now on trial in a suit for injunction pending in the District of Columbia Supreme court and probably will reach the United States Supreme court before the conventions next June.

In Baltimore John W. Davis, 1924 Democratic nominee for President, is challenging the constitutionality of the Wheeler-Rayburn public utility law in the federal District court. That law, which is one of President Roosevelt's favorites, also may reach the Supreme court before that court's recess next June.

Bankhead Law Case.

The Bankhead cotton act, which taxes cotton 50 per cent of the market price if sold in excess of allotted quotas, will come up for review in the case of Moor vs. Texas and New Orleans Railroad company. Moor, a Texas farmer, was allotted 850 bales of cotton and he produced 2,000. He offered some of his excess cotton to the railroad for shipment, without accompanying it with tax free certificates, and the railroad refused shipment. The Circuit Court of Appeals held that Moor had an adequate remedy at law by suing the railroad for damages, and did not pass upon the constitutionality of the Bankhead act.

Utility Fights PWA Loans.

PRESIDENT GETS READY TO TALK AT DAM TODAY

Final Touches Put on Boulder Speech.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Aboard Presidential Special en Route to San Diego—Salt Lake City, Utah, Sept. 29.—[Special.]—As his train sped through the rugged hills of Wyoming and Utah on the third day of his westward passage to California President Roosevelt today reflected upon his reception in the farm belt yesterday.

Mr. Roosevelt also spent several hours in his private car polishing up his speech to be delivered at Boulder dam tomorrow. He is expected to follow up his defense of the agricultural adjustment act with a blast at the utility companies, the power question admittedly being an issue in the 1936 campaign.

Finds Applause Weaker.

The President was reported to have been slightly disappointed by yesterday's developments. Large crowds turned out along the railroad right of way in Nebraska, but their applause at the appearance of the President on the rear platform of his car lacked something in spontaneity.

At half a dozen stops the President made short talks. Those were a repetition of the opening of his Fremont, Neb., speech to the farmers. Using almost the same phraseology in each instance, he remarked that he had last been in that locality three years ago and that "conditions are mighty improved now over three years ago, I can very easily see."

Far from evoking wild cheers, that statement was met by the agricultural audiences with silence or scattered handclapping.

His advisers told the President that farmers were not the volatile type who expressed their enthusiasm vocally. They comforted him by pointing to the size of the crowds until some undiplomatic aid recalled that William Jennings Bryan and Alfred E. Smith broke all records for turnouts when they traveled through the country.

Dozens of local Democratic politicians boarded the train at each stop and volubly assured Mr. Roosevelt that their districts were solidly for him.

Praise for Senator Norris.

Another statement repeated several times by the President was one carrying praise of Senator George W. Norris, nominal Republican but known as one of the senate radicals. When Mr. Roosevelt called Senator Norris "one of the half dozen greatest Americans" there was strangely little enthusiasm shown by the senator's home state listeners.

The President today ordered released by the treasury department in Washington his summation of the 1936 budget. One significant statement made in that summation was that the work relief program "has moved more slowly than I hoped, but is now accelerating with reasonable assurance of providing adequate employment during the coming months."

Cheered at Salt Lake City.

The main stop made today by the President was at Salt Lake City. There he received the most enthusiastic reception during the trip thus far. Ten thousand persons cheered him as he repeated his usual phrase about "things being better than three years ago."

Recalling that Secretary of War George Dern formerly lived in Salt Lake City, the President announced that he was sorry Dern was not present but was on his way to the Philippines to attend the inauguration of Manuel Quezon as the first president of the Philippine commonwealth.

"It is a fine thing," Mr. Roosevelt remarked, "when a nation, after acquiring a territory by war, relinquishes it. This country has kept its word and the Philippines are going to be independent in a few years. This country believes in keeping its word and it is a good thing for the whole world to observe."

Slayer Is Executed While Saying Prayer for Mother

Bellefonte, Pa., Sept. 29 [Monday.]—John William Kozier, one-time West Virginia miner, said a prayer for his mother and died calmly in the electric chair today for killing a Masontown, Pa., jeweler in an attempted robbery. He had his mother's name on his lips when the first contact was made.

REP. SHORT, MISSOURI, NAMES ROOSEVELT 'A MODERN HOUDINI'

Pelican Rapids, Minn., Sept. 29.—(AP)—Calling President Roosevelt a "modern Houdini," Representative Dewey Short of Galena, Mo., criticized administration tactics as "socialistic regimentation" before a Ninth Congressional district Republican rally today.

"Thomas Jefferson founded the Democratic party, and Franklin Roosevelt dumfounded it," Short said. The Missouri congressman said twenty million persons were on relief rolls and warned: "Santa Claus will turn Shylock."

"They keep two budgets," Short asserted, "an ordinary and an extraordinary—and neither of them is balanced The Democrats are giving away all your money."

Indiana Woman Is Bitten Severely by Vicious Sow

Mr. Joe Louis & Some 7,500 Attend Church

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 29.—(AP)—Joe Louis came back home to his people today, not as the "Brown Bomber" of prize ring glory but as an apostle to his race.

In the Calvary Baptist church, where Joe, as a boy, learned his Sunday school lessons, 2,500 crammed every inch of space. Outside the church 5,000 more crowded the neighboring streets.

As the dusky hero pushed his way through the crowd to the platform with his bride, pandemonium broke loose. The cheer was repeated by the crowd outside and went echoing through Detroit's near east side.

Joe Skips His Talk.

It was not a cheer for a conquering warrior of the ring. His people were hailing him as a "clean living and good boy."

Joe was on the program for a short talk, but he never made it.

Joe heard himself lauded by the pastor, James S. Mastin, and other speakers. One termed him as just a "good Christian boy," another said there "hasn't been one of the race to make as much of his talent since President Lincoln freed the slaves." All avoided mention of his ring conquests in paying tribute to his character and method of living.

Helps Out Collection.

During the ceremonies a collection was taken up for the Lily of the Valley club of the church. When the head collector admonished the brethren for the size of the collection, Joe dropped a $100 bill into the box.

A chicken dinner was served by the club to close the historic occasion at the church.

Joe and Marva arrived at Union station this morning and hurried away to the home he had given his mother.

Cowboy Congressmen Wins Fourth in Roping Contest

Antlers, Okla., Sept. 29.—(AP)—Percy L. Gassaway, Oklahoma's cowboy congressman, has proved that the ten gallon hat and ornate boots he wears aren't just a costume. In a steer roping contest here yesterday Gassaway won fourth money of $50. Gassaway took 39.1 seconds to lasso and tie his animal. The best time was 20 seconds.

NORMANDIE CROSSES ATLANTIC IN 3 DAYS, 23 HOURS; NEW RECORD

LONDON, Sept. 30 [Monday].—(AP)—The new French liner Normandie completed a trans-Atlantic voyage early today in the record time of 3 days and 23 hours from New York, newspaper dispatches from Plymouth reported.

The previous record was 4 days, 3 hours, and 28 minutes from Ambrose Light to Bishop's Rock, also established by the Normandie. The exact minute of the passing of Bishop's Rock today was not made known.

SHIP ROTTERDAM IS AGROUND OFF JAMAICA COAST

New York, Sept. 30 [Monday].—(AP)—The Holland-America liner Rotterdam with 600 passengers and 350 crew members on a West Indian cruise was aground today 60 miles east of Kingston, Jamaica. Nearby ships were asked to stand by.

A wireless message from the ship said it went on a reef at Morant Cays and was in no immediate danger. The liner is commanded by Capt. Van Dulken.

The Rotterdam sailed on Sept. 21 on the cruise and was scheduled to return to New York Friday. The 21,000 ton liner was built in 1908 at Belfast and has been used primarily for trans-Atlantic service.

Shipping men expressed the opinion the steamer could not have been directly in the path of the hurricane which swept part of Cuba after passing over Jamaica.

Morant Cays is east and slightly south of Jamaica, about one-fourth of the distance between that island and Haiti.

HUNT FOR 4 LOST IN ARCTIC PLANE TO BE ABANDONED

FAIRBANKS, Alaska, Sept. 29.—(AP)—The organized search for the lost airplane of Pilot Arthur F. Hines probably will end tomorrow, authorities said today.

Pilots William Lavery and Herman Lerdahl are expected to return tomorrow from the arctic circle, where they have been seeking the missing ship, its pilot and three passengers, Mr. and Mrs. John Lonz and Alton Nordale, all of Fairbanks, who vanished Aug. 19 en route here from Dawson, Y. T.

Three Women, Girl and Man on Death List

Five persons were killed and at least ten others were severely injured late last night when they were trapped by a spectacular fire that followed a basement explosion in a three story tenement house at 558 Taylor street. The interior of the building was destroyed by the fire, which officials suspected was of incendiary origin.

The list of dead includes three women, a girl, and a man. All the dead and the injured were members of families living on the second and third floors of the structure. None of the injured, in the opinion of onlookers, would have been saved had it not been for the prompt action of firemen from truck companies No. 2 and No. 5, who put ladders up to the windows and carried them out through the flames and smoke.

Mother and Daughter Dead.

The dead were Mrs. Rose Angelesano, 45 years old; her daughter, Rachael Angelesano, 20 years old; Joseph Grasso, 40 years old; his daughter, Virginia Grasso, 16 years old, and Pasqualina Cappola, 11 years old.

Under treatment for burns and other hurts at the Mother Cabrini hospital are Mrs. Theresa Cappola, mother of Pasqualina, and her sons, Ralph, 13 years old, and Frank Jr., 3 years old, and Antoinette Grasso, 11 years old. The smallest boy's burns were not regarded as serious, but he was injured when he was tossed or jumped from a second floor window.

The following were being cared for at the County hospital: Mrs. Raphaelo Grasso, 45 years old, widow of Joseph; Frank Cappola, 40 years old; Joseph Angelesano, 30 years old, and three of Cappola's children, Daniel, 12 years old; Philomena, 7 years old, and Philip, 9 years old.

Considerable damage was caused by the explosion, which to ; away a part of the west wall of the building. Flames immediately burst out, trapping the twenty sleeping occupants of the building. Nearly all were clinging to the windows and crying piteously for help when the firemen arrived. Three were unconscious from smoke, and one or two, maddened by the searing fire, had already leaped to the street.

Girl Dead on Sidewalk.

The Grasso girl, the firemen said, was dead on the sidewalk when they reached her.

Police and fire ambulances and private automobiles were pressed into service to transport the injured to the hospitals.

Frank Vitale, owner of a grocery on the first floor, was taken into custody by the Maxwell street police for questioning.

This was done at the suggestion of Police Sergeant Anthony Gentile of the Albany Park station, who is owner of the building. Sergt. Gentile said he had been having trouble recently with Vitale. The latter lived in the rear of his store.

Tenant Ordered Out.

"I had ordered Vitale out," the sergeant declared, "and he had refused to move. About 4 years ago he had a fire in his store which he has operated for 15 years."

Vitale denied knowing anything about the origin of the fire. He said he had taken his two children, Tony, 12, and Rose, 11, on a visit to his sister at 3534 West Huron street yesterday and they were still absent when the fire started.

Fire Attorney Thomas J. Sheehan was informed by residents of the neighborhood that it was gossiped a still was being operated in the basement. From another source, Mr. Sheehan said, he was informed that Vitale arrived while the fire was in progress and fainted, but soon revived and went to the home of a neighbor where he was seized by the police.

Fire Marshal Corrigan, who took charge of the battle against the flames, said that the property damage would amount to about $5,000.

7 MORE HATCHET KILLINGS LAID TO RUMANIAN GIANT

JASI, Rumania, Sept. 29.—(AP)—Police attributed today seven more hatchet killings to the giant Vasile Tcaciuc, who has confessed that he murdered twenty-one persons through a pretty girl decoy. Persons familiar with this countryside, where many men have strangely disappeared in recent years, placed the number of probable victims at forty.

Inquiries by the police brought to light one man who escaped Tcaciuc. A village school teacher, lured into a room, eluded the gigantic youth by a desperate lunge out of the door.

BINDS BRITAIN TO RESIST ALL NATIONS AT WAR

Hoare Makes Pledge in Note to France.

BY JOHN STEELE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Sept. 29.—The reply of Sir Samuel Hoare, British foreign secretary, to France's inquiry of Sept. 10 regarding the attitude of the British government in the event of a violation of the league of nations covenant—meaning a German attack on Austria or Memel [Klaipeda]—was issued today.

Hoare's note made it plain that Great Britain supports "steady and collective resistance to all acts of unprovoked aggression" regardless of whether it is in Europe or Africa.

"To suggest or insinuate" that Britain's present attitude "was for some reason peculiar to the Italo-Ethiopian conflict would be a complete misunderstanding," the foreign secretary declared.

Stand Back of League.

No comment was available from the foreign office, but it is understood that the British wish to make it clear that in case of any purely unprovoked aggression they would stand with the league wholeheartedly for collective action against an offender. However, the note said:

"In case of resort to force, it is clear there may be degrees of culpability and degrees of aggression and that the nature of action appropriate to be taken under article XVI. of the covenant may vary according to the circumstances of each particular case.

"It is evident that procedure appropriate as regards a positive act of unprovoked aggression is not made applicable as regards a negative act of failure to fulfill terms of a treaty."

Refers to Treaty Obligations.

Hoare continued as follows:

"And similarly, in regard to treaty obligations, it is pertinent to recall, as I already have said at Geneva, that elasticity is a part of security and every member of the league must recognize, as the covenant itself recognizes, that the world is not static.

"If it is suggested that this declaration in support of the principles of the covenant, embodied in my recent speech at Geneva and reaffirmed in the present note, represents only the policy of his majesty's present government and not necessarily that of their successors in office, I may point out that while my words at Geneva were in fact spoken in behalf of the present government of this country, those words were also spoken with the overwhelming support and approval of the people of this country.

"As stated at Geneva and as has since become increasingly evident, the attitude of public opinion in the last few weeks has clearly demonstrated the fact it is moved by no variable or unreliable sentiment, but is concerned with the general principle of international conduct, to which it will hold firmly so long as the league remains an effective body."

Paris Is Chagrined.

Indications from Paris were that the reply is not as definite as France had hoped. France wanted the I's dotted and the T's crossed in the declaration toward Germany, but the note was as far as the British public opinion would go.

The "operative" words, "Action must be collective," mean that Britain will support any league action provided all the members do likewise, but will not stand with France alone. Britain would play its part in any completely collective action as against Germany, but is not prepared to underwrite a purely French warlike operation against Germany in any circumstance.

Public Opinion Strengthened.

PARIS, Sept. 29.—(AP)—French officials tonight counted on Great Britain's formal assurance of allegiance to league of nations principles in "all cases" of unprovoked aggression to strengthen the nation's public opinion for a firm stand in the Italo-Ethiopian crisis.

While government observers said the assurances from Sir Samuel Hoare were "very satisfactory," they welcomed also his distinction in the usages of article XVI., the punitive section of the league of nations covenant.

One of the strongest arguments of the nationalistic section of the French press against a strong stand in the case of Italian aggression in Ethiopia has been that Britain failed to de-

Charges Proven False.

Hoare's explanation that article XVI., with its sanctions, is not applicable to a negative act of nonexecution of treaty terms was expected, one official said, to "take the wind out of the sails" of those who have steadily accused Britain of backing sanctions [penalties] against Italy "solely out of self-interest."

Officials reiterated that supplementary negotiations looking toward a mutual assistance "arrangement" were being conducted by the French and the British.

"When your house and your friendly neighbor's house are threatened with fire, you don't wait until the flames catch to check the nearest water supply and have your hose ready," one official said.

Fears for Own Safety.

Meanwhile, political circles reflected France's alarm for her own safety in the event Premier Mussolini's expected conquest of Ethiopia shakes Europe into two armed camps —if not war.

Today's Memel elections stirred political leaders to a new warning against Adolf Hitler, and fears were expressed in the press that Italy, if she quits the league, might take Hungary and perhaps Poland with her and form a new bloc with Germany in a struggle for the balance of power.

Conservative leaders were obviously worried by the prospect of sanctions, while even left wing organs, hostile to Mussolini, maintained their opposition to military measures.

"Whether Ethiopia's mobilization, Mussolini's warning to the league or the Memel elections precipitate things remains to be seen," said one official spokesman. "We can only wait."

Two Warnings Sounded.

Two former cabinet members warned of the dangers of an Italo-Ethiopian conflict and Germany's rearmament.

"I would not want to dramatize events," Adrien Bariac, prominent member of the chamber of foreign affairs committee, told a meeting of farmers, "but I feel duty bound to place the patriots of this country on guard against the peril which we may have to face unexpectedly."

Deputy Lucien Lamoureux declared before a political meeting attended by Minister of Justice Regnier:

"The situation is extremely delicate, for there is danger both at home and abroad. The danger abroad is Germany's intensive arming, also the probability of war between Italy and Ethiopia."

The danger at home, he added, is in nationalistic "leagues" such as the Croix de Feu Fascist organization of war veterans.

ITALIANS EXPECT ETHIOPIAN ARMY TO ATTACK FIRST

ROME, Sept. 29. — (AP) — Informed sources said tonight that Italy expects an assault from Ethiopia when Haile Selassie's drums mobilize his men and she is ready for war.

Premier Mussolini, in yesterday's cabinet communique, declared the Ethiopian war lords intend "attacking Italy's colonial frontiers."

Anticipating the Ethiopian general mobilization, 200,000 Italian troops are in Eritrea ready for action. Thousands going daily soon will swell the army to a quarter million men from home and probably half as many natives.

Hundreds of war planes are poised for flight.

Should Selassie's forces attack, well informed sources asserted, Italy would be defending her colonies and the whole league of nations peace procedure would collapse.

"Italy is going straight ahead," officials declared.

As the great liner Saturnia sailed from Taranto today with 4,000 men for Eritrea, four ships at Naples took 5,000 others aboard for the East African voyage.

LEAGUE GLOOMY; FEARS MUSSOLINI WAR IS AT HAND

Defiant Note from Italy Irritates British.

GENEVA, Sept 29.—(AP)—Pessimism over the possibility of averting an Italo-Ethiopian war plunged to new depths tonight under the pressure of week-end communiques, utterances, and cablegrams.

Discouragement over the Italian communique issued at Rome on Saturday was deepened by the receipt of a cablegram from Emperor Haile Selassie warning that Ethiopia cannot longer delay mobilization in self-defense.

The communique from Rome, which warned the league of nations not to interfere, seemed to have a double effect: First, it convinced important league officials that hostilities will start before the league council committee of thirteen draws up its recommendations: Second, it seriously annoyed the British and thus lessened any chance for conciliation through London.

British Are Irritated.

British delegates here made no effort to conceal their irritation over that part of Il Duce's communique, which, they pointed out, "gave the impression" Great Britain all along had been loyally kept informed by Italy as to the latter's African plans but only recently had become excited.

As a matter of fact, British observers said, the British government ever since January has repeatedly approached both Ethiopia and Italy in an effort to promote a peaceful settlement of the dispute.

The reference in the Rome communique to the "accelerated rhythm" of Italian ship movements to Africa sounded to some league circles like the next thing to the actual announcement of hostilities.

Likewise, the speech to the assembly of Eduard Benes, its president, yesterday, in which he remarked that the Chaco war "teaches us" the league must continue patiently and perseveringly no matter what happens was interpreted by some delegates as accepting the inevitability of a war.

Benes Is Discouraged.

In private conversation Benes was reported as having gone even futher. He was said to have forecast there will be no settlement of the dispute "until after the guns go off."

News from the council subcommittee of three was as discouraging as everything else on the league horizon. This subcommittee, delegated to study the question of sending neutral observers to Ethiopia, was reported authoritatively to be meeting "very serious practical difficulties."

One important delegation described the project to send neutral observers in response to Selassie's request as virtually abandoned. The subcommittee meets tomorrow, but the council committee of thirteen does not plan to meet until Thursday.

Some league officials, however, foresaw the possibility of a quick session of the council to consider Ethiopia's mobilization warning. The first reaction to Selassie's communication was that it was of a nature to aggravate the military situation. Italians in Geneva heard the news calmly and said it did not change anything.

Greek Republicans Clash with Royalists; 15 Hurt

ATHENS, Sept. 29.—(AP)—Scattered political disturbances were reported throughout Greece today with 15 persons suffering wounds at Salonika in what was apparently the worst clash of the day between Republican and Royalist sympathizers.

2,000,000 Ethiopians Await War Drums' Call to Arms

BY WILL BARBER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ADDIS ABABA, Ethiopia, Sept. 29.—Convinced that the Italians intend to start a war of conquest by a surprise attack in the next few days, few Ethiopians believe that a general mobilization can be delayed much longer.

A general mobilization has not been decreed yet. It is expected for Wednesday, but, depending on what the Italians do, it is possible that the war drums may sound throughout the country by Tuesday. Ethiopia can muster two million warriors, one of the emperor's councilors said tonight. He promised "surprises" for Italy and examples of "heroism and resistance."

When mobilization is proclaimed, it is estimated, the government will have nearly a half million effectives on the Ogaden front, nearly 600,000 in the north, and 100,000 in central and eastern Ethiopia, including Addis Ababa. A half million older warriors will be available for reserves.

Emperor Haile Selassie's message to the league of nations, dated yesterday, stated that the monarch must order a general mobilization in self-defense if Italy continues its warlike preparations.

Delayed to Limit.

The delay thus far in ordering all able-bodied men above the age of 15 to the colors was explained by an official today.

"Every one is convinced," he said, "that war in inevitable and that mobilization is necessary. The emperor's telegram was intended to prepare world opinion for the inevitable and give the league of nations another chance to act to prevent war. When world opinion is prepared the emperor will decree a general mobilization."

In the telegram to the league the emperor stressed a desire to avoid any semblance of aggressive action. He emphasized that he intended to keep his troops 30 kilometers [about 18.75 miles] back of the Eritrea and Italian Somaliland frontiers.

Points to Menace.

Pointing out the "increasing gravity of the Italian menace by the continual dispatch of troops reënforcements," the emperor asked the league council to take precautions to prevent war and promised to continue to collaborate with the league in all its efforts for peace, but warned that "the time has come when we will be failing in our duty if orders for a general mobilization are delayed any longer."

Unless the Ethiopians change their minds again a general mobilization will be decreed to the sound of war drums throughout the country. The emperor's war drum, called Negarit, will be banged with the open hands of a warrior servant at the southern entrance of the old palace. Its thump will be answered by a thump from forty smaller hide kettle drums from the palace until the whole capital echoes with the sound, which will carry six miles or more. Every one of the six rases [princes] in his own province will have his drums banged and every local chieftain will smack his own drum to warn the people to rally to their leader.

Rush to Arms.

Throughout the country every man capable of bearing arms—a rifle, sword, or spear—is expected to drop anything he is doing and rush to the local leaders with his arms and the local leaders will march to their chieftains, who, in turn, rally around the rases, just as serfs, villeins, and vassals used to in feudal Europe. Ethiopia's army then will be ready to repel—not to fight—the invader.

The general mobilization is a new idea in Ethiopia, as heretofore when the war drums sounded the war was on. The emperor decided to take the measure because a call for volunteers, which usually is preliminary to a war, might have brought up only 60 per cent of the fighting men—not that they are unwilling to battle, but because they might not realize the gravity of the situation after his year long effort to keep them calm.

The mobilization will bring all of them and it will also mean that the nation's resources in material, food, and equipment will be expected to be placed at the disposal of the emperor.

EMPEROR HAILE ASKS LEAGUE TO RESTRAIN ITALY

GENEVA, Sept. 29.—(AP)—The text of Emperor Haile Selassie's telegram to the president of the league of nations council, dated Sept. 28, follows:

"Firmly and constantly resolved for peace, Ethiopia will continue to collaborate with the council for specific settlement in accordance with the covenant.

"It would, however, draw the council's most serious attention to the increasing gravity of the threat of Italian aggression, owing to the continued dispatch of reënforcements of troops and other preparation despite our pacific attitude.

"We earnestly beg the council to take as soon as possible all precautions against Italian aggression, since circumstances have become such that we should fail in our duty if we delayed any longer the general mobilization necessary to insure the defense of our country.

"Our contemplated mobilization will not affect our previous order to keep our troops a distance from the frontier and we confirm our resolution to coöperate closely with the league of nations in all circumstances.

"HAILE SELASSIE, Emperor."

INSIST ITALIAN KING IS TRYING TO PREVENT WAR

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Sept. 29.—Muffled but growing opposition on the part of the Italian royalty and people against Premier Mussolini's Ethiopian adventure was indicated today in reports received from Italy by anti-Fascist circles here, and particularly by former Premier Francesco Nitti.

The reports affirm that King Victor Emmanuel, never a very warlike monarch, is secretly striving to prevent an outbreak of hostilities and to save Italy's friendship with Great Britain. The king, it was stated, has the full support of Crown Prince Humbert, who is jealous of Mussolini's power and is ambitious to play the rôle of a real sovereign when he inherits his father's throne.

These are but a few of the many keys to advancement that will be demonstrated by G. E. Marchand of New York, "America's Foremost Maker of Successful Men and Women." Tonight at Orchestra Hall.

As a direct result of applying Mr. Marchand's method, thousands have been able to break away from dull, routine jobs and attain unexpected success. Following are just a few excerpts from many letters received from those who attend his program:

"More than doubled my earnings," says Frank H. Copeland. "Received three promotions with the Hudson Motor Car Co.," writes Wm. Lovett. "Now I am at the head of my own business. Success came from the start," says A. J. Thompson. "Increased my income from $4,000 to $7,000," telegraphs Irl R. Harris. "Last month I increased my pay check $97.32 over my previous month," writes J. E. Seitz. Letters like these are constantly pouring in.

If you are really ambitious, come tonight. Mr. Marchand's program may be worth thousands of dollars to you in the years to come.

ROOSEVELT'S BIG SPENDING IDEAS TRACED TO WAR

Records Show Huge Cost of Navy Operation.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 29.—[Special.]—Franklin Delano Roosevelt learned how to spend taxpayers' money in billions as assistant secretary of the navy during the war.

In the two war years Mr. Roosevelt helped the navy to spend almost four billion dollars. This expenditure was only a billion and a half less than the British navy spent during the entire war.

Before the United States entered the war, Mr. Roosevelt had talked in millions like other assistant secretaries of the navy. In the war his attention turned to billions.

Trace Spending Proclivities.

Observers of New Deal spending trace the administration's flippant regard for billions to the navy days. They point out that within a few days after his inauguration the President employed naval terminology, in asserting the country was at war with the depression.

The New Deal began under authority of the almost dictatorial grant of power to President Wilson during the war. President Roosevelt found that the war time acts never had been repealed and seized upon them to press the revolutionary measures of his brain trusters.

In the first two years of his fiscal term, Mr. Roosevelt's New Deal has spent almost 15 billion dollars. He now is expending five billion in his works relief program, a sum greater than the navy had during the war.

War Cost of Navy.

1917	$1,045,044,084
1918	2,951,392,503
Total	$3,996,436,587

The expenditure in 1918 was greater than that for the British navy in the two years the United States was in the war. The total expenditure of the United States was only $1,574,405,003 less than the entire cost of the British navy for the five years of the war.

The expenditures of the British navy during the war, according to a report of the admiralty to parliament, were as follows:

1915	1,057,109,570
1916	1,124,864,695
1917	1,234,621,680
1918 [estimated]	1,625,000,000

Charge Money Wasted.

The small difference in expenditure is utterly at variance with the relative accomplishments of the American and British navies, according to naval experts. Experts in the navy department would not comment publicly upon the disparity, but privately declared the civilian burocracy of the navy department during the war poured out money with callous disregard to wisdom of the outlay.

One measure of the relative accomplishments of the British navy and the American navy is casualties in the services. The British casualties were 39,766 men, of which 33,361 men were killed or died of wounds. The American casualties totaled 871 men and of these about 300 were killed or died of wounds.

The British navy sank 415,000 tons of German and Austrian warships. The damage of the American navy cannot be determined accurately, but it is conceded that it did not exceed a few submarines.

U. S. Loss 17,000 Tons

Great Britain lost 550,000 tons of war vessels in combat. The American loss was 17,000 tons by submarines and collisions.

The accomplishments of the British navy are told in histories of the war. The British navy fought in several engagements, notably at Jutland and Falkland islands. Though historians are in dispute as to whether Germany or England won the battle of Jutland, they concede that Great Britain forced the German fleet into port for the duration of the war.

The British navy carried on in the disastrous campaign at Gallipoli. Whether the venture was sound or not from a military viewpoint has no relation to its tremendous cost to the British navy.

During the war the British navy successfully blocked the coasts of the triple entente. It made the sea safe for allied shipping. It cleared the seas of German raiders. They kept the English channel clear so that Great Britain's army could move to France.

Historians concede that without the British navy the allies could not have won the war. Not only did the British navy guard England's troop movements, but also those of Canada, Australia, and other of her possessions and, in no small measure, enabled the American expeditionary force movements.

COMMUNITY FUND WORKERS GO INTO FIELD THIS WEEK

The fifth annual community fund drive will swing into full stride this week with nearly 2,000 volunteer workers organized for the drive and leaders optimistic over prospects. A meeting of the trades and industries division will be held at 6 o'clock this evening in the Red Lacquer room of the Palmer house. Philip D. Armour, general chairman of the campaign, will preside and Harold H. Swift, an active worker in the drive, will be the principal speaker.

The community fund appeal was carried to radio listeners last night in a one hour program provided by Chicago artists and broadcast through stations WMAQ, WENR, WBBM, and WCFL. Between numbers of the program, leaders of the drive explained the coming year's need of the 147 agencies sharing in the fund.

REVISED BUDGET LOWERS DEFICIT OVER A BILLION

No Tax Hike Planned; Cut in Costs Pledged.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 29.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt today slashed 1 billion 246 million dollars off the government's prospective deficit for the current fiscal year and promised that no more new taxes will be imposed to pay for the New Deal's spending spree.

Revising the budget estimates which he sent to congress last January, the President lopped 768 million dollars off the New Deal's proposed expenditures and increased by 478 million dollars his forecast of taxes and other revenues. These two shifts reduced the estimated excess of expenditures by 1 billion 246 millions, bringing the budget that much closer to balance.

Following the current fiscal year, which ends June 30, 1936, New Deal expenditures will undergo a further "speedy decline," the President promised.

Approved Before Departure.

The President's revision of his budget estimates, together with a long and optimistic statement, were released here today by the bureau of the budget, which had prepared the figures and submitted them to the President before his departure.

Claiming that improved business made possible a reduction in expenditures and increased the probable tax yields, the President made sweeping changes in the budget which he submitted to congress at the opening of the last session.

Instead of spending 8 billion 520 million dollars, as he then predicted, the New Deal will spend only 7 billion 752 million dollars in the current fiscal year, he estimated. Better business justifies an increase from 3 billion 992 million dollars to 4 billion 470 million dollars in the probable tax collections and other revenues, he believed.

427 Less for "Recovery."

In cutting a total of 768 million dollars off the proposed expenditures, Mr. Roosevelt reduced by 427 million dollars his estimate of the money necessary for "relief and recovery," reducing the total for this item from 4 billion 582 million dollars to 4 billion 155 millions. Other reductions in expenditure estimates include 92 millions cut from the army and navy, 135 millions cut from the interest charges on the public debt, and 84 millions cut from the running expenses of the established government agencies.

On the income side of the ledger the President boosted from 1 billion 188 million dollars to 1 billion 434 millions his estimate of income tax collections and increased his estimates on "miscellaneous" tax yields from 1 billion 686 million to 1 billion 855 million.

Pooh-Poohs Gloomy Prophets.

In the statement which accompanied his revised figures Mr. Roosevelt traced signs of economic recovery, claimed that worries over the New Deal's unprecedented spending spree were "erroneous and gloomy," and insisted that the spending would not necessitate new taxes.

"The underlying tax structure of the government is now stronger than ever before in our history," he said, "and as normal business returns will produce revenues adequate for all essential purposes. The prevailing rate of recovery points to the speedy decline of federal expenditures for emergency activities.

"The 1937 budget is now being prepared with a view to sharply decreasing the spread between income and outgo. Thus it is clear to me that the federal government under provisions of present tax schedules will not need new taxes or increased rates in existing taxes to meet the expense of its necessary annual operations and to retire its public debt."

Los Angeles, Cal., Sept. 29.—(AP)—Steady improvement was noted today in the condition of Senator William Gibbs McAdoo, injured in an automobile accident on Thursday.

EARLY NIGHTFALL MARKS CHANGE TO STANDARD TIME

Chicagoans became accustomed yesterday to an earlier approach of nightfall, due to the change from daylight saving to central standard time. While the transition had little effect on most persons, night workers in many instances put in an extra hour.

The change was made officially at 2 a. m. yesterday. Chicago police on the "dog watch" from midnight to 8 a. m. worked nine hours. For the firemen on duty it was a twenty-five hour day.

Saloons were permitted to stay open an hour longer. Their regular closing time on Sunday mornings is 2 o'clock. When the clocks struck that hour the hands were turned back to 1 o'clock and an extra business hour was gained.

WOMAN IN RED TELLS CHASE BY DILLINGER PALS

Mrs. Sage Fights to Avoid Deportation.

Mrs. Anna Sage, the "woman in red," who clung to the arm of John Dillinger until a split second before the outlaw was shot to death by federal agents and policemen acting on her information, told yesterday of her flight after the killing from the vengeance of George [Baby Face] Nelson. Mrs. Sage said government agents told her that Nelson, one of the Dillinger gang, had vowed to kill her, and had offered $500 for the secret of her hiding place.

Her protector was United States Inspector Samuel P. Cowley, who later was killed in a duel with Nelson which also brought death to the outlaw, she said, relating her story of an alleged "deal" with the government by which she expected to avoid deportation. Her part of the "bargain" was to help the government "wipe out the Dillinger gang." Mrs. Sage got a reprieve Saturday from deportation to Rumania through a writ of habeas corpus. She charged the government with welching on its promise.

U. S. Court Sets Hearing.

When Federal Judge John P. Barnes on Saturday stayed the deportation warant and set a full hearing for next Thursday Mrs. Sage for the first time revealed her part in the killing of Dillinger. She told the story of how she had informed Melvin Purvis, then chief of the government agents in Chicago, that Dillinger was a frequent visitor at her home.

In consideration of a promise from Purvis that he could and would have the government cancel deportation proceedings then pending against her, she said she agreed to betray Dillinger, the sweetheart of her friend, Mrs. Polly Hamilton Keele. Mrs. Sage was to be deported because of two convictions of operating vice resorts. She said she didn't expect Dillinger would be killed.

Events of Fatal Night.

Mrs. Sage told of notifying Purvis and her friend of many years, Sergt. Martin Zarkovich of the East Chicago, Ind., police, that Dillinger would take her and Mrs. Keele to a movie theater. Purvis, Zarkovich, and others were waiting for them when they emerged from the Biograph theater, 2433 North Lincoln avenue, that night, July 22, 1934. Without warning Dillinger was shot.

"The government agents took me away from the police," Mrs. Sage added. "They took Polly and me to Detroit, and for two weeks we were protected by government agents who were with us every minute we were outside our room. Mr. Cowley then gave me permission to go to California. Two men, I suppose they were agents, rode all the way with me in the bus.

Paid $5,000 by Cowley.

"In California Mr. Cowley came and paid me $5,000 as part of the reward offered by the government for Dillinger, alive or dead. He told me I had done the government a great service.

"'Baby Face Nelson is in California,' Mr. Cowley told me. 'He'll kill you if he can find you. He has sworn to get you.'"

"Cowley gave me $200 more for expenses and I came back to Chicago," Mrs. Sage continued as she unfolded her experiences yesterday in the offices of her lawyers, Thomas J. Johnson Sr. and Jr.

"I learned from my brother-in-law that a man had offered him $500 to tell where I could be found. His description was similar to that of Nelson. The next news I had was that Nelson had killed Cowley just outside the city. The next day Nelson was found dead from Cowley's bullets. After that I felt safe."

Her statement about Nelson, whose real name was Lester Gillis, being in California at the time she was there, coincided with government evidence later disclosed, her lawyers stated. They insisted she had done the government a greater service than had John Factor, who was saved from extradition after his testimony resulted in the conviction of the Touhy gang as kidnapers."

Mrs. Sage declared she realized Dillinger's identity only a few days before she "turned him up," she insisted. She is expected to be in Indianapolis today to ask the help of the state authorities there.

The "woman in red" denied she was involved in any way in Dillinger's escape from the Crown Point, Ind., jail in March, 1934. A woman who wore a red dress visited Dillinger the day before the alleged "wooden gun" escape was made. She was careful in answering questions about rumors that Zarkovich had been close on Dillinger's trail for several months.

Jugo-Slav Club President Honor Guest at Banquet

Jugo-Slavia as a country of contentment and where communism will not thrive was described by John R. Palandech, president of the Jugo-Slav Square club at a banquet given for him by the club in the La Salle hotel last night. The speaker recently returned from a two months' tour of Europe, including a six weeks' stay in Jugo-Slavia where he studied economic conditions.

MRS. ROOSEVELT MAKES SPEECH AT EARLY STOP

EN ROUTE WITH PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT TO BOULDER CANYON DAM, Sept. 29.—(AP)—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt greeted, in behalf of the President, the spectators today at Evanston, Wyo., when the train halted there.

"It is a poor consolation for you to hear me," she said, "when I know you all want to hear the President. But I know that he wants me to say that he is very glad to be with you and he hopes that things are a little better for you than when he came through here three years ago. The President and I have a very warm place in our hearts for this whole western country.

"Whenever I wake up in the morning in this part of the country I have a feeling of bigness and freedom which you don't get back east. The President regrets that he can't come out to see you himself, but he sends you his warmest greetings and his pleasure that things really are getting better."

STORM SWEEPS EAST AFTER IT MISSES FLORIDA

Tiny Bimini Island May Be in Its Path.

Miami, Fla., Sept. 29.—(AP)—Escaping the fury of a Caribbean hurricane that brought death and destruction in Cuba and Jamaica, residents of the Florida east coast winter playgrounds tonight feared for tiny Bimini Island.

No word had been received from Bimini, an oasis for Americans during the prohibition era, since the tropical storm struck near there last night. It is a British possession.

610 Live on Island.

The island has 610 residents. It is a strip of coral sand some forty-five miles east of Miami. Inhabitants mostly engage in fishing.

In Cuba between 20 and 30 persons were reported to have died in the storm as it struck Cienfuegos, province of Santa Clara. Approximately 1,000 houses there were blown down or damaged. Heavy property damage in the 150 mile path of the storm was reported from Cuba.

Two died in Jamaica. Kingston reported loss to its banana crop of approximately $2,500,000 and heavy damage to highways and bridges. Heavy rains accompanied the hurricane.

75 Mile Winds Reported.

Early today, when the storm was plotted as centered at Great Abaco Island, one of the Bahama group, winds of 75 miles an hour were reported. Later wireless reports said there was no loss of life.

Breathing freely again as they emerged from safe places sought when the hurricane warnings were hoisted for 17 hours from Key West to West Palm Beach, Florida east coast residents enjoyed a pleasant Sunday.

County Officials of U. S. to Talk Problems Here

County government officials from over the nation will meet at the first national convention of the American County association in the Hotel La Salle Oct. 16-19 to discuss emergency relief, taxation, refunding of debts, road building, and other problems, according to an announcement yesterday by H. D. Kelsey of Waukegan, a Lake county supervisor, who said the delegates would discuss methods of overcoming the tendency toward centralization of government in the hands of state and federal bureaus.

"JIMMY" BRADDOCK
New World's Heavyweight Champion
DISCOVERS SIMPLE CAUSE OF SKINNINESS!

Weak, rundown, skinny folks—take Jimmy Braddock's advice. Use his quick method to gain new strength. He put on 26 lbs. of solid flesh in 6 weeks.

He says, "Tests convinced me rundown conditions, poor blood and skinniness come frequently from iodine-starved glands. When these glands — particularly the important gland which controls weight building—lack NATURAL PLANT IODINE (don't confuse this with ordinary chemical iodine,) even diets rich in fats and starches fail to add weight and strength. That's why thin folks often have huge appetites, yet stay skinny."

With the discovery of Kelpamalt—a mineral concentrate made from a huge 90-foot sea plant harvested off the Pacific coast, you can now be sure of your needed ration of plant iodine in concentrated, easy-to-take form. 1300 times richer in iodine than oysters, Kelpamalt builds rugged strength, adds weight and banishes fatigue. Its 12 other minerals stimulate the digestive glands which produce the juices that enable you to digest fats and starches. 3 Kelpamalt tablets contain more iron and copper than 1 lb. of spinach or 7½ lbs. of fresh tomatoes, more iodine than 1,386 lbs. of lettuce, more calcium than 6 eggs.

Start Kelpamalt today. Even if you are "naturally skinny," you must add 5 pounds the first week or the trial is free. Costs but little to use. Sold at all

FARMER KILLED ON RAIL CROSSING AT ROUND LAKE

No Witnesses to Crash; Auto Demolished.

Orley Howard, 72 years old, a retired farmer living in Round Lake, in Lake county, was killed yesterday when his automobile was demolished at a crossing on Round Lake road a mile east of his home by a Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific railroad train.

No witnesses to the accident were located and authorities were mystified as to the cause, since the view of the tracks is clear at the crossing. Signs warning of the railroad crossing are posted, but there are no gates there.

Fatal Crash at Orland Park.

A car driven by Fletcher Shobe, 26 years old, 6911 Yale avenue, collided with another machine at the intersection of Wolf road and 143d street just west of Orland Park late Saturday night. His passenger, Robert Clanahan, 26 years old, 5523 Kenmore avenue, employé of an insurance company, died of injuries later in Burnside hospital. Mrs. Shobe incurred a possible skull fracture and Shobe, employed in the financial department of the Commonwealth Edison company, was slightly injured. The driver of the other car, Canard Williamson of Joliet, was unhurt.

Police Chief Lawrence Burkhard of Orland Park started an investigation and said apparently both drivers had ignored stop signs at the intersection. Shobe was northbound in Wolf road and Williamson was driving east on 143d street. The Shobes and Clanahan were en route from Elgin after attending the wedding of a relative of the Shobes.

Brookfield Man Fatally Hurt.

Lorenzo Nickel, 56 years old, died early in the day in the Berwyn hospital a few hours after he had been struck at Maple and Ogden avenues in Brookfield by a car driven by John Mahtick, 4606 Deyo avenue, Brookfield. The victim was a farmer living near 47th street and Elm avenue in Brookfield. Mahtick, held for the inquest today, said he did not see Nickel until after the car hit him.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday the total automobile deaths in Cook county since Jan. 1 stood at 702, according to figures from the coroner's office. In that period there were 547 trafic deaths and 12,640 persons injured within the Chicago city limits.

SPARKS FIRE "L" TRACK.

Sparks from resistance boxes underneath elevated trains caused a series of small fires on ties from Leavitt street to Sacramento boulevard on the Lake street line Saturday night and delayed eastbound trains for ten minutes while employes extinguished the flames.

THE MASSACRE

Chicago's 1935 Trafic Toll

Over 98 per cent of the city's automobile fatalities are of a nature physically impossible on an elevated highway.

AUTO DEATH RATE POINTS TO A TOLL OF 35,800 IN 1935

The statistical bureau of the National Safety council warned yesterday that if the present trafic accident rate continues the total automobile deaths this year will be almost as heavy as that of 1934, when 36,000 persons were killed throughout the nation.

For the first eight months this year the bureau estimated that 21,490 persons had been killed. If the present rate is maintained, about 35,800 persons will have met death by the end of the year.

The Chicago Safety council cautioned drivers not to permit three persons in the front seat, pointing out that with the opening of football season there are more cars on the streets and highways. High school and college students, the council said in a bulletin, particularly have the habit of overcrowding automobiles, thereby obscuring the drivers' vision and causing many accidents.

Noted British Coachmaker Visits Chicago Nephew

For 58 years Charles Glasgow, 75 years old, of Paisley, Scotland, has followed the coachmaking business, which means that his plant now turns out automobile bodies. He is visiting in Chicago at the home of his nephew, Charles Ferguson, 8810 Emerald avenue. Since he turned 70, Mr. Glasgow has built 15 models of famous coaches. One of them, a 3 foot replica of the 24 foot gold state coach of the British royal family, required three years of painstaking labor. Mr. Glasgow said the king and queen came to see it at the royal show in Derby in 1933 and the queen exclaimed over its exactness of reproduction.

Rockford Pastor Married 54 Years; Celebrates

Rockford, Ill., Sept. 29.—[Special.]—The Rev. and Mrs. C. W. Jaycox celebrated their 54th wedding anniversary here today. He has retired, but was a Methodist pastor for 39 years.

DOUBTS FUGITIVE CAN BE LINKED TO MORRISON DEATH

While the police yesterday continued their search for Jack Ellis, 24 years old, escaped Joliet convict, Assistant State's Attorney John Boyle expressed doubt that the convict's arrest would solve the slaying of Kenneth A. Morrison, Chicago park board auditor, found shot to death on Aug. 13.

Mr. Boyle said the search for Ellis was being made primarily because he is an escaped convict. "However, we will have witnesses view him to learn whether he was on of two men seen running away from Morrison's parked automobile, in which his body was found," the prosecutor said. Ellis was linked to the case as a suspect by a police informer.

The prosecutor also asserted that he and Capt. Barry would go to the Joliet prison tomorrow to question Lloyd Braithwaite, serving a term of 1 to 10 years for embezzlement, who is said to have "important information" in connection with the case. Braithwaite has denied having such information.

Warns Against Tickets to Vets Hospital 'Benefits'

A warning was issued last night by Dr. Hugh Scott, manager of the Edward Hines Jr. Memorial hospital, cautioning against persons who try to sell tickets for reputed benefits for the hospital and against solicitors seeking contributions. Dr. Scott said there had been complaints of such solicitation recently and pointed out that it was not the policy of the Veterans' Administration to approve or authorize solicitation for the hospital or for patients.

(ADVERTISMENT)

"I TOOK A RIDE IN THE NEW BUICK"

BILL CORUM

(Not a Testimonial; but a Thrill!)

FAST horses are more in my line than fast automobiles. But this time temptation got the best of me.

There was something about that car that made me think of thoroughbreds—something eager and alert in every line of it, even when it was standing still.

Anyhow, I tumbled, and the first thing I knew, there I was behind the wheel. And the funny thing about it was, I felt as if I belonged there.

Enough has been written to fill many fat tomes about horses and the men who ride them, and how each understands the other by some communion more intimate than mere language.

As nearly as I can describe it, somewhat the same thing existed between me and the one hundred and twenty horses beneath the shimmering hood of that automobile.

Well, as they say, time passes, and pretty soon we find ourselves out where the competition for road space wasn't so much of a problem, and I eased my foot down a bit on the accelerator pedal.

At this point, it might be well to say that an automobile has a few advantages over the best of race horses. For one thing, it has a little needle right in front of your eyes that tells you how many m.p.h. you are traveling. I'm not going to tell you what that needle said after the first 30 seconds, because it would be setting a bad example for the youth of the country. But it satisfied me on one point. If championships were passed out on the performance of horsepower same as they are with horseflesh, the name of the 1936 winner would surely be spelled Buick.

CATHOLIC CHARITY SESSION OPENS; DISCUSS RELIEF

Peoria Bishop Puts Bread Ahead of Records.

Peoria, Ill., Sept. 29.—[Special.]—More than 2,000 persons attended solemn pontifical mass here this morning which opened the National Conference of Catholic Charities. Surrounded in the chancel by a notable group of American bishops and archbishops, the Most Rev. Giovanni Cicognani, papal delegate to the United States, pontificated at the service.

The conference sermon, delivered by Bishop Joseph H. Schlarman of Peoria, assailed burocratic red tape in governmental relief and welfare work. Workers in relief fields, the bishop charged, have worked more on paper and on records than on human beings, and asserted that government charity has degenerated into burocracy.

Prefers Food to Records.

"The family without food is more interested in bread and potatoes than in records," said Bishop Schlarman. "The solution of our social problems lies in Christian charity. To admit that millions are out of work and food is a beginning of an understanding of social problems and the beginning of charity."

During the day delegates representing many charitable orders and diocesan charity groups have been studying what is regarded as a most important report distributed by directors of diocesan directors of charity. While many interpreted the report as favoring the New Deal, others were inquiring what comment it would obtain from Alfred E. Smith of New York when the former Empire state governor addresses the conference Wednesday night.

Some Features of Report.

The directors' statement, which sets forth basic principles for activities of various Catholic charity units, was adverse to "rugged individualism," advised governmental curbs over industry, approved a permanent relief and works program, commended plans of the National Youth administration, but warned that the current costs of these New Deal ideas must not go beyond tax revenues.

While no reference was made to President Roosevelt's recent appeal to the clergy of the country for advice, the report was interpreted by some as "a pretty good reply" to the President's appeal. A letter from the President was read at tonight's session. The letter stated that the six years of depression have taught the world that if economic security and social justice are not open for all, none can be prosperous and contented.

"It will take a long time and a long struggle to reach this ideal?" the letter added, as he praised Catholic Action in relief and welfare work.

Church Dedicates Stone to the Rev. Jacob Pister

The congregation of St. Paul's Evangelical church, Fullerton parkway and Orchard street, yesterday dedicated a stone memorial to the memory of the late pastor, the Rev. Dr. Jacob Pister, in Memorial Park cemetery, Evanston. The monument was presented on behalf of the congregation by Arthur C. Lueder, former postmaster and the chairman of the church's memorial committee. The Rev. Dr. George L. Scherger, who is Dr. Pister's successor, led the dedication ceremonies.

Announcement was made yesterday of the appointment of Dr. Aaron J. Brumbaugh, associate professor of education at the University of Chicago, as acting dean of the college to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of Dean Chauncey S. Boucher, who left to become president of the University of West Virginia. Dr. Brumbaugh will retain his position as dean of students. He has been connected with the university since 1925 and was one of those sponsoring the plan under which students are permitted to study and pass examinations at their own pace.

SUSPECT JAILED AS GIRL'S ESCORT IN FAMILY ROW

Harold Nelson, 6016 Champlain avenue, was held by the Hyde Park police on a disorderly conduct charge yesterday after he and two other young men allegedly accompanied Miss Gretchen Metz, 22 years old, to the home of her step-mother, Mrs. Helen Metz, 5548 Harper avenue, whom they overpowered, taking bed clothes and other furnishings.

Mrs. Metz last week filed a separate maintenance action against her husband, Oscar Metz, retired florist and real estate broker, charging that his daughter dominated the household.

Double 'Torso Murder' Mystery Excites Scotland

DUMFRIESSHIRE, Scotland, Sept. 29.—(AP)—A double "torso murder" mystery confronted authorities here tonight with the discovery of two heads, four arms, and four legs wrapped in paper parcels in a ravine two miles from here. The heads were believed to be those of a man and woman. A newspaper used as wrapping in one of the parcels bore an early September date.

OUTLAWS' AUTO STRIKES WOMAN; ESCAPES POLICE

Two suspected bandits escaped a police squad last night after a bullet punctuated automobile chase of several miles through the streets of Oak Park and Forest Park, in the course of which the fleeing machine struck and injured a woman.

Policemen Elmer Zuleg and William Kern of the Forest Park force saw the sedan at Harvard street and Harlem avenue in Forest Park and recognized the license as that of a machine used by bandits in the robbery of two filling stations earlier in the evening.

Both officers emptied their guns as the machine sped down Harlem avenue and into Oak Park. Miss Edith Cook, 39 years old, was hit by the robbers' car as she alighted from her auto in front of her home at 805 Fillmore street, Oak Park. She incurred a broken arm, cuts, and bruises.

GUNMEN ROB TWO OIL STATIONS.

LITHUANIA GIVES EXTRA DAY TO MEMEL VOTERS

ifficult Ballot Slows Up Crowds at Polls.

BY DONALD DAY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MEMEL, Sept. 29. — Facing the breakdown of the cumbersome polling procedure prescribed for today's local elections in the Memel territory, the Lithuanian government this afternoon extended the balloting until 6 o'clock tomorrow evening.

The last minute decision, broadcast to the bewildered German and Lithuanian residents of the district, came at the end of a hectic day in which it was estimated by German party headquarters that only 40 per cent of the registered vote was polled. The Lithuanian government claimed the percentage was 60, and that in some places 80 to 100 per cent of the registered voters succeeded in casting their ballots. Winners of the 29 seats will be announced late this week. The Germans had 25 deputies in the last landtag.

Three Policemen Hurt.

The first serious disorder in the conflict between German and Lithuanian interests occurred tonight when 400 Memel-landers rioted at the polling place in the village of Jacknaitai. Three policemen were injured, one perhaps fatally. Twelve Lithuanian election officials were badly beaten and the rioters completely demolished the polling place. Rioters occupied the railroad station and postoffice for several hours. Five Lithuanian police first sent to restore order were disarmed and reinforcements met stubborn resistance before they succeeded in rescuing the Lithuanian election officials. Four persons were wounded in a minor shooting affray at the village of Prokuls, when men posting signs were attacked.

The general delay in voting was due to the fact that each voter was given a pad with 185 sheets, each bearing the name of a candidate. The voter was told to extract the names of the 29 candidates for whom he wished to vote. The pad was poorly perforated. The voters were trembling with excitement and many consumed half an hour making their choice, with waiting lines jammed up.

Further causing delay, the Kaunas government, alleging its action was directed at preventing the German party from terrorizing voters, had reduced the number of polling places from 211 to 76. This tripled the number of voters in each precinct and required farmers to travel greater distances.

Officials Unequal to Rush.

Touring the Memel district THE TRIBUNE correspondent found that in three villages only one-third of the voters had been polled. The rest were shouting threats against the imported Lithuanian election officials who were accused of framing the election.

Lithuanian officials were found incapable of handling the rush in some villages. Crowds of 400 or 500 Germans were kept waiting. They claimed Lithuanians were smuggled into the back doors to vote. At Saugai THE TRIBUNE correspondent entered a polling place through the back door together with Lithuanian voters. At polling places there was one German watcher pitted against ten or more Lithuanian officials.

The German party has collected a mass of affidavits concerning alleged irregularities. Next week, the Germans state, they will petition the Memel-land election commission to declare the elections void, demanding that Kaunas abrogate the election law and hold new elections under the former system.

Jewish newspapers have exhorted Jews to vote the Lithuanian lists and the one day extension will permit the polling of those who stayed home today because of the Jewish new year.

HEAD OF COAL CONCERN ROBBED.

Two armed men invaded the office of Patrick Callaghan, 8017 South Paulina street, owner of the Callaghan Coal company, at 8531 Halsted street, struck him on the head, and robbed him of $270 late Saturday night, police were informed.

Day By Day Story of the Experimental Farms

By Frank Ridgway

Wind Flattens Corn.

Sept. 29, 1935.

EXTRA labor is required in filling silos at the Tribune experimental farm near Yorkville as a result of fields of corn being badly tangled by a windstorm last Wednesday night. Big patches in several of the fields were left almost flat, making it necessary to cut some of the corn one way.

With two one-row corn binders drawn by tractors the silo filling gang is able to keep the silage cutter busy. In addition to pouring tons of silage material into the new 80 foot silo, the men are chopping up about 10,000 pounds of green corn daily for the steers at the farm. Clarence Thurow, farm manager, said today that he expected to complete by Wednesday noon the filling of the big silo with a capacity of 425 tons.

All of the corn fields on the farm were inspected soon after the storm and Mr. Thurow found that the silage varieties withstood the wind as well as the established varieties. A field of Hybrid No. 13, the silage corn that has made a spectacular showing during the last two years at the Yorkville farm, suffered the greatest damage because it is being grown on high land and is unprotected by timber or other windbreaks, according to Mr. Thurow.

The farm manager says that all of the corn on the farm is safe from heavy killing frosts. It has ripened rapidly in the last few days. The yield of corn for silage is running high, but accurate figures will not be available until after the silos are filled, when exact tonnage and acreage data will be available.

The two terraces built in erosion experiments started at the Yorkville farm last spring have withstood the test this season despite the heavy rains, according to recent observations. Weeds made a luxurious growth on the terraces, but they were all mowed to prevent them from going to seed. The terraced field will be plowed next spring and planted to corn.

The terraces were recently inspected by Arnold P. Yerkes, agricultural engineer of the International Harvester company, who supervised the work when the test was started.

He says that the terraces are in practically the same condition as when built, except for normal settling. They have held all the water which drained into them without any difficulty and the outlets have not been eroded to any noticeable extent. However, with the land remaining in grass this season, the quantity of water which flowed off this field was doubtless considerably less than it would have been if cultivated crops had been grown there. Furthermore, this land has been well farmed and is in good tilth, which causes a considerable percentage of the normal rainfall to sink into the soil quickly, thus reducing the run-off and possibility of damaging.

"I noticed that weeds did quite well on these terraces during the summer," added Mr. Yerkes,

It is Mr. Yerkes' opinion that the weed problem will bear careful watching for a season or two. If an exceptionally heavy growth of weeds on the terrace is to be a regular occurrence, it means that some method must be developed to combat this growth and to eradicate it.

THE TRIBUNE farm near Yorkville is not suffering nearly as badly from erosion as a great deal of similar land in this section," said this engineer. "I think this is largely due to the fact that it has been handled better and kept in better tilth so that the run-off is not as great as it would be under indifferent handling.

"It will be interesting to see how these terraces behave during another season, especially early next spring when the frost is coming out of the ground and after some other crop is planted there."

SUPREME COURT CASES KEYS TO 1936 CAMPAIGN

AAA and Other New Deal Laws at Stake.

tion with private business is involved in Kansas Utilities company vs. City of Burlington. The petitioners in this case contend that the money is given and lent for purposes wholly intrastate in character. Both the federal District court and the Court of Appeals upheld the constitutionality of that lending by the part of PWA.

The Tennessee Valley authority, dear to the heart of President Roosevelt and Senator George W. Norris [Radical, Neb.], will come up for review in the case of Alexander vs. Tennessee Valley authority. The United States District court held that the TVA act did not and congress could not give such powers. The court of appeals held that the law did and congress could. The case is that in which stockholders of the Alabama Power company brought suit to compel cancellation of such a contract with TVA.

The right of PWA to condemn land for slum clearance housing activities is involved in United States vs. Certain Lands in the City of Louisville. Both the District court and the Circuit Court of Appeals held that there was no taking of land for a public purpose and that, therefore, the federal government could not exercise the power of eminent domain.

One section of the Home Owners' Loan act will come before the Supreme court in the case of Hopkins Federal Savings and Loan Association vs. Cleary. This section, which provides for the conversion of state savings and loan associations into federal corporations, was held invalid by the Supreme court of Wisconsin on the ground that the organizations had no such power under their state charters.

Whether section 77B of the bankruptcy act, permitting reorganization of corporations upon approval of two-thirds of each class of security holders, is constitutional is involved in Campbell vs. Allegheny corporation. The Fourth Circuit Court of Appeals held the act unconstitutional.

In the case of Baltimore National Bank vs. State Tax Commission of Maryland is involved the constitutionality of the section which exempts property of the RFC from taxation except for state taxes on real property. The Maryland Court of Appeals held that the RFC was subject to the state tax on bank shares when it owned all the preferred stock of the Baltimore National bank.

FOLLOW THESE RULES

1. Each week-day for 42 consecutive days, the Chicago Daily Tribune will print a Fiddle Riddle representing the name of an old-time song. The public is invited to cut out these riddles and name the songs they represent. The songs will be dramatized over W-G-N each evening preceding publication of the Riddle in the Tribune.

2. The Chicago Tribune will pay $5,000.00 in cash prizes to the persons who send in the nearest correctly named, complete sets of Fiddle Riddles in accordance with these rules. (See Prize List.)

3. This offer is open to everyone, everywhere—men, women, boys and girls—except employes of the Chicago Tribune and their families. It does not matter where you live. No work to do, no subscriptions to solicit, nothing to pay.

4. Just prove your skill. Accuracy will count. Fiddle Riddles are to be submitted only in complete sets. Hold all riddles until you have the complete set of 42. Then send them to "Fiddle Riddles," Chicago Tribune, Postoffice Box 1589, Chicago, Illinois. With your entry give your name and address and send a letter of 50 words or less telling which one of the 42 songs in this series is your favorite—the one you like best—and why. All entries must be in by midnight 15 days after Fiddle Riddle No. 42 has been printed.

5. Each entry must be sent by first class mail—postage prepaid. Entries with insufficient postage will be returned by the Postoffice Department. Contestants may send in as many sets of Fiddle Riddles as they wish, but no contestant will be entitled to more than one prize.

6. You need not purchase the Chicago Daily Tribune to compete. You may copy or trace the riddles from the originals and use the copies you have made. The Chicago Tribune may be examined at any of its offices or at public libraries free of charge.

7. The judges will be a committee appointed by the Chicago Tribune. Their decision will be final. In case of ties a duplicate award will be paid to each tying contestant.

HITLER YOUTHS PLEDGE TO DIE FOR GERMANY

6,000,000 Boys and Girls Listen to Ceremony.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Sept. 29.—Six million boys and girls of the Hitler Youth movement listened to the "Sunday consecration service" which was broadcast over all German radio stations today. The service climaxed with what religious circles consider a blasphemous parody on their creed.

The service was the first harvest thanksgiving celebration of Hitler Youth at Leipzig. It concluded with the following statement:

"I believe in the community of all Germans, in a life of service to this community. I believe in the revelation of a God given creative force, in the purity of bloodshed in the war of peace by the sons of the community of the German people who are buried in the earth and hallowed by it, resurrected and living in all for whom the sacrifice was made.

Sacrifices Are Praised.

"I believe in the eternal life of this bloodshed and resurrected blood on earth in all who acknowledge the meaning of this sacrifice and are prepared to bow themselves. Thus, I believe in an eternal God and an eternal Germany, and eternal life.

A poem recited at this service declared:

"We do not learn to bow the knee or raise the hands in prayer. Our lips croon no litany—we do not pray old fairy tales to God."

Goebbels Threatens Church.

BERLIN, Sept. 29.—(AP)—Dr. Paul Joseph Goebbels, Nazi minister of propaganda and public enlightenment, asserted in an address tonight that the Protestant oppositional church group may be "destroyed for the sake of the nation's future." His address was delivered at Karlshorst, a Berlin suburb.

He spoke shortly after opposition had been voiced in some church circles to Reichsfuehrer Hitler's decree yesterday increasing the authority of Hans Kerrl, minister for church affairs, and giving him broad powers over the Protestant confessional synod.

"The present tension in the world," Goebbels shouted, "demands the undivided energy of the nation, not only in the reconstruction of the army but in sustaining the people's moral resistance. For this reason we cannot tolerate any religious struggles."

Saying that ministers in their pulpits "must take care that the political entity of the nation is untouched," he exclaimed: "If one attacks the state we must destroy him."

Some Protestants asserted that Hitler's new decree gave Kerrl more power over the confessional synod "than the pope has over the Catholic church."

[The decree empowers Kerrl to take any action necessary "to protect the stability of the German evangelical church," and would enable him to create a single reich church.]

HUNGARIAN CHIEF SEES HITLER ON VISIT TO BERLIN

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Sept. 29.—Premier Julius Goemboes of Hungary met Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler in the executive mansion today. Gen. Hermann Wilhelm Goering, reichsminister of air and premier of Prussia, also was present. The talk lasted more than two hours.

No information was given to the German public as to the subjects discussed, but it was announced that Goemboes would make a statement to the press later in the day. Apparently something intervened, for at the last moment Goemboes decided to maintain silence.

Before seeing Hitler, Goemboes had interviews with Gen. Werner von Blomberg, minister of defense, and Foreign Minister Konstantin von Neurath. He also laid a wreath on the war memorial on Unter den Linden.

Britain Nets $250,000,000 for 6 Months' Death Duties

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Sept. 29.—With the $17,500,000 windfall from the estate of Lord Woolavington announced last night, the British treasury, it is now revealed, netted more than $250,000,000 from death duties for the first half of the financial year of 1935-'36 ending tomorrow. This is $50,000,000 more than was estimated by Chancellor of the Exchequer Neville Chamberlain in his budget speech last April and is $4,000,000 above the total of the first six months of the last financial year.

CURIE INSTITUTE CANCER EXPERT HERE FOR CLINIC

Dr. Henri Coutard, radiologist of the Curie Institute of Paris who is noted for his success in the treatment of cancer by X-ray and radium, arrived in Chicago yesterday as the guest of Dr. Max Cutler, director of the tumor clinic of Michael Reese hospital. Dr. Coutard will examine patients at the clinic this afternoon and will lecture tomorrow night for the Institute of Medicine at the Chicago Woman's club.

On Wednesday he will conduct a clinic at the Edward Hines Jr. Memorial hospital and will lecture Thursday afternoon at the formal opening of the tumor clinic of Northwestern university.

A fully loaded Douglas twin motored, 14 passenger air liner, controled by a robot pilot nearly the entire distance, yesterday made the first trip of the Transcontinental Western Air Lines' revived nonstop service from Chicago to New York. The trip of 747 miles was made in 3 hours and 20 minutes, an average of 224 miles an hour. The robot guided the plane after Pilot E. Elscheid had taken off and put the ship at an altitude of 9,000 feet.

THAW BACK IN N. YORK; CALLED 'VERY SICK MAN'

New York, Sept. 29.—(AP)—White-haired Harry K. Thaw came back to familiar stamping grounds today en route to his home in Winchester, Va., "broken in health."

Attendants said Thaw was "a very sick man." The man who twenty-nine years ago shot and killed Stanford White, noted architect, in the midst of diners on the roof of the old Madison Square Garden, was taken in a wheel chair from a Montreal train to a nearby hotel.

The former husband of Evelyn Nesbit wore a brown cap, blue shirt, and collar without a necktie, a dark top coat, and unlaced shoes. His attendants said they did not know how long Thaw would remain here. He had been ill for several days in Quebec, suffering from grippe.

Sikorsky Flying Boats to Be Built in Britain

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Sept. 29. — The report that a British aircraft manufacturing company has secured a license from the United States to build the famous Sikorsky Clipper flying boat was confirmed tonight by Lord Willoughby de Broke, chairman of the British company. The deal, he said, involved $500,000.

Mystery Blasts Injure Police Station Worker

A series of mysterious explosions caused severe injury to Toffel Wendt, 61 years old, 1534 Park avenue, janitor at the Hudson avenue police station, as he put rubbish on a fire in the station furnace early yesterday. He was burned, cut, and bruised about the head, shoulders, and chest. Capt. Andrew Barry started an investigation to determine the cause of the explosion, but discredited a theory that cartridges may have been thrown in the rubbish.

"The Newspaper is an institution developed by modern civilization to present the news of the day, to foster commerce and industry, to inform and lead public opinion, and to furnish that check upon government which no constitution has ever been able to provide."—Chicago Tribune.

WHY ARE FARMERS MORE PROSPEROUS?

Farmers are spending more money than at any time since 1930. A number of Chicago's most important industries have thus received a direct and substantial stimulus. Farm implement and mail order shares have soared. In other lines the farm influence is less direct, but is nevertheless being felt. Chicago business men have an interest that is second only to that of the farmers in knowing about the extent of recovery in agriculture and the cause of it.

The interest is more than academic, for with the constitutionality of AAA soon to be determined it is of the greatest importance to know whether the upturn in farm incomes has been due in any appreciable extent to government regulation of farming. Fortunately to find an answer to this question it is not necessary to have a study made. The whole story is told in a simple table in the July issue of the department of agriculture's publication Crops and Markets. The table can be understood by one who has never seen a mean nor rolled a logarithm.

It appears there that all the farmers of the country taken together earned 7 billion 300 million dollars last year, and that this was 894 million dollars more than they earned the year before. It is this extra 894 million dollars earned last year and spent this year which has made so much difference to the mail order and implement companies. Eight hundred ninety-four million dollars spread among the farmers makes a great deal of difference to them and to Chicago But it should be noted that it would take that extra 894 million dollars multiplied six times, or about 5 billion 300 million dollars, to bring the farm incomes of this country up to where they were when the government undertook to improve the lot of the farmer by legislation. And it should be further noted that current estimates of the department of agriculture suggest that no more of the 5 lost billions is being earned back this year. Although earlier indications were that farmers would do better in 1935 than in 1934, the July marketings brought in 10 per cent less money than last year.

But no more digressions. Whence came the 894 million dollars? The table shows that actual receipts from the sale of grain were less by 68 millions than the year before. Income from raising hogs was lower by 4 millions. Those who live off of sugar crops realized 18 millions less than in the previous year. From cotton, however, there was a gain of 35 millions and from tobacco 62 millions. For all the government controled commodities taken togetner, farm incomes were increased by exactly 10 million dollars.

But at the same time that the government, laboring with a burocratic army nearly as large as the Italian expeditionary forces, was able to raise the income of farms by 10 million dollars, other commodities without the benefit of government management as a result of generally improved world conditions and shortage increased much more. Cattle and calves added 241 million dollars; sheep and wool, 32 millions; poultry and eggs, 103 millions; fruits and nuts, 52 millions. The government managed commodities increased farm incomes by 10 millions. The commodities with which the government did not interfere or attempt to manage increased farm incomes by 568 millions.

Even taking into consideration the collections from the poor, the pork tax, the bread tax, the cotton tax, and the tobacco tax, it appears that 64 per cent of the increased income of the farmers came to them from uncontroled commodities. If the controled commodities had done as well as the uncontroled ones, farm incomes would have been a half billion dollars larger than they actually were. Thirteen dollar hogs did not bring prosperity to the farmer who had no hogs for sale. And dollar wheat doesn't mean anything to the farmer who signed a contract not to raise any.

We have not here to consider what the outcome might have been if growing conditions had been different. But under the conditions which have prevailed, the experience with uncontroled commodities shows that farm incomes last year would most certainly have been larger if AAA had never been conceived. Farmers and business men should fully understand that such improvement as has come in the lot of the average farmer has been in spite of what the government has done and not because of it.

IN PRAISE OF THE GUFFEY ACT.

Even the enemies of the Guffey act, who comprise every one in the country who will be soaked by the Roosevelt sponsored coal trust, should admit that the law will give a substantial impetus to industrial recovery. This is on the supposition, of course, that the law will accomplish its object of raising soft coal prices substantially. The fact that the new wage settlement, arranged in the shadow of the act, has already been made the excuse for price advances, is highly significant. Still higher prices are well within the probabilities if the law is not thrown out by the courts promptly.

With the possible exception of a few large and recently constructed utility and industrial plants, scarcely a coal burning installation in the country gets as many heat units from its coal as it might. Domestic heating plants stand at the bottom of the efficiency list.

In the case of home owners this is frequently due to inattention or ignorance of good heating practices. But with building operators and manufacturers who keep themselves informed on fuel economy cost is the principal factor. The saving in fuel must be sufficient to pay for the improved combustion installation.

A building owner may find that improvements which he can amortize at the rate of $80 a year will cut his fuel costs one-third. If his present fuel bill is $200 a year the improved efficiency will not pay for the installation. But if his coal bill is raised to $300 a year he can install the fuel saving devices at a profit.

Fuel saving improvements cover a wide field. In the home they start with more careful firing, which involves no capital expenditure. Increased fuel costs will make it profitable to replace worn out or inefficient furnaces, to install stoking units, or to insulate not only the heating plant itself but the walls of the house. There is an even wider range of possibilities for larger combustion plants. Oil and gas hover over the whole field of heating, seeking opportunities to oust coal.

All these improvements, of course, pay for themselves in just one way: by decreasing the use of coal. The Guffey act in its long range operation should be a great thing for the manufacturers of efficient furnaces and boilers, of automatic stokers, of oil burners, of asbestos and other insulating products—but hardly for the coal industry or the coal miners' union.

A DRIVER'S LICENSE LAW.

The Illinois legislature, at the special session expected within the next six months, will be asked to pass an automobile driver's license law. The standard law which safety organizations are urging for this state contains provisions for the examination of motorists to determine their fitness to drive. Such a law really involves two principles, that of examination and that of licensing, which can and should be considered separately. For it does not follow that if licensing is desirable, examination is also, or that examination is essential to licensing.

The experience of the state of Wisconsin indicates clearly that it is not. That state has had a licensing system for some years. The motorist receives his card on application as a matter of right. He must carry it with him, but if he is careful and has good luck may drive for years without taking it from his pocket.

It is only when he encounters the police for some breach of law, or even of driving etiquette, that the license is demanded for inspection. Failure to produce it is a minor offense, and if the motorist is driving without having obtained a license that is a severe aggravation of whatever other offense is charged.

The value of the licensing system lies in the power of the courts to suspend or revoke licenses of motorists convicted of serious offenses. Suspension is invariably part of the sentence for drunken driving and is usually ordered for reckless drivers. A motorist found driving during a period of suspension or after his license has been revoked is dealt with severely. A provision enacted this year makes revocation mandatory for a driver who fails to satisfy a civil judgment growing out of an automobile accident.

All this is accomplished without examination of motorists and without offense to them. The habit of carrying licenses was soon acquired. The only further benefit which might be expected from an examination system would be the elimination of physically unfit drivers. As a class they are far less dangerous on the highways than drunken or reckless drivers, whom the examinations would not catch.

Practically, the political machinery necessary for the examination of more than a million motorists in Illinois is unlikely to achieve even the limited objective of eliminating the physically handicapped driver. The net result is more likely to be a new institution for taxation of motorists, manned by corrupt burocrats who will pass incompetents for a consideration and shake down the competent before issuing their licenses.

On the other hand, licensing of drivers, freed from any burden of new taxes and from the burocratic extortion which is apparently inevitable under an examination system, should win the support of that great majority of motorists who drive carefully and soberly.

DRINKING AT THE BIG GAMES.

[Bloomington Pantagraph.]

In a recent number of the Saturday Evening Post appeared an article in which the author, Dean Gauss of Princeton, set out to prove that the vast business of college football may collapse of its own weight and because of the eventual public disgust over the actions of the crowds which pack the big stadia all over the country every Saturday of the season. The writer tells of an experience in which an enthusiastic fan returning to the stand a half hour after the game found the place partly deserted, but the remnants of the crowd engaged in the most disgusting debauchery, many of them so drunk that they could not find their way home.

The average reader of this article is led to conclude that the writer had drawn a distorted picture—that he had taken an exceptional incident and described it as typical of all football crowds. That there are a few drinkers in every stadium crowd of 50,000 to 80,000 spectators is not disputed nor surprising. But that 95 per cent of all persons in such crowds are well behaved and orderly is the experience of those who have observed them on many occasions.

George Huff, director of athletics at the University of Illinois, takes up the challenge of the Dean Gauss article so far as football games at Illinois are concerned. He writes to the Illini, the student newspaper at Illinois, saying that persons in a semi-intoxicated condition or known to be carrying liquor are to be denied admission at the Illinois stadium hereafter. He asks support of the student body in this policy. "G." Huff writes as follows in his appeal to the students: "The boys in the field give you a clean, manly, inspiring exhibition. Let's make the background one of decent behavior that matches the standard that the boys are setting."

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may. Reg. U.S. Pat. Office

ANYHOW, CROSSWORD PUZZLES teach you new words and the names of things you never heard of before. All my long life I had never seen or heard of a water chinquapin. I don't know yet whether you use worms or a piece of pork to catch water chinquapins with or whether they're a kind of nut that grows in the bottom of rivers and lakes and you have to dive down after 'em. But, anyhow, if anybody ever shows me something that he calls a water chinquapin a great glow of joy and knowledge will come into my face and, pointing a finger accusingly at the fish or nut or insect or clam or whatever it is, I will exclaim triumphantly, "Ha ha! A NELUMBO!" And I never heard that in school or college, either. I got it out of a crossword puzzle. Come on, you nelumbos; I'm laying for you.

This little experience has taught me how much of education and culture is gained by working out crossword puzzles. Suppose somebody had said across the table one night, "Did you ever eat a nelumbo?" and I had said yes, that I had shot three out of an oak tree down on my father's farm one time and that once I found a nest of live young nelumbos and took them home and put them in a cage, but one day somebody left the door open and they got out and flew away. How very embarrassing that would have been. But now if anybody mentions nelumbos I will say: "Oh, yes; we used to scoop 'em up in nets down in Sugar creek." That's playing safe, because it makes no difference whether they're fish or nuts. You could scoop 'em up out of the water with a net.

SONNET OF DEPARTURE.

Bury me deep, and think no more of me
Save when the first uncertain wind of spring
Blows over frozen meadows. If there be
The startling azure of a bluebird's wing
Across a sky still snowy, then recall
How suddenly, with what a swift and strong
Renascence after arrow-thrust and fall,
My heart arose to sturdier flight and song.
Come, let us reason: when the pools of gold
Mirror an April sun again, shall I
Under the eager buds be calm and cold
For death's sake, who have never learned to die?
No bursting seed shall be more surely risen;
Not even life could keep me long in prison.

IT MUST HAVE BEEN a very embarrassing moment to a man yclept Harry Schwartz who marched in an anti-Nazi parade in New York last week. Harry really ought to pull down a nice fat prize from the My Most Embarrassing Moment editor. The closing paragraph of the story from New York said: "Harry Schwartz, 39, the standard bearer, was arrested for refusing to disperse." But what was Harry to do? No matter what interpretation the police put on the word "disperse," Harry probably accepted the w. k. Mr. Webster as his authority for maintaining that "disperse" meant "to separate; scatter; distribute." It seems that Mr. Schwartz refused to go separate ways, scatter himself, or even distribute himself all over the place. Of course it was a hard thing to do, but if the police demanded it Mr. Schwartz should have made the effort. It seems they have different ideas in New York in regard to the speaking of English. But then New York doesn't speak much English anyhow.

AND WE READ THAT tens of thousands of Ethiopia's most daring warriors, "yelling and brandishing spears, sabers, and knives, reaffirmed their allegiance to King Haile Selassie today." Boys, that's fine! Perfectly grand! But tell me, boys, did you ever get a big mouthful of chlorine or mustard gas? Chlorine or mustard gas, or most any old kind of gas, has an awfully dampening effect on yelling and shouting. As I heard an old top sergeant say to a soldier audience that was cheering a show up at the front in France when some Jerry planes were reported on the way: "Keep yer damn heads shut and stick yer snoots in them gas masks and be toot sweet about it!"

For freedom and a selfish fire
Could satisfy. Will he require

NOW THAT THE AGONY is all over and our Cubs victorious, what has become of Herr Hitler? We used to hear a lot about that bird. And what are the New Dealers up to now? And what became of Mussolini's war? And have the Soviets captured Japan or Japan captured Russia? Gosh! We just forgot everything else during the excitement over the Cubs. What day is this, anyhow? And what month? And the year? Oh, of course. Now it all comes back.

"OVER FORTY BILLION DOLLARS Liability Laid to Democrats."—W. G. N. Just forty billion. Forty is an odd number; why don't the Democrats make it an even fifty? But sch! sch! Not so loud; they may hear you and do it. But they'll probably do it anyhow. What's ten billion more or less if we're already forty billion in the red? Nothing at all.

BUILD RESISTANCE IN ARTHRITIS.

WE must take a common sense view of arthritis, that ubiquitous and increasingly prevalent disease that is so disabling and efficiency reducing in its effects. No matter how much we study the chemistry of the body and explain the disease on this or that basis, arthritis comes on because its victims allow fatigue to gain the ascendancy. Resistance is reduced to the vanishing point, and infection—that under ordinary conditions would be thrown off with ease—bursts into flame and, with the rapacity of a prairie fire, sweeps all before it. Physical disability too often follows.

There are, of course, insidious cases—those in which the resistance is a little below par—when the disease, like a malignant ulcer, gains on its host a tiny fraction each day.

We may say that arthritis is a disease of lack of resistance, in which some body function fails to throw off poisons or accumulated products of faulty metabolism. The contributing factors are fatigue, exhaustion, mental strain, infection, poor nutrition—in fact, anything that taxes the body beyond the limits of defense.

We have discussed the many attempts of investigators in different parts of the world to combat the disease. While it is true that some success has followed the use of histamine, colloidal sulphur, physiotherapy, calcium, etc., we return, in the last analysis, to the fundamentals of treatment—namely: the building of body resistance.

There are several measures that should be considered: [1] rest and sunshine, [2] the use of a diet low in carbohydrates but high in vitamins and calcium, [3] maintenance of the blood cells and the hemoglobin at normal, [4] elimination of infection, [5] an adequate program of exercise.

It is probably true that the sharp, darting pains that come and go, the dull ache along the spine that may waken one at night, and noticeable stiffness or pain in the joints mean that arthritis is on the way and the symptoms must be so recognized. While joint pains usually disappear as soon as one is up and about, after a time the victim realizes that the symptoms are of more frequent occurrence.

In a recent report Lovell Langstroth cites an experience with 100 cases of arthritis treated on the basis of the proper application of sunshine and the use of what he calls a protective diet. Most of his patients were managed without bed rest and the diet was of high vitamin content, low in carbohydrates, and not excessive in protein. The menu provided a considerable amount of bulk, and all who were middle aged, overweight, and physically inactive received what he called a "depression diet." This consisted largely of fruit, milk, raw and cooked vegetables, and meat once a day. Sugar, cereals, starches, bread, cream, and butter were omitted entirely except in cooking.

An interesting observation that has been confirmed by accurate laboratory determinations is that most arthritics have a low tolerance for sugar. This is well illustrated by a patient who came to my attention. The individual was following a low carbohydrate, sugar free diet successfully and was steadily improving. The patient gave a history of being inordinately fond of candy, and on one occasion following dinner at a friend's house he ate a few after dinner mints, probably not more than six or eight. The following morning his symptoms were acute and it was several days before the pain receded.

In his discussion of the rôle of focal infection [teeth, tonsils, sinuses, etc.] Langstroth believes that the extraction of abscessed teeth is important and should be carried out, but that minor foci of infection will disappear as resistance rises.

Attention has been called to the right and the wrong way to use sunlight or ultraviolet. Without question, exposure to light must be begun very slowly and a cumulative effect built up by gradually increasing the time. This is true whether natural sun is employed or the quartz or carbon arc lamp.

TREATMENT IMPERATIVE.

A. N. writes:

1. Is syphilis curable?
2. Is it safe for a woman with a four plus blood test to have a baby?

REPLY.

1. The chances for cure are excellent if you are faithful to your treatment. Intensive treatment for 2 or 3 years is usually necessary, followed by continuous observation for 2 or 3 years in addition.

2. If you are not pregnant you should not become so until your Wassermann is negative. If you are already pregnant, treatment is imperative, as the child will probably be syphilitic if adequate management is not provided.

DISTORTED NAILS.

Mrs. J. F. M. writes: The big toe nail of my right foot came off about five years ago and a new nail came in which is thick, humped, and rough in the middle. It never grew out normally; the flesh seemed to enclose it. The nail is crumbling and disintegrating. Now every nail on that foot is unhealthy looking. The left foot is perfectly normal. There is no pain.

REPLY.

The condition may be due to local skin infection, which often affects the nails in the way you describe. Ringworm or nutritional disturbances may be the cause.

GLAUCOMA.

C. O. M. writes: Does artificial light have a tendency to help or injure glaucoma?

REPLY.

It would have no effect either way. Glaucoma is a serious condition and a skilled eye specialist must be in charge.

PROPERTY LINES.

Chicago, Sept. 26.—[Friend of the People.]—I reside in a cottage on Cicero avenue. South of me is a two story building originally built for stores and flats on the second floor. But the second floor has never been used for flats; instead it has been used for factory purposes. More light was needed, so the manager had four windows put in the north wall, which is built right up to the property line. The contractor worked from the inside, and in doing so, knocked brick and mortar into our yard. We called the police, who stopped them because they had no permit. A permit was then secured to install steel frame and wire glass windows. The windows swing out and when opened extend out over the air rights of our property. Have they the right to do this? This factory operates punch presses until 9:30 p. m., also Sundays and holidays. Several times they have operated all night with the windows wide open. Is there anything we can do to stop the late operations of these punch presses? R. E. M.

An inspection discloses that there are two windows with wood frames and two windows with metal frames having center panes pivoted so that they project over adjoining lot when open. Tenant states that he occasionally operates machinery later than 8 p. m. The receiver of the building has been notified to replace wood frames with metal and install necessary checks so that windows do not project beyond lot line when open. The tenant has been notified not to operate any machinery between the hours of 8 p. m. and 6 a. m., to meet the requirements of the city ordinances.

RICHARD E. SCHMIDT,
Commissioner of Buildings.

LIABILITY FOR DEBT.

Chicago, Sept. 28.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—1. If I contracted a debt for clothing at a credit store fourteen years ago and made no payments since, is this debt still collectible? 2. I was a girl of 17 at the time. Is this debt legal? 3. I am now married. Can my husband be held for this debt? L. J. K.

1. Not unless the statutory period has been extended by special facts such as your absence from the state. The limitation period on oral agreements is five years.

2. Your minority would be a defense against liability on the contract unless you have expressly or impliedly ratified it since coming of age.

3. No. TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

BURNING OF RUBBISH.

Chicago, Sept. 26.—[Friend of the People.]—Please help us to stop the automobile dealers on our street from burning rubbish and oils in our alley. Their store is located on the southwest corner and they come to the northeast corner of the alley. The other day my child had his eye burned. They start the fires and no one watches over same. I complained to them, but they pay no attention to it. This has been going on for the last three years. E. F. G.

The officers assigned to investigate report they interviewed the manager of the automobile agency complained of, who stated that they own a lot at this point which extends to the alley; that they use this lot as a used car space and have been in the habit of burning rubbish thereon. In order that there be no further cause for complaint the manager promised he would purchase a garbage burning receptacle for this purpose, remove same to that part of the lot entirely away from any dwellings or where children may play, and have his porter remain with the fire until it is out. Officers will continue to give this matter attention.

JAMES P. ALLMAN,
Commissioner of Police.

CITIZENSHIP OF CHILDREN.

Chicago, Sept. 26.—[Friend of the People.]—Is it possible to obtain second papers under the following conditions? The father has lived in America since 1908. He returned to Great Britain and married and one year later legally returned with his wife and son [about 6 weeks old]. They then visited Canada for about six months and a second son was born in Canada. They returned to the United States when the second son was 8 weeks old, and have lived here since. They have five girls born in the United States. The father took out a first paper in 1912, but neglected to obtain second papers. Would the boys as well as the girls be citizens? A. C.

Under the facts stated the boys are not citizens of the United States, and, in order to become citizens, should file declarations of intention, and, when the same are at least two and not over seven years old, apply for final papers. The girls are citizens of the United States by birth. The father's declaration of intention [first paper] filed in 1912 is now invalid and if he desires to become a citizen he should file a new one and wait until the same is at least two years old before applying for final papers.

FROM ACROSS THE SEA

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HARBIN, Manchukuo.—Several White Russians who were arrested here in August have been released, after spending some time in prison, upon their pledge to leave Manchukuo this month. No charge was brought against them in the courts here, and their arrest was on order of the police and not of the procurator.

Strangely enough, many of those arrested were considered to be pro-Japanese. Their incarceration is the result of an unsuccessful attempt to get them to submit to membership in the Russian Emigrants' bureau, which was staffed largely by followers of Gen. Semenoff, whom they distrusted.

The trouble started when Manchukuo authorities organized the bureau as a center about which all Russian emigrants could unite. Russians were invited to register, but were not compelled to do so. Registration was very slow because of the distrust of Semenoff and his followers.

The strongest Russian organizations, all of which have a military character, became antagonistic. As a result they became the targets of numerous repressive measure. They cannot call meetings, their leaders are under suspicion, and their members are subject to restrictions.

Following these steps, the Russian Emigrants' bureau organized a general military union which every man of a certain age, who is subject to any nation except soviet Russia, can join by signing an obligation to fulfill all orders unquestioningly. Upon failure to do so a member is subject to trial under the military laws of the Russian empire.

Registration in this organization is reported also to be very slow.

Among those under arrest were Gen. Sychev, Gen. Akkentievsky, Col. Belocerkovsky, Gen. Iglau, and Prof. Golovachev, all prominent members of the Russian community here.

The American consulate was involved in the case of Col. Belocerkovsky because he was seized on American territory which is protected by extraterritoriality. He was taken at night from his flat on the compound of the American Industries, Fed. Inc. U. S. A. [Sungari Mills], the property of the National City Bank of New York.

THE APPEAL TO THE CLERGY.

Chicago, Sept. 26.—Roosevelt asks the clergymen how best he may serve the people.

What is the matter with the brain trusters? Hasn't their advice been sufficient? If not, let the voters in 1936 declare who will serve the people best.

MABEL B.

THE LAST SAD RITES.

Clinton, Ia., Sept. 26.—No fault should be found with F. D. R.'s latest appeal. After the professors have done their darnedest and the patient is found still to be in a critical condition with no hope of recovery, isn't it always customary to call in the clergy to administer whatever religious consolation may be in their power? H. S. T.

THE PROPAGANDA MILL.

Chicago, Sept. 26.—While it appears that the clergy is quite able to answer for itself this latest insulting product of the administration propaganda mill in Washington, I should nevertheless like to comment upon one sentence in the third paragraph, which reads:

"It is also vitally important that the works program shall be administered to provide employment at useful work, and that our unemployed as well as the nation as a whole may derive the greatest possible benefits."

Not a wise choice of words with which to eulogize the leaf raking policy just adopted by the President. He himself has made the works program a travesty and an insult to the intelligence of the American public, particularly those who would be "employed" by it.

Ditching along county highways under the CWA illustrates the "usefulness" the President has in mind. It costs as high as $7 a yard to move this dirt, counting only direct labor. Normal cost is between 5 and 10 cents, inclusive of everything. If this is useful, then it would be even more so to set fire to the stockyards and let 'em burn.

As to benefits, the old CWA speaks for itself. It accomplished nothing except to accelerate the moral breakdown of many engaged in it; any evidence of the "work" that was done has largely disappeared; it added a large and reeking load of graft to an already overburdened spoils record, and it added a huge amount to the total debt which will have to be paid which this administration has saddled upon the public without the slightest right to do so.

Ah, yes! Let us go "forward with Roosevelt" to economic and social suicide. E. N. BLYE.

CALLING ON THE CLERGY.

Chicago, Sept. 26.—I wish to congratulate THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE upon the editorial appearing in the issue of Sept. 23, discussing the proposed allotment of federal funds for church activities.

As far as we know the clergy has never been called upon for any spiritual advice by the present administration until now, when a political campaign is approaching.

Does the President think that the clergy will be so blind that they can not see the purpose of the circular letter of Sept. 26, imploring their advice regarding his activities?

It is interesting to note that the story of Mr. Roosevelt's initial overtures to the clergy appeared in the same issue of THE TRIBUNE with acknowledgment by Dictator Hitler of the failure of his efforts to rule the churches of Germany. H. M.

INTERESTING IF TRUE.

Chicago, Sept. 25.—Residents of the south side are perturbed about flooded basements and are told that the sewers are inadequate. This is not true. To prove this, let any one interested take a trip to the sewage pumping station at 74th street and Stony Island avenue when a heavy rain threatens and remain there until the rain stops and he will get an ocular demonstration of the cause of flooded basements. He will find the pumps inadequately operated. Perhaps the desire of politicians for a bond issue may have something to do with this condition. DIOGENES.

CAMCO.

Cadillac, Mich., Sept. 22.—In today's issue a Mr. Elsendrath is very perturbed over the attacks you are making on Mr. Roosevelt's character, motives, and loyalty.

Let's see if they aren't thoroughly justified, taking his record before he was even thought of for President. In the World's Work for January, 1929, there is a six page advertisment for Consolidated Automatic Merchandising corporation. It gives the most glorious and ecstatic outlook for this company, proving beyond doubt its basic value and true worth, and forecasting boundless wealth for the company, a tremendous growth, and gives facts and figures to prove it. No detail is omitted and its stock on the New York curb at that time was very active.

The advertisment contained an impossible list of directors and, sad to say, at that time I labored under the quaint impression the Franklin D. Roosevelt name added honesty and integrity to an organization! Well, you know what happened—the investor who bought at that time and held lost all his money.

It is significant that a prominent Chicago broker wrote the following [Aug. 23, 1929] about the stock: "We can see no basic reason why the stock you mention should be bought at these levels. At no time have we ever recommended the same for purchase to our clients, it being a radical speculation." Small reason for Mr. Roosevelt's public antipathy toward brokers! And last, but not least, I challenge any one to quote any public speech in which Mr. Franklin D. Roosevelt made any expression of regret that he participated in this venture.

Now, Mr. Elsendrath, can you honestly blame any one for questioning honor, faith, integrity, honesty, and business ability in such a man? Is he such a one to whom the constitution should be sacrificed? ROSS MAURER.

EIGHT CENTS AN HOUR.

Chicago, Sept. 26.—Much has been written in your column of the trials and tribulations of the housemaid's job, but let me tell you of an experience my 15 year old niece had in an exclusive trousseau shop. A fine seamstress despite her youth, she was engaged with no mention made as to the wages "until I see what she can do," as the owner put it. The workroom was in the rear of the shop; no light or ventilation. She worked under glaring electric light, all hand work, from 7 to 5:30, including Saturdays. She slaved for fourteen days when, being in need of funds, she asked one of the co-workers when they got paid. "You don't get it unless you ask for it," she was told. The fifteenth day she picked up courage and entered the private sanctum of the owner, who informed her she had earned the magnificent sum of $3.60 per week and was handed $7.20 for her fifteen days of hard labor. At $3.60 per week this would be 60 cents per day, or less than 8 cents per hour. We all know of the pitifully small wage paid the Philippine and Chinese women for their exquisite needlework, but would you think such a condition would exist right here in our midst?

MRS. J. C. SPADAFORA.

DEMOCRATIC VETERANS.

Chicago, Sept. 26.—For the benefit of "1917," who laughed when he read "Democratic veterans hold rally at state capitol," because he was under the impression that the Democrats were exempted and the Republicans won the war, allow me to inform him that State Auditor Barrett, State Treasurer John Stelle, State's Attorney Courtney, Chief Bailiff Al Horan, President Pro Tem. of Senate Richey Graham, City Clerk Peter Brady, Federal Judge Philip Sullivan, Judge Wilson of the state Supreme court, and numerous Municipal, Circuit, and Supreme judges are Democrats and served during the world war. In every ward there is a Democratic ex-service men's organization which works hand in hand with the Democratic ward committeeman. To "1917's" question, "How many Democratic veterans do you think there are?" the answer is, so many that the Democratic leaders place some of them on the ballot. F. L. BOSSY.

WORLD'S GREATEST NEWSPAPER

THOUSANDS HERE FOR OPENING OF 3 CONVENTIONS

Recreational Congress, Metal Groups to Meet.

Chicago became the scene of convention activity yesterday, with thousands of delegates and visitors arriving for national meetings opening today at loop hotels on recreational, industrial, and scientific subjects.

The largest group is made up of five societies coöperating in the 17th annual National Metal congress, which will hold sessions at the Palmer house and an exposition at the International amphitheater. The 21st National Recreational congress will open at the Hotel Sherman and the American Bituminous Retailers association will be at the Stevens hotel.

Metal Societies Gather.

Technical papers will be read by authorities on metals at the separate sessions of the American Society for Metals, the American Welding society, the Wire association, the Institute of Metals, and the Iron and Steel divisions of the American Institute of Mining and Metallurgical Engineers, which make up the metal congress. The Wire association will be at the Congress hotel and the others at the Palmer house.

The metal exposition at the amphitheater will be the largest in five years, according to officials. On display will be more than $2,000,000 worth of machines and equipment set up by 225 firms. Models of steel mills will be in operation. There will be metal cutters that will slice through pieces of 17 inch steel as though it were butter.

Exhibit Hoover Translation.

Among the exhibits is Herbert Hoover's translation of Agricola's famous book on mining and metallurgy. The book, copies of which sold for $10 in 1912 when the former President completed the translation, is worth $1,000 today, according to E. H. Sargent & Co., the exhibitor.

United States Senator Joseph F. Guffey of Pennsylvania will speak tonight at the banquet of the American Bituminous Retailers' association on the recently passed coal mining control law that bears his name. In the afternoon session L. A. Downs, president of the Illinois Central railway, will discuss the relations of transportation systems to the coal industry.

RECREATION CONGRESS

The National Recreation congress at the Hotel Sherman will open this morning with a wide attendance of park and school officials, members of recreation commissions, social workers, leaders in youth activities and recreation instructors in schools, parks, and factories. The National Recreation association, which sponsors it, was organized here in 1907.

Among the subjects for group discussion at the convention will be "Keeping Leisure Free from Regimentation." John H. Finley, vice president of the association, will arrive from New York today to preside at tonight's session in the grand ballroom. Gov. Horner and Mayor Kelly are to speak. The principal address will be given by David Cushman Coyle, author and consulting engineer.

State directors of emergency recreation programs and recreation executives will meet this morning. "Nonphysical Activities for Girls and Women" will be the topic of the afternoon session. Mrs. Thomas A. Edison, a member of the board of the association and a sponsor of educational recreation work, will arrive for the convention tomorrow. Lorado Taft, Chicago sculptor, and Dorothea Nelson, director of women's activities of the Chicago Park district, also will be on the program.

SENATOR LEWIS' LUNG AILMENT BEGINS TO CLEAR

MOSCOW, Sept. 29.—(AP)—Senator James Hamilton Lewis of Illinois has won a two week's fight against pneumonia and entered the convalescent stage, attending physicians said today. The doctors said the condition of his lungs was entirely cleared up and intestinal complication virtually had been eliminated. He is now able to take more nourishment, they added, but they were unable to say when he would be in condition to travel.

G. O. P. TIMBER IN ILLINOIS

This is the twelfth of a series of sketches of Illinois Republicans who have been mentioned for party nominations for state offices in next year's election.

EVERETT M. DIRKSEN.

Congressman Everett M. Dirksen of the 16th or Peoria district is apparently the youngest of the many Republicans believed to be keeping an eye on the governorship nomination next year. He was 39 years old last January.

Dirksen has made no announcement of the desire he is said to cherish, but he is mentioned frequently because of his recent political successes. In 1932 he defeated Congressman William E. [Ed] Hull and then defeated his Democratic opponent by the largest plurality given any Republican candidate for congress in the state. In 1934 he repeated, winning again by the highest Republican plurality given in any district. In 1932 his plurality was 23,147. In 1934 it was 27,672.

In each instance he carried every one of the six counties in the district, which is one of the largest ones downstate, the population exceeding a quarter of a million.

The defeat of the veteran Hull, who had served five terms, by a youngster of 36, was considered a surprising feat in 1932, but that Dirksen increased the size of his victory last year was pronounced even more remarkable, enough so to call increased attention to his ability as a campaigner.

On top of this, Dirksen began early in the history of the New Deal to vote and to work against its special measures, earning in Washington something of the same reputation he bears at home as a speaker.

Dirksen's boosters also point out that he has risen from humble circumstances. He was compelled to drop his law course at the University of Minnesota and returned to his home in Pekin, where he engaged in the bakery business with his brother. When the world war came he went into the 348th field artillery, remained in the service 22 months, 17 of which were spent overseas, and emerged with a lieutenant's commission.

After the war Dirksen was employed as a supervisor of dredging work. Later he became Pekin's commissioner of finance. During this time he was working in the ranks of the Republican organization. In 1930 he made an unsuccessful primary campaign against Hull, whom he defeated two years later.

Torture Bandits Aided by Woman in $105 Raid

Two armed men accompanied by an auburn haired woman about 25 years old robbed Mrs. June Steen, owner of a grocery store at 5245 North Central avenue, of $105 late Saturday night. They threatened to torture her unless she revealed the hiding place of her money in the rear of the store.

WOMAN BATTLES MORON; ALMOST CAPTURES HIM

Mrs. Julia Novak, 35 years old, 825 Kolin avenue, a janitress employed by the Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust company, was seized early yesterday by a moron who halted her on the street near her home as she was returning from work. She fought the man and he tried to flee but she held on to him and dragged him for several feet along the sidewalk until he finally freed himself and fled. Several neighbors who heard the woman's screams called police, who hunted the moron in vain.

E. P. BICKNELL OF RED CROSS IS DEAD AT 73

Former Indianan with Service 27 Years.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 29.—[Special.]—Ernest P. Bicknell, 73, vice chairman of the American Red Cross, died here today at the Emergency hospital. He was stricken by chronic heart ailment a week ago, and was removed to the hospital a few days ago.

Mrs. Bicknell and two daughters, Mrs. Alberte E. Wright, of Chestnut Hill, Pa., and Mrs. Constance B. Will, of Urbana, Ill., were with him when he died. Funeral arrangements were not completed.

Because of failing health Mr. Bicknell retired from active Red Cross work several years ago. For the last two years he lived in Hawaii because of the climate, and returned to Washington only a week ago to meet Admiral Cary T. Grayson, new chairman of the organization he had served for 27 years.

Memoirs Are Published.

The Red Cross officer recently completed his memoirs, to be published under the title of "Pioneering with the Red Cross." As his death appeared to be imminent, friends urged the MacMillan company, publishers of the book, to rush a copy to him so that he might see it. The printed volume was delivered to him yesterday.

Mr. Bicknell directed Red Cross activities at the San Francisco earthquake and fire in 1906. He was in charge of relief measures during many floods in the Mississippi and Ohio valleys, and at many major disasters, including the Cherry mine catastrophe. He headed American relief workers at the scene of the Messina earthquake in Italy.

Planned Many Services.

Many of the programs of the American Red Cross were of his creation, including the life saving and first aid services and the public health nursing and home hygiene services.

Mr. Bicknell was born near Vincennes, Ind., Feb. 23, 1862. He began his career as a newspaper reporter, and, at one time owned, with his brother, the Fort Wayne News-Sentinel.

'24 YALE GRADS, FORMER BACKERS, FIGHT NEW DEAL

New York, Sept. 29.—[Special.]—A decided swing against the New Deal in the last fifteen months among members of the class of '24 at Yale is reflected in a recent poll of the class, Edwin F. Blair, class agent, reported today. Sixty nine per cent of the class voted against the President, while fifteen months ago 68 per cent favored the New Deal policies.

More than 79 per cent of the alumni were against any constitutional amendment to permit the federal government to control intrastate commerce. A further protest at the entrance of the government into private business is revealed by the fact that where 81 per cent were against it in 1934, 95 per cent are against it today.

Ninety nine per cent are against inflation as compared with 86 per cent fifteen months ago. In 1934 the class was equally divided on the question of unemployment relief financed by the government, whereas today the poll showed 91 per cent are against the present program.

WOMAN PLUNGES 3 STORIES AFTER PARTY AND LIVES

Mrs. Minna Norris Smith, 30 years old, 1366 Greenleaf avenue, incurred a fractured skull and several broken ribs in a plunge from her third story room early yesterday following a drinking party. She was taken to the Rogers Park hospital, where physicians said she had a fair chance to recover. Mrs. Smith, scantily clad, leaped from the window shortly after the departure of James K. Smith, 43 years old, who lived in the building. Smith was escorting Miss Kathleen De Haven, 23 years old, 1020 Lawrence avenue, who was leaving the party. He denied that Mrs. Smith was his wife, but said they had been associates for several years. Smith was held by the Town Hall police pending the outcome of Mrs. Smith's injuries.

Identifies Charity Patient Dead with $4,000 in Garb

The body of John Sweeney, 73 years old, charity patient who died in the County hospital Thursday with $4,000 in cash hidden in his clothing, was identified yesterday by his brother, Charles Sweeney, a retired policeman, of 6136 South California avenue. Charles Sweeney told authorities he had not seen his brother for five years. He said his brother was born in County Cork, Ireland, where members of the family still live.

Loses His Teeth in Auto Crash; It Could Be Worse

Stanley Cielakie, 709 Garfield street, Oak Park, lost all his upper teeth last night when his automobile crashed into another one parked in front of 327 North Ridgeland avenue, Oak Park. This is not quite so serious as it sounds. The teeth were on a plate that cracked when it was dislodged by the collision and fell into the street. Cielakie was arrested and charged with reckless driving.

Brother of Gorgas, Famed Yellow Fever Fighter, Dies

Birmingham, Ala., Sept. 29.—[Special.]—Capt. Richard Haysworth Gorgas, 64, only brother of the late Maj. Gen. William C. Gorgas, famous for his control of yellow fever in the Panama Canal Zone, died here today in a hospital.

GALA PROGRAMS TO MARK W-G-N STUDIO OPENING

A variety of gala programs, including every type of music and featuring many well known radio artists, will be offered by W-G-N, THE TRIBUNE'S radio station, beginning tomorrow evening and continuing for a week, to celebrate the opening of the station's new half million dollar studio on Michigan avenue next to Tribune Tower.

The feature presentations, which will be broadcast in part, will be given in the building's main studio every evening through Monday, Oct. 7. After that the regular schedule of presenting one special, visible production nightly to an invited audience will be given.

Admission tomorrow and Wednesday evenings will be limited to the men who participated in the construction of the building and during the remainder of the gala week will be restricted to invited guests. Afterward admission will be by tickets that will be sent to persons who have made application for them to W-G-N in writing. More than 30,000 persons already have sent in requests for tickets, which are free. Applications will be acknowledged in the order received.

FREDERIC DE LONG DIES ON FISHING TRIP IN WYOMING

Frederic T. De Long, prominent in Chicago business and social circles for the last thirty years, died Friday night in Jackson, Wyo., where he had gone with friends for a fishing trip, it was learned yesterday.

Mr. De Long was born in Utica, N. Y., and was educated at Hamilton college. He first entered business in Detroit, and in 1905 came to Chicago as vice president of the Chicago Railway Equipment company. He was with this concern until the time of his death.

Surviving are his widow, Mrs. Mary Shaver De Long, and one son, Charles S. De Long of Lake Forest. The elder Mr. De Long's home was at 1347 Astor street. Friends yesterday said he was about 68 years old.

Charles De Long went by plane to Wyoming when he heard of his father's illness, and will return with the body late today. Funeral arrangements will then be made.

CHAS. J. MURRAY DEAD; VETERAN NEWSPAPER MAN

Charles James Murray, 45 years old, 1821 North Park avenue, veteran Chicago newspaper man, died suddenly of heart disease yesterday at his summer cottage near Miller, Ind.

Mr. Murray, who was educated at the University of Pennsylvania, was on the staf of the Chicago Herald and Examiner before and after the world war. He joined the staf of THE TRIBUNE later. In 1932 he was a publicity counsel for the state Democratic headquarters and more recently was connected with the Chicago American. He had also been engaged in newspaper work in Philadelphia and Cleveland.

Ice Dealer Dies of Poison; Wife Doubts It's Suicide

Harry M. Bennett, 53 years old, 2536 Cullom avenue, owner of an ice business, died yesterday shortly after he drank poison while sitting in Welles park near Montrose and Lincoln avenues. Although he left a note to his wife which police interpreted as indicating suicide, she said she believed he mistook the poison for medicine he had been taking. Bennett's ice truck, on which he had no insurance, was burned Saturday night.

R. O. T. C. RANKS SHOW LARGE GAIN AT UNIVERSITIES

A survey of more than 40 of the country's leading universities completed by the Associated Press yesterday revealed an increased enrollment of between 15 and 20 per cent in the Reserve Officers' Training corps as compared to last year. The total enrollment in the campus military training units is estimated this year to be close to 50,000.

Illinois university led other colleges with a total R. O. T. C. enrollment of 3,619, a gain of 460 over last year. Purdue university enrolled 2,081, an increase of 435. Military officials reported an increase of 429 members at the University of Nebraska, bringing the total this year to 2,351. Only one university, Iowa, reported a decrease. The R. O. T. C. membership at this school dropped from 1,514 last year to 1,306 this year.

Panama Zoo Attempts to Keep Deadly Bushmaster

[Copyright: 1935: By the New York Times.]

PANAMA CITY, Sept. 29.—Another attempt to keep in captivity a bushmaster, the deadliest snake of this hemisphere, will be made by Douglas March, director of the Panama Zoological park. March has a specimen captured by W. H. Townsend, an American employé of the Canal Zone, near Madden dam. A number of other bushmasters failed to survive captivity. This one is strong and fierce and weighs thirteen pounds.

News of the Radio Stations

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

The Mutual Broadcasting system, which has W-G-N as its Chicago key station, will be one year old tomorrow, the day W-G-N is opening its new half million dollar studios next door to Tribune Tower. In its first year the network has developed into a strong working unit with a record of one million dollars in sponsored business and prospects that this will be doubled during its second year.

The network grew out of a mutual exchange of programs between W-G-N, WOR, New York and Newark, and WLW, Cincinnati. At the outset this exchange consisted of two broadcasts a week. That has grown to approximately 20 hours a week of sponsored programs and forty hours of sustaining features. Permanent telephone lines were set up last spring.

Among the first year's sponsored features originated by W-G-N for Mutual are Painted Dreams, Backstage Life, Grandstand Thrills, and The Gold Medal Minstrels. Sponsored shows originating elsewhere were Pathé News Reel of the Air, Arthur Tracy, the Street Singer, Singin' Sam, The Music Box, The Musical Memory Book, Harv and Esther, and Jacob Tarshish, the Lamplighter.

This week Bob Elson and Quin Ryan will make a special world series broadcast for the Mutual net. Other commercial programs for the new season include Washington Merry Go 'Round with Drew Pearson and Robert Allen; Good Evening Serenade with Isham Jones' orchestra, Loretta Lee and the Eton Boys; Lilac Time with Jeannine and Paul Pearson's orchestra, and Albert Payson Terhune's dog stories.

During the first year Mutual broadcast the best in classical and also lighter music. W-G-N fed to the chain Chicago Symphony orchestra programs, the series of summer concerts from Grant Park. WOR relayed the great summer series from Lewisohn stadium, including concerts by the New York Philharmonic orchestra, operatic broadcasts and also Alfred Wallenstein's Sinfonietta.

From W-G-N Mutual picked up the music of Wayne King, Jan Garber, Horace Heidt, Freddy Martin, Veloz and Yolanda, Joe Sanders, including his Midnight Flyers, Ralph Ginsburgh's ensemble, Alfred Barr and his Continental Gypsies and the Irving Margraff ensemble. From WOR came a series of concerts by Paul Whiteman and from WLW the Crosley Follies.

Through W-G-N a special broadcast of Will Rogers' memorial services in Hollywood bowl was provided. Also an unusual broadcast by John T. McCutcheon, TRIBUNE cartoonist, from Rio de Janeiro.

Yesterday station CKLW, 5,000 watts, of Detroit-Windsor, replaced WXYZ, a 1,000 watter, as the Mutual station in that area. Through this station are relayed many interesting programs from the Canadian Radio commission network. Mutual is also exchanging programs with the Yankee network in New England and the British Broadcasting corporation.

The elasticity of the chain and its supplementary station seems to appeal to many advertisers. A sponsor may use only two stations if he feels that will satisfy his needs or, through special arrangement, he can have in the neighborhood of 50 stations placed at his disposal.

CHARGE WOMAN, 70, USES VAULT FOR A BEDROOM

San Francisco, Cal., Sept. 29.—(AP)—A police charge that Mrs. Marie Jahnke, 70, was using a cemetery vault for a bedroom drew an indignant denial from her after she was booked as a vagrant today.

"The vault where they found me asleep," she asserted, "is occupied by my father and mother. My father was Edward Ruhling, who was an assayer at the United States mint here. He died in 1898 and my mother followed him.

Patrolmen Phillip Gannon and Robert Corson, who brought Mrs. Jahnke to headquarters with her bundle of clothing, food, and an alarm clock, said she had become known in the neighborhood as "the lady of Calvary."

Police said they would ask that she be sent to some institution where she will be cared for properly.

Expert Tells Technique of Face Reading

First of Series Takes Up 3 Movie Notables.

BY HUGO WESTERBERG.

Do you want to know how to recognize essential qualities in people, without having to wait until they have done something to you? For instance, do you want to be able to compare the acquisitive smartness of a stranger to your own before you begin trading with him; to distinguish the nature of his true feelings toward you, favorable or otherwise? Of course you do!

JEAN HARLOW.

You want to be able to tell these things at sight and that's where physiognomy comes in. Physiognomy is the method of judging human traits from facial features.

The foundation of th- Hugo Westerberg method of physiognomy is a chart for systematic observation and recording of the stage of development of each facial feature of any person. This chart provides the first scientific instrument for research in physiognomy. Its use in investigation of the human factor in various fields has brought results of practical value. It is, as an example, now safe to determine chances of personal success or failure in money making as well as describing the looks of a most desirable mate in marriage for any individual.

You can learn how if you take advantage of THE TRIBUNE'S offer of an analysis of your own personality and carefully study the chart.

As an illustration of character reading from facial features, let us consider in this first article the cases of the famous movie personalities, Jean Harlow, Hal Rosson, and William Powell. The marriage of Miss Harlow and Rosson, a cameraman, was spoken of in Hollywood as an ideal match. But happiness failed to last and they were divorced. Recently there have been rumors of the engagement of Miss Harlow and Powell, who once was the husband of Carole Lombard.

What did Miss Harlow see in Hal Rosson? A judicious, analytical mind, cautious and exact in his thinking, sensitive to her capricious states of mind, and demanding less than he would give; an air of mystery arousing curiosity, a swift, passing impression of iron will below smooth and pleasant manners.

What does she see in William Powell? An inoffensive and discreet companion, a responsive, tenderly sentimental attitude, a trusting, compliant disposition with a touch of sadness on proper occasion.

What did Hal Rosson see in her? A quick, decisive, often impetuous way of reacting to new experiences; a spontaneous enthusiasm without affectation; emotional imagination vaguely impressed by solid, logical reasoning.

What does William Powell see in her? A keen-witted, self-reliant woman knowing what she wants and frankly going after it; a cheerful, encouraging interest in those she likes and a fair attitude toward the merits of others; a tendency to take the initiative and assume responsibility.

In the case of Jean Harlow and Hal Rosson there are three favorable traits and between her and William Powell there are eight. It has been observed that three favorable mental contact points usually are sufficient to insure marriage happiness.

WILLIAM POWELL.

In the present case, for instance, Miss Harlow and Hal Rosson both are unduly sensitive to criticism, while William Powell is very tolerant in this respect. Jean Harlow and Rosson both are rather stubborn and unwilling to give in while William Powell is more flexible. Mr. Rosson further is less able to express warmer feelings while Powell is ready any time to meet advances of an affectionate nature.

It will be noticed later in these studies of married movie stars that they as a rule are better mated than ordinary couples. If it is true that a higher divorce rate exists among them, it must be accounted for by other factors than unwise selection; probably conditions inherent in the nature of their occupation.

Wedding Set for Oct. 19

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

Miss Theodora Putnam is the daughter of Maj. and Mrs. Brock Putnam of Fort Sheridan. Her engagement to Lieut. Walter A. Downing, Third Field artillery, was announced ten days ago, and she will be married Oct. 19 in the Fort Sheridan chapel. Lieut. Downing is stationed at Fort Sheridan.

Front Views and Profiles

By June Provines

THIS drunk story comes from Peoria, Ill. A young man named Bill B—— returned home early one morning and cautiously climbed the stairs, hoping his parents were not awake. His father, however, had heard the front door open and met him on the landing. Seeing his son's wavering progress, he ejaculated, in grieved surprise:

Inebriate—
Custom—
"L" Rider—
Social Note.

"Christopher Columbus!"

"Just call me Bill," answered the boy, with an airy wave of the hand.

A FASHIONABLE young woman appeared a few days ago with a handsome diamond on her engagement finger and her finger nails lacquered a new and brilliant shade. Asked if the new nail polish were to draw attention to her fingers, she replied:

"Certainly. The color sets off the stone. All the girls go in for bright nail polish as soon as they put on an engagement ring." Whereupon she recited a list of brides and brides-to-be whose engagements had been the signal for wearing the brighter nail polish. . . . Just by way of keeping you informed about the less important things that go on.

IT was the newly engaged girl's father who commented, seeing the flash of the new ring on her finger:

SPEAKING of nail polish, a girl named Dorothy Frundt bulletins that a young woman boarded a loop bound "L" Thursday morning, and after seating herself comfortably proceeded to apply liquid polish to her finger nails. Put on two coats of the polish, and did a very neat job, too.

FROM the Calumet Index of Sept. 26: "Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Deam entertained Mr. and Mrs. Louis Coskey of Columbia City, Ind., and Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Riceson of Chicago last week. Mr. Deam is still confined to his bed."

And Mary Ware, who relays the item, comments that hospitality can be very tiring at times.

Deb Finds Time for Courses in Domestic Arts

Helen Bersbach to Learn Sewing and Cooking.

BY JUDITH CASS.

AS if the host of responsibilities, social and philanthropic, that confront every debutante in her first season were not enough, Miss Helen Bersbach is looking forward to taking up the study of sewing and cooking with her older sister, Miss Barbara Bersbach, when they arrive at home in a day or two after a summer abroad.

This is the first time within memory that a debutante has turned to domestic pursuits in the midst of her first whirl of parties, although several second year girls are enrolled in schools of domestic science every year.

Mrs. Frank J. Bersbach's debutante daughter is being presented with Miss Mary Alice Bacon at a supper-dance Dec. 28 at the Palmer house. Miss Bacon returned last week from a trip abroad with Mrs. Victor Beaufort, and is visiting friends in New York for a few days before coming on to Chicago.

Family Returns After Summer in Europe.

Mrs. Bersbach, who was in Europe with her family this summer, returned to Winnetka last week with her son, Robert, leaving her daughters in New York, where they are visiting friends. Miss Joan Bersbach, the youngest daughter, will return to Miss Shipley's school tomorrow.

Already registered for classes which begin this week at the School of Domestic Arts and Sciences are Miss Barbara Fortune, Miss Margery Garvey, Miss Eleanor Kirkland, and Miss Margery Preston, all of whom made their debuts as Miss Barbara Bersbach did a year ago. Other girls who will study homemaking this winter at the school are Miss Dorothy and Miss Willette Mary Drummond, Miss Eloise Anne Pope of Evanston, Miss Rebecca Miller and Miss Hazel White of Glencoe, and Miss Elizabeth Seabury of Oak Park.

Mrs. Lynden Evans, because of ill health, is turning over her duties as director of the school to Mrs. Mary Koll Heiner, assistant professor of home economics at the University of Chicago. Mrs. Evans is remaining on at her summer place at Pelican Lake, Wis., until the middle of October, when she will go to California.

Jean Rawlins Engaged to Wed Edwin C. Ward.

At several parties over the weekend both in Chicago and on the north shore engagements were announced which are of interest this morning.

The young people who accepted invitations to a supper party in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Steven C. Rawlins on Judson avenue in Evanston last night thought the party was being given to fête Miss Cynthia Waldron of Fort Madison, Ia., who had just arrived to visit Miss Jean Rawlins, but instead Mr. and Mrs. Rawlins chose the occasion to announce their daughter's engagement to Edwin C. Ward, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin J. Ward of Kenilworth.

Miss Rawlins, who is a graduate of the Roycemore school and of Sarah Lawrence college, is active in social work along the north shore, being secretary of the Infant Welfare Service league in Evanston and a provisional member of the Chicago Junior league. Mr. Ward attended Culver Military academy, was graduated from Purdue university, and is a member of the Chicago Black Horse troop. He and Miss Rawlins plan to be married next April, so it is likely that Miss Waldron, who was graduated from Vassar last June, will

Good Morning!

It has gangsters and puppies
And wild auto rides.
There are sleuths of both sexes;
Air pilots, besides.
A des-per-ate mother,
Whose child would be had
By said youngster's wealthy
Un-prin-cipled dad.
A dumb paper hanger!
Barbed wire fences! A fire!
The Mexican border; a flat auto tire,
A Negro camp meeting,
A killer—paroled,
Pigs, geese, and some chickens!
A chiseler bold.
A touring camp; handcuffs,
A fast choo choo train!
Farm houses, hound hospital,
Dog with a pain!
Vet surgeon, café—
Gosh—I can't go no furder!
If I do—you and I both
Will want to commit murder . . .!

There are some able people in the cast of "Pursuit" who do their darndest to make something of the impossible goulash. But the scenario writer gave them little chance. The rôle of the itinerant paper hanger as portrayed makes you writhe.

I declare! Just when you get all pepped up and go around saying: "Aren't movies simply marvelous these days?" along comes a dose of poison such as "Pursuit" and doubles you all up with pain!

Well, I reckon 's' life!

NEW YORK SOCIETY

New York, Sept. 29.—[Special.]—Dr. and Mrs. Leland Eggleston Cofer have returned to 563 Park avenue, where they will remain until leaving for Palm Beach early in December.

Casino Revue Lifts Standard of Film Houses

BY CHARLES COLLINS.

The Villa Venice revue, which forms the current program of stage entertainment at the Chicago theater, is a handsome spectacle, rivaling the Broadway revues in its episodes of pageantry. The principal performers are as effective on the Chicago's vast stage as they were on the floor of Albert Bouché's suburban casino last summer, and a large ballet, costumed in gay Parisian style, forms some dazzling pictures. The nudism which marks Bouché's styles occurs only in a few discreet touches.

Rosita Ortega exhibits her skill in Spanish dancing in several numbers. The Duval Sisters and the Bernard Brothers are diverting and unusual as a dancing and pantomimic quartet. The fantastic "new art" dances of Mildred and Maurice have distinction; and the adagio specialty of a young woman named Marietta is excellent. Renée and Ramon, pale brown rhumba dancers from Cuba, and a surprising juggler with a new line of tricks are among the other contributors to the bill.

Altogether, the production marks a rise in the standard of footlight entertainment for cinema house patrons.

"Thumbs Up," the musical comedy announced for a première at the Grand Opera house on Oct. 20, is now a lost hope. The company, which began a tour on Aug. 26, will end its career in Harrisburg, Pa., next Saturday night. The management of the Grand Opera house thinks that it may be able to offer a revival of "Rose-Marie" as a substitute.

ENGAGEMENT

Mr. and Mrs. Emmet Fry of 811 Clinton place, Evanston, announce the engagement of their daughter, Elizabeth Eloise, to Paul Morel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Morel of Altadena, Cal. Miss Fry, who is a graduate of Northwestern university, is living in Pasadena with her eldest sister, Miss Dorothea Fry, who is teaching dramatics there. Her marriage to Mr. Morel will take place in November.

Expert Praises Long Wearing Silk Outfits

Pure Materials Retain Style and Line.

BY RHEA SEEGER.

The swish of silk and the big silk parade starts! When you've listened to that most provocative of fabrics in the most exciting of silk parades and new fashion shows, you will realize that you have almost forgotten what a completely feminine rustle it is. From the hiss of stiff taffetas to the seductive whisper of incredibly supple silk crêpes and satins and the gossamer, fabulously lovely silver and gold tissues, 1935 silks fashion the most romantic clothes ever presented.

Backed by the International Silk guild, which declares for "all silk, every thread pure silk," and is really doing everything possible to protect and educate shoppers in the inimitable qualities of all silk, the silk parade was as glamorous as any first night performance.

Only with all-silk fabrics can the suavely draped gowns of this new season be made. With all silk material you send your best frock to the cleaners, unafraid of the return results. Plaits, tucks, and intricate shirrings, the complicated and adroit drapings that mark the newest of fall clothes stay "in" with all-silk. Plaits retain their sharp edges after weeks of wear and countless trips to the cleaners; colors glow as richly jewel-like as they did when you first chose the materials, and seams never sag.

Shop for the new silks, carefully marked "all-silk" on the selvage of the materials, and demand all-silk dresses when you buy in the shops. For dresses of the new blistered silks retain that high fashioned texture after weeks of wearing. Silks and satins will gleam after months and more of good wearing.

All the fancy weaves that make the stunning, decorative and long wearing clothes for the modern fall wardrobe are made of all-silk fabrics. Glamorous evening gowns of silk tissue, lustrous brocades and silks and velvet combines are loveliest and practical only when they are made of that typically feminine and uncopyable long wearing and elegant material, "all-silk"!

Fashion photograph—simplicity to the nth degree, achieved in a stunning dark afternoon dress showing the newest of long, loose sleeves. Front fullness is introduced with intricate and ingenious shirrings, a high neckline is cut in a very shallow V. An emerald green velvet sash slips through a loop of the material in front and ties in a small bow at the back. Available in a Chicago shop.

BORDER BREED

By William MacLeod Raine

SYNOPSIS.

Young Dan Clifford is driving a mule team carrying freight when he meets and befriends 17 year old Milly Sutherland. She and a young brother and sister are en route to Los Pinos, wild border town of the untamed west. Their father died on the way. In Los Pinos Dan has a run-in at the Last Chance with Jasper Ford, gambler and killer. Through Polly Doble Dan gets Milly work washing and Ah Sin, a Chinaman, to help her. Jasper Ford orders Dan to leave town. Dan knows it is wise to obey. Dan's friend, Sam Jones of the rangers, appeals to Ford without effect. Ford forces his attentions on Milly. Dan publicly humiliates him. Ford challenges Dan to a duel. Dan can't shoot. Sam Jones advises Dan to choose bowie knives as weapons and he'll circulate reports of his prowess at slashing. Ford backs out. Sam gives Dan shooting instructions. Dan wins another victory over a friend of Ford's named Le Page. That evening Dan has supper at Milly's. On his way home he is fired at by Le Page. He plunges into the creek and swims under water. Milly hears the shot and comes to his aid.

INSTALMENT XIII.

PUNISHMENT PLANNED.

Crossing the road, they walked up the path to the door. Dan opened this, stood aside to let Milly pass, then ducked in after and dragged the door shut. He drove the bolt home. One glance showed him that the window blind was down.

The young man sank down into a rocker.

"You're hurt," she cried, her face colorless.

"A scratch," he answered. "It's not that." He looked up at her, almost as white as she was. "It was . . . terrible. I swam under the water and came up beneath some bushes. I kept expecting him to see me. The foliage saved me for a minute or two. Then he got a stick to brush it aside. Just then you called and he got scared. God! If you hadn't come, if you had waited twenty seconds longer——"

She said, to take his mind from that awful thought: "Let me look at your wound. I'll have to get a doctor, too."

"Don't think so. It's just a burn—a scratch, I think."

She helped him out of his coat and shirt. Dan was right. The wound itself was insignificant. The bullet had scorched a ridge along the flesh.

Milly washed and dressed it.

"Do you know who it was tried to kill you?" she asked.

"I'm almost sure it was a fellow called Le Page. I didn't get a good view of his face, but I could almost swear to him."

"You'll have to stay here tonight," Milly said.

"Do you know who it was tried to kill you?" she asked.

Pink flooded her face. "Let them," she said stoutly. "You're not going out of this house till morning."

"It will be all right for you to stay here and you're going to do just that."

He gave up the point. "I can sleep on that buffalo rug on the floor," he said.

"No, you can sleep in my bed in the room with the children. I'll sleep out here on the buffalo robe. You've been hurt and I haven't."

"I haven't been hurt—not to speak of. I won't take yore bed." He grew indignant at the thought. "Up to you. If I stay it will be in this room."

She brought out blankets and arranged a bed for him on the floor.

While Milly was making his couch as comfortable as possible Dan cleaned his revolver. He did not want it to dry while wet for fear of rust. In place of the cartridges that had been in the water soaked weapen he substituted others. A word of advice given by Sam Jones popped to his mind: "Keep yore gun oiled, boy. You won't need it often, but when you do, O, by God."

Milly looked at the gun with distrust and alarm. "It isn't Christian to carry one of those," she said.

"No, ma'am," Dan agreed with mock meekness. "I'd better leave it here with you, don't you reckon?"

She stared at him accusingly. "What would you do if—if one of these villains——"

"——cut loose on me," he completed for her. "I'd jump in the creek if there was one handy."

No smile met his. "You take your gun and defend yourself," she told him with a little flare of feminine ferocity.

"But you just done told me it's not Christian," he mentioned.

"I don't care whether it is or not. You can't let yourself be murdered. Maybe I'm wrong about it's not being Christian. God helps those who help themselves." She said a crisp "Good night" and vanished.

It was a long time before he could get to sleep. Once in the night he awoke to discover that a heavy rain was pouring down. He could hear it on the roof and by a flash of lightning he saw it running down the window almost in a stream.

"We sure needed a good rain," he murmured, then turned over and went to sleep again.

Dan rose as light was beginning to sift into the sky. He dressed and slipped out of the house without disturbing any of those in it. Rain was still falling, but there was a promise of clear weather in the sky.

The ground was soft. He sloshed through adobe mud to his ankles. San Antonio street was deserted except for a few late revelers making their way back home unsteadily. Without incident he reached the jacal where he, Sam Jones, and Yorky were staying.

He had to knock on the bolted door to get admittance. Yorky came sleepily to let him into the room.

"Where in jubilee you been?" the big teamster demanded. "We all been worried—thought sure they had got you."

"Not this trip." Dan said with his best manner of nonchalance. "The fellow sent to do the job kinda slipped up on it."

By this time the ranger had wakened. "Obigod, did the scalawags try to get you, boy?" he asked.

Dan sat down on the edge of a cot and pulled his soggy boots off. "Did his doggondest, the fellow who tried it."

"Then you dropped him?" Sam inquired.

"No, sir. By that time I was in the acequia. I figured it was time for me to take a bath."

"Quit joshin', boy. Tell us the story, what there is of it," ordered Jones.

Dan recounted the events of the night.

The ranger exploded in profanity. "Didn't I tell you to stay home and keep under cover nights? What's eatin' you, fellow? By rights this killer Le Page ought to have got you. It was just luck he didn't. That's no way to play yore hand."

"I know," Dan admitted. "It was that fried chicken did it. When Miss Milly gave me my invite I had to say yes. Me, I'm plumb fool about fried chicken." He was trying to get across the impression that it was the dinner and not the hostess that had interested him.

"What do you figure on doing about this Le Page?" Sam asked.

"Want to talk with you about that," Dan answered. "I can't just let it ride. Got to call the turn on him. But how?"

"Sure it was him?"

"Practically sure. Couldn't swear to it in court."

"He figures you are dead. If he saw you suddenly he'd sure give himself away."

"And then what?" Dan asked. "I'm no killer. Except in self-defense I couldn't draw a gun on any one."

The ranger rubbed his chin. "For a fellow buttin' into trouble much as you do you're certainly the most harmless guy I ever see. You answer yore own question, boy. Then what? You could explain to him you were sorry to be such a nuisance, but next time he would likely have better luck."

"No, sir," Dan replied curtly. "I'm going to give him something to remember me by the rest of his life."

"Now you're shouting, son," Yorky said.

"He's due for a cowhiding."

"You'd have to step lively before he got a chance to draw his gun," Jones warned.

"I would so, unless I could bluff him out of a gun play."

"You want to have yore cutter handy in case the bluff doesn't work." They discussed the best time to meet Le Page. He was always at the Last Chance from three o'clock in the afternoon until late at night. They decided to confront him unexpectedly. In the meantime Dan was to stay in the jacal where he could be seen by nobody. Yorky was dispatched to Milly Sutherland to ask her not to mention to any one the occurrences of the previous night. It was important that no advance warning reach Le Page.

Military Hat Needs Graceful Coiffure Mode

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

The more military the hat, the more feminine the coiffure! Register that little resolve this season, for no matter what the style, a woman's best bet is not to look even a trifle masculine.

A couple of those felt casques, as they call them, with the coq plumes associated with cadet capes, have been seen. Also one not-so-young woman, with her hair closely cropped, and her military collared topcoat looked pretty much like the drum major who leads the parade. One would hardly pick the woman, however, to lead a beauty parade. On the other hand, a younger woman, with her hair drifting down on her neck and around her ears in soft hair trim might appear smart. But as one bright friend commented on certain of the military trends of the season: "A girl might look extremely fashionable in those new military effects, but hardly lovable!"

Whether looking lovable intrigues your interest in-so-far as your fall outfit is concerned, is your own personal concern, but we think it an important element of dress. I think of a certain woman with a reputation for great smartness of dress. She thinks her wardrobe out to the last little detail. But, as often is the comment about her: "She's forbidding in her 'brittle' smartness!"

Once I heard a man remark: "About a woman, as about a room, there should be at least one careless gesture!" Not untidiness, understand! Comfortable, rather. This note in costuming easily can be introduced with an informal scarf or an informal effect of hair, or with a hat that isn't too hard and set of outline.

This year, of course, women have the advantage of jumping from the military looking day things into dinner and evening clothes that would transform a window smashing suffragette into a devastating siren. But it is just as well to remember that in day things even the feminine note lends more attractiveness to women.

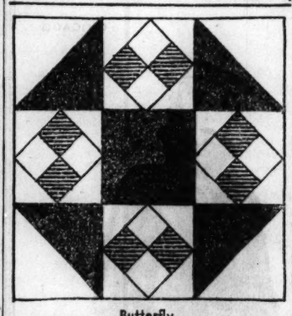
"Butterfly" Quilt Affords Variety in Pieced Effects



Butterfly.

BY NANCY CABOT.

There are as many butterfly quilt patterns as there are members of the colorful winged species. For variety and ingenuity of piecing, this "Butterfly" block affords every opportunity. Each block may be different, pieced with print, plain, or a combination of both materials. It is one of our old friends, the nine patch block, which is both simple and attractive.

Patterns of this design are 5 cents, stamps or coin. Address Nancy Cabot, Chicago Tribune, or call at one of the Tribune Public Service offices: One South Dearborn street or Tribune Tower.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

Now here's something sensible and smart in the way of powder boxes: It's made of metal, finished in pretty pastel enamels; you can't waste a grain of the powder because you have to tap a disk set in the inner top to get it out—and it's inexpensive.

Powder is taken from its regular box and poured into the metal one through the bottom. The disk set in the top keeps it dry, and when you want some on the puff you simply tap the disk gently. You can get as much or as little out as you want.

Any woman who travels will treasure one of these; you may be sure she knows the sad experience of finding face powder spilled in her luggage.

The face powder boxes have a running mate in larger ones of exactly the same design for body powder. These are in pretty shades to add a decorative touch to any bathroom color scheme.

You'll find these in shops all over town. ELEANOR NANGLE.

"Food for Small Folks," a booklet of directions for the feeding of pre-school children, is on sale at the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street and Tribune Tower, for 3 cents. By mail, 5 cents, stamps or coin. Address mail requests to Mary Meade, Chicago Tribune.

BY MARY MEADE.

If the cold gray dawns are becoming bleaker and the pride of your household is a little angel who has to have his early morning bottle, we hope you know about the small electric bottle warmers on the market. No more padding around the kitchen in cold slippers, fumbling for a saucepan and waiting for the water to heat if the nursery boasts one of these. Now the only trick is to slip the bottle from the refrigerator into the warmer, something the sleepiest soul can manage with no more than one eye open.

To turn on the current in one of these small, colored pottery warmers, all you have to do is plug in the switch and pour one teaspoonful of water into the base. [We'd suggest keeping a measuring teaspoon and a glass of water right next to the warmer in the nursery]. When the water is gone the bottle is warmed to precisely the right degree for baby's breakfast—and that's that!

Cleaning the warmer is a small task, too. About every week you probably will need to put in about five teaspoons of water, bring it to a boil by plugging in the current, and then pour it out. If your water causes lime to form around the heating unit, two tablespoons of vinegar left in the warmer overnight, followed by a rinsing with clear water, will remove the formation.

The same manufacturers who were baby-conscious enough to think up that trick also have come forth with an electric bottle sterilizer. The washed and rinsed bottles are set in a rack in a small cookerlike arrangement, six ounces of water are poured into the base, and the current turned on. Steam begins to form after only one or two minutes and continues for 30 to 40 minutes. At the end of that time the water is boiled away and the sterilizer automatically turns itself off. Cereals, dried fruits, or vegetables may be steamed in the same contrivance, if you need that extra justification for investing in one.

As young hopeful gets a little older he's due for some soft cooked, yes, hard cooked eggs. In fact it's a habit he's likely to cling to all his life, so whether you've children or not you may be interested in an automatic electric egg cooker. Unlike the electric egg cookers previously on the market, this small unit has an automatic switch. You put in the eggs [it holds four] on a small wire rack, add water to the base of the cooker in amounts which vary according to how hard you like your eggs, and close the lid. This automatically turns on the current. After the water is boiled away the current turns itself off, the lid pops up, and the eggs are ready for the table. For soft cooked eggs two teaspoons of water suffice; medium eggs ask three teaspoons, while the hard cooked variety takes eight or more, depending on individual preference.

None of these three small units is particularly expensive, considering their special convenience, either as to initial price or cost of operation.

Gospel League Asks Its Friends to Save Young People's Home

A thousand letters were mailed the last week-end by the Rev. Benjamin Mickle Brown, minister of the Gospel league, in an appeal for funds to save the league shelter for young people at Adams and Laflin streets. Through the Northern Trust company the owners of this property have ordered it vacated by Oct. 12, that the buildings, three old residences, may be razed.

Through conference with the trust company the Rev. Mr. Brown has been granted the opportunity of acquiring these buildings for the price of the land, which is valued at approximately $15,000. This amount must be raised by Oct. 12. Following up his appeal by letter, the Rev. Mr. Brown has asked all of the friends of the league to meet today at the shelter, 1458 Adams street.

Ideal for the Novelty Fabrics

JUNIOR GIRL'S DRESS.

School and college girls have many lovely materials from which to choose for their dresses this fall. There are woolly novelty crêpes, angora mixtures, wool jersey, woolly looking silks, and many others. The skirt of this dress is beautifully cut, giving just the right flare at the bottom, and the blouse, buttoning up the back, with sleeves set in in an unusual way, is right up to the minute in style. The original dress, in capucine and green angora mixture, used plain green for trimming.

The pattern, No. 3400, comes in sizes 14, 16, 18, and 20 years. Size 16 requires 2⅞ yards of 54 inch material, with ⅜ yard of 27 inch contrasting.

If Boy Discontinues Attentions It's Best Not to Ask His Reason

BY DORIS BLAKE.

"I have been going with a young man for about ten months. Nothing serious ever was mentioned between us. But I learned to care for him. I have been told that he liked me, too. But he suddenly stopped seeing me. What would you advise me to do to find out if anything happened of which I am not conscious?

"PEARL."

Don't you think it would be better just to let things ride along until fate intervenes either in the chap's voluntary return or a substitute escort appears on the horizon?

In relationships between young men and young women there may be no explicable reason for a change of mood. If you write a man demanding to know why, or pleading to know why, or even just off-handedly questioning the reason why, it embarrasses him.

So it would seem just a bit more clever not to write, not to question, even though you should accidentally run into the former admirer. Treat him casually as a friend you're glad to see, but not so glad that he will read eagerness for his return into the greeting.

visit here again at that time. She is returning to Fort Madison in a day or two.

At an informal tea Saturday afternoon in her apartment at the Ambassador East Mrs. Leo F. Wormser announced the engagement of her daughter, Elaine, to Thomas J. Reis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Reis of Cincinnati, O. The close friends of Mrs. Wormser and her daughter who gathered to congratulate the young man and wish the bride-to-be happiness were quite surprised at the news, as is often the case when the finacé or fiancée lives in a different city.

Miss Wormser attended the Faulkner School for Girls before going to Lausanne, Switzerland, where she studied for two years. Later she returned to America to finish her education at Pine Manor in Wellesley, Mass. Mr. Reis is a graduate of Cornell university. Their wedding will take place in April.

Two More North Shore Girls' Engagements Told.

Two other engagements were made known on the north shore yesterday and the day before, one at a tea yesterday afternoon in Glencoe when Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Grey Glass announced the engagement of their daughter, Ethel Belle, to Joseph James Mullen, and one on Saturday afternoon in Kenilworth when Mr. and Mrs. William F. Freudenreich revealed the engagement of their daughter, Elizabeth, to Richard Archibald Yonkers, son of Mrs. Edward Henry Yonkers of Evanston.

Miss Glass is a graduate of Wellesley college. Her fiancé, who is a son of Mr. and Mrs. James T. Mullen of Brockton, Mass., is a graduate of Little Rock college and now is attending the medical school at the University of Arkansas.

Thirty-five of Miss Freudenreich's schoolmates at Roycemore and Northwestern university gathered in her family's home at 314 Abbotsford road Saturday afternoon to hear the news of her engagement. Her marriage to Mr. Yonkers will take place on Thanksgiving eve, and they will live in Chicago.

Jane Dickson Engaged to Springfield Man.

Also of interest this morning is the announcement that Gen. and Mrs. Frank S. Dickson of 7737 North Marshfield avenue are making of the engagement of their daughter, Jane, to Edgar Heaton Buckley Jr. of Springfield, Ill. Miss Dickson is a graduate of the Francis Parker school and attended Northwestern university, where she was a member of the Pi Beta Phi sorority. Her marriage to the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Heaton Buckley of Springfield will take place Nov. 16 at the Rogers Park Presbyterian church, and will be followed by a reception at the Georgian hotel in Evanston.

In Naperville over the week-end Mr. and Mrs. Ezra E. Miller told their friends of the engagement of their daughter, Virginia, to Charles Moore Sanborn of Clevelan., O., son of Mr. and Mrs. Rufus H. Sanborn, also of Naperville. Miss Miller is a graduate of the Milwaukee Downer seminary and of Wells college. Mr. Sanborn attended Northwestern university.

Mr. and Mrs. John R. Hurley are receiving congratulations on the birth of a daughter early yesterday in Evanston hospital. The baby, who has been named Adrienne, is the first child of the former Gwendolyn Juergens and Mr. Hurley and the first grandchild of Mr. and Mrs. H. Paul Juergens.

According to CULBERTSON

BIDDING AND PLAYING TRICKS.

Bidding and play are not two radically distinct departments of the game—they are two sides of the same medal, each with its own characteristic methods and partnership language, the same story of tricks.

The object of play is to extract honor and length tricks imbedded in various suits and which are their raw material.

The object of bidding is to discover a bid that in play will make the greatest number of tricks.

Bidding therefore is mental play, where the same kind of tricks are won or lost in player's mind at a given bid as with the exposed dummy, so that each deal of a deck is being played over twice—the first time during the bidding, but with abstract "ghost" tricks, and the second time during the play with "physical tricks."

When I decide to bid four spades, for instance, I first study my hand and play it over mentally with my partner's hand as an imaginary dummy. Consciously or subconsciously I have counted my winners and losers, I have made finesses, established possible long tricks in trump or side suits, and assumed from my partner's bids or silence a reasonable number of tricks in his hand. I also have glanced at the score, listened to opponents, considering the precision and truthfulness of their bids, compared my four spade bid to other available bids in terms of points, and after measuring the proposed bid on the scales of probabilities made my final decision. Of course you do not do all that at the early stages or with hands full of holes.

Thus, bidding is a dress rehersal of the play to come and the final bid is simply an architect's finished drawing according to which the player contracts to build his plays.

One also can define bidding as a prediction that a number of tricks, as predicted by the final bid, will be made in actual play. A good bidder is a good prophet, even though his partner usually refuses to recognize him. But to be a good bidder you have to start by learning the tricks of the play.

Mental Play.

The hand shown below really was played twice. First the would-be declarer decided what his partner must hold and how he could play the hand to make his contract. Then when he saw his partner's hand he made his final plan.

The bidding (neither side vulnerable):

WEST	NORTH	EAST	SOUTH
1 ♣	Dbl.	3 ♠	3 ♠
Pass	4 ♦	5 ♣	5 ♠ (final bid)

South's five-spade bid was the result of careful thought. When West bid clubs and East raised them twice South knew his opponents must hold nine clubs between them—with his three only one could be in North's hand. North's takeout double had shown three honor tricks and his raise had shown spade support. South decided that he could lose no more than one trick in clubs, none in hearts, and probably one in diamonds.

West opened the three of diamonds and South, after seeing the dummy, made his plan by counting his possible losing tricks. He must lose one club and anticipated no loser in trumps and none in hearts. He could afford to lose one diamond, but if West had a singleton and East were allowed to take his king on the first round he would return a diamond and West would trump it. Many players would finesse, trying to win an extra trick, but South scorned the finesse. He played dummy's diamond ace. Then he decided, from East's enthusiastic support of clubs, that East was more likely than West to be short in spades. So he led to the spade ace, then finessed for the queen through West. Later he gave up tricks to the club ace and diamond king, but made his five-odd.

TODAY'S QUESTION.

Question: My partner bid one spade and the next player passed. Should I raise him to three spades with ♠ A K 7, ♥ Q 6, ♦ A 5 3 2, ♣ J 8 4 3?

Answer: No, you should not give your partner a double raise unless you have at least four of his suit. With only three of his suit, however strong they are, there is danger that the combined hands will have only seven trumps (if your partner's suit is a four-card suit). With the hand shown bid two diamonds and raise the spades later.

South dealer, neither side vulnerable.

If South plays the hand at four spades and trumps a diamond on the second trick after losing the first to the diamond ace, what card should he then lead?

Ely Culbertson will discuss this hand in tomorrow's article.

Monday articles in this column are especially written for average players and near beginners. Write your bridge troubles and questions to Mr. Culbertson, in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Furniture Week Just in Time to Solve Women's Prcblems

BY EDITH WEIGLE.

Just at the time when the first crisp, fall days make the fireplace the center of interest in any living room and the family is once more together again—along comes National Furniture week. It is here at a welcome moment, for thousands of women are taking stock of their home furnishings and jotting down items that will be needed for the coming months.

Whether it is a new table lamp, a washing machine, a streamline toaster, a mattress, or a whole group of furniture for each room in the house, Chicago stores are showing special displays, arranged expressly for this week's home furnishings program. Now is the time to become acquainted with the new trends in furniture designs, with the marvelous new upholstery and drapery fabrics, with the nubby textured rugs, the smooth and colorful linoleums, the wall papers that can transform any drab room into a place of beauty, and all the scientific labor-saving devices that ease long hours in the kitchen.

One store is selling attractive chairs for the living room at exceptionally low prices. Another is displaying new suites of bedroom furniture made by a Grand Rapids company long known for its high class, almost custom made, merchandise. Its new line, however, has been priced to meet the most modest budget, so for the first time many homes unable to afford pieces manufactured by this firm will now enjoy them.

Still another Chicago store is emphasizing built-for-comfort lounge chairs upholstered in the new curly mohairs and in styles that, while modern in trend, are yet so simple and adaptable that they will fit harmoniously into almost any interior, no matter what its furnishings. There is one chair, for example, that combines two fabrics, a solid toned brown being used for the outer sides and back, and a wavy-line, checked gold material covering the cushions.

The National Retail Furniture association, one of the group sponsoring this National Furniture week, points out that shortly prices on furniture will go up and that, therefore, this may be the last opportunity to take advantage of the present "lows." That practical point with the lavish displays to be seen in the stores all week is sure to bring crowds of shoppers to Chicago. Merchants join in making this a world's fair of home furnishings.

OLD SETTLEMENT HOUSE IN YARDS AREA AT CRISIS

Unusual Demands Make Funds Inadequate.

BY MARCIA WINN.

Out back o' the yards a 42 year old settlement house is facing a major economic problem.

Located at 4630 Gross avenue, the diagonal little street which makes a crow's flight cut into the stockyards, the University of Chicago settlement, one of the 39 group work agencies which will share in the $3,200,000 community fund campaign now under way, needs money to carry on its immensely valuable social work.

"Our 1935 problem is finances," said Miss Mary Dunwiddie, acting head resident. "We must get money to meet the emergency now before us."

Depend on Fund for Half.

More than half of its income is from the community fund, she said. The remainder comes from a few small contributors, a free will offering taken in the University of Chicago chapel, and donations received from the University of Chicago community.

In the past this has sufficed, but this year the settlement, which long ago took on the name of "second home" to the 1,400 Polish, Mexican, and Lithuanian families on its rolls, has been beset by extraordinary demands due to the fact that work at the stockyards has slowed down.

"Settlement houses ordinarily do not give relief," said S. W. Knarr, director of activities for the settlement, "but lately the demand has been so great that we often tide a family over until its head gets on relief or gets a job again."

Aids School Children.

From October to May is always the settlement's busiest season, for not only does its winter program of activities begin, but also comes its yearly period of rendering assistance to families. Books, car fare, lunch money, and clothing are given to school children.

"Demands along these lines are higher than ever this year," Knarr continued, "for although the National Youth administration does take care of some—it doesn't take care of all—not even all those on relief."

SALES TAX TOKEN RAISES PROBLEM AMONG STATES

Sales tax tokens, which have been a source of irritation in this state, are a larger problem than their denominations might imply, according to a survey made public yesterday by the council of state governments. Five states already have placed 110 million of the tokens in circulation, according to the report.

The research staf of the council, which has headquarters at 850 East 58th street, is continuing its study of the problems presented by the issuance of the tokens. It may recommend that the federal government reconsider its decision and coin the tokens, or that the state governments develop a uniform system.

"The people of the United States do not generally realize what is ahead of them," said Henry W. Toll, executive director of the council. "In order to appreciate fully the import of the situation one must realize that 23 of the 48 states have general sales taxes.

"Within the last few weeks, the five states now using tokens have issued them in the following numbers: Illinois, more than 25,000,000; Missouri, 52,000,000; Washington, 23,600,000; Colorado, 5,400,000; New Mexico, 2,500,000."

"No Monotonous Regimentation in Coats This Year"
CARSON'S SAYS IT—WITH THESE

Nine Outstanding Coat Fashion Successes

Time was when coat variety was limited to one or two classic styles, with the only noticeable variety in the furs. Not so this year—and certainly not at Carson's. In a coat from our collections you may have the charm of a lady of the Renaissance, with a collar that we call the "saucer" type, or you may look young and boyish in one of the new little flat round collars. You may cinch in your waist and flare your skirt, or you may step along in the free and easy lines of a full-backed swagger. You may frame your face in an aura of fluffy fur, or you may wear a collar as flat as a cloth one and draped in dressmaker fashion. What's more, all these are types that continue to figure in the fashion news—so that you may be sure that they have a future as well as a present. Furs and fabrics are the newest—quality is the well-known Carson kind—and all this variety may be had within the price range of $35 to $145

Flat Furs — Fluffy Furs — Untrimmed Styles
Frise Woolens — Mixtures — Suede-like Fabrics
Flat Draped Collars — Small Boyish Collars
Saucer Collars — Military Collars — Big Full Collars
Cinched-in Waists — Straight Lines — Swaggers

Persian Lamb "Saucer," $85

Fox Collar, $125

CARDINALS TIE LIONS, 10-10; BEARS AND PACKERS WIN

DETROIT KICK IN FINAL MINUTES AVERTS DEFEAT

Schneller, Nichelini Make Touchdowns.

BY GEORGE STRICKLER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 29.—Two of the finest football teams in the nation—the Chicago Cardinals and the Detroit Lions—battled to a 10 to 10 tie today in a National Professional league game. In 60 minutes of bitterly fought play each team accomplished a touchdown and a field goal. The tie enabled the two teams to remain at the top of the National league standing with unbeaten records. Ten thousand saw the game.

The lead changed hands twice, the Cardinals leading, 3 to 0, at the end of the first half, the Lions holding a 7 to 3 advantage at the end of the third quarter, and the Cardinals forging back into the van with a fourth quarter touchdown. The final score of the game came in the 12th minute of the fourth quarter when Glen Presnell saved the Detroit club from defeat with a place kick from the Cardinal 21 yard line.

Cards Capitalize on Breaks.

The Cardinals owe their share of the deadlock to alertness and generalship which made the most of breaks when they developed. Bill Smith, whose end play prevented the fleet Ernie Caddell and Dutch Clark from breaking away time and again, gave the Cardinals a lead in the second quarter with his place kick from Detroit's 31 yard line.

The break which led to this score was identical, in nature and position on the field, with that which paved the way for Detroit's touchdown in the third period. Al Nichelini, former St. Mary's half back, who starred with the All-Americans against the Bears, stole the ball from Caddell on the Cardinals' 42 yard line. The Cards worked the ball down to the 31 yard line and then Smith dropped back and kicked the field goal.

Christensen Duplicates Feat.

In the third period Frank Christensen, Detroit half back, snatched the ball out of Nichelini's grasp while making a tackle on the 41 yard line in the same spot on the field. Clark picked up nine yards. He and Ace Gutowsky, Detroit full back, made a first down on the Cardinals' 25 yard line. Clark then teamed with Caddell to make another first down in two smashes. The Cardinals' defense braced here and threw Gutowsky for a three yard loss. The red shirted line chased Clark back 15 yards on an attempted pass, hitting him just as he threw the ball wildly toward the end zone, where Doug Russell was racing to the side of the gridiron with John Schneller. Schneller got a step lead on Russell and made a diving shoestring catch to score. Clark drop kicked the extra point putting Detroit ahead, 7 to 3.

Smith's Place Kick Is Short.

Early in the last period Smith attempted a place kick from the 38 yard line, but it fell short. An exchange of punts ended with Phil Sarboe's quick kick going over the goal line for a touchback. Detroit put the ball in play on its 20 yard line. Clark started a wide end run and was driven back by Smith. Smith and Volok hit him along the sidelines at the same time and the ball squirted from his hand. Volok recovered and ran for a touchdown, but Referee Hughitt called it back, apparently misinterpreting the professional rule which permits running with a fumble. He later admitted he blew the whistle too soon. The Cardinals were given the ball on the 16 yard line.

Gil Berry, former Illinois star, came into the game with Nichelini. He picked up four yards at tackle. Nichelini then added one on a well executed pass play from a spread formation. Sarboe passed to Nichelini for 8 yards and a first down on the 3 yard line. On the next play Nichelini took the ball off tackle for the touchdown.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Sept. 29.—[Special.]—Held in check on their ground plays, the Chicago Bears put on a brilliant aerial display to defeat the Pittsburgh Pirates, 23 to 7, in a National league professional football game at Forbes field today.

About 12,000 fans shivered in frigid weather to see the Bears, minus the services of Bronko Nagurski and Beattie Feathers, riddle the Pittsburgh secondary defense for three touchdowns in the second period and add a field goal in the same quarter.

Pittsburgh's touchdown came in the third period, on a 41 yard forward and lateral pass play.

Pollock Scores First.

The Bears started their first scoring drive from the Pirate 45 yard line. After Red Pollock raced around left end for nine, Luke Johnsos caught two passes from Pollock and Masterson to put the ball on the 13 yard line. Masterson then passed to Pollock for the score. Manders added the extra point by placement.

Molesworth, Masterson, and Johnsos collaborated on the second touchdown starting from the Pirate 34 yard line. After a pass had gained 16 yards, Masterson tossed a lateral to Molesworth far to the right and Molesworth threw a forward to Johnsos for an easy touchdown. Manders again kicked for the point. A 13 yard pass from Dunlap to Johnsos brought out the third score after a march from the Pittsburgh 22 yard line.

Kopcha Kicks Goal.

Shortly before the end of the first half, Kopcha kicked a field goal with the ball on the Pirates' 26 yard line. Three other goal attempts by the Bears were futile, one being blocked and the others wide.

A long pass from Gildea to Sortet, followed by a lateral to Casper, brought Pittsburgh's touchdown in one play from the 41 yard line in the third period. Niccolai place-kicked the extra point.

First downs were 12 to 4 for the Bears. The Chicago team outgained the Pirates 516 yards to 263.

Packers Whip Giants, 16-7, in 2d Half Rally

BY CHARLES NEVADA.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Green Bay, Wis., Sept. 29.—The revived Green Bay Packers, seemingly beaten during the first two quarters, rallied their forces in the last two periods, put over a couple of touchdowns, and punched out a field goal for a 16 to 7 victory over the New York Giants today.

A crowd of 8,000 was on hand for the triumph, Green Bay's first over a New York eleven here since 1932 and its second in three league games this season.

Outplayed during the first half, the Packers came back strong after the intermission. The Packers outgained the Giants from scrimmage, 109 yards to 44, making most of the yardage in the second half, but the New York squad held the edge over Green Bay on passes, completeing five out of 16 tosses for a total gain of 79 yards compared with 52 yards on seven throws by the Packers.

Getting possession of the ball following an exchange of kicks with less than a minute remaining in the first half, the New York boys made two first downs to move from their own 20 yard line to thei. own 47. Mac Kraus and Ed Danowski accomplished this advance in six plays.

Burnett Runs 40 Yards to Score.

Danowski then lobbed a short forward pass over the center of the line, where Ike Frankian was waiting. Frankian raced to his left and tossed laterally to Dale Burnett, who sped 40 yards down the sidelines for a touchdown. Ken Strong's place kick was good.

Hank Bruder put the Packers back into the game a few minutes after the third period opened. He intercepted Strong's long pass on the Green Bay 25 yard line and, aided by neat interference by Gantenbein, dashed 75 yards to score. Bob Monnett's attempted place kick was blocked and the Giants led, 7 to 6.

Green Bay forged ahead in the final period. After an exchange of punts that gave the Packers the ball on their own 28 yard line, Sauer ripped through the line for a 35 yard gain. This was followed by a pass, Blood to Tenner, and a smash by Sauer for a first down on the Giants' 25 yard

MORIARTY AND M'GOWAN NAMED SERIES UMPIRES

William Harridge, president of the American league, announced yesterday that George Moriarty and William McGowan would umpire the world's series games between the Chicago Cubs and Detroit Tigers as American league choices. The other two of the four umpires to officiate at each game are to be chosen by the National league president.

U.S. Ryder Cup Team Defeats British, 9 to 3

Ridgewood, N. J., Sept. 29.—(AP)—Emphasizing the tradition that the "home team always wins," the world's professional golf team supremacy was restored to the United States today when a band of American golfers defeated a British side, 9 to 3, and recaptured the $15,000 gold international Ryder cup.

This was the fifth biennial meeting between the players of the two nations since the competition was instituted in 1927. In the four previous matches the Britons won twice at home, in 1929 and 1933, and the Americans won in this country in 1927 and 1931.

By virtue of their victory today the Americans not only duplicated their winning margin of four years ago but also gained a 3-2 lead in the series.

Win Five of Eight Matches.

With a 3-1 lead to work on as the result of yesterday's Scotch foursomes, the Americans today won 5 out of 8 36 hole single contests, lost 1 and broke even in two others. But for the staggering collapse of Horton Smith, who on the third nine against Bill [Wiffy] Cox, after leading by six holes lost seven straight, the Yankees might have won, 10 to 2. This contest ended in a draw.

American victories today were scored in this fashion: Gene Sarazen defeated 23 year old Jack Busson, 3 and 2; Paul Runyan, national pro champion, defeated Richard Burton, 5 and 3; Johnny Revolta defeated Reginald Whitcombe, 2 and 1; Big Olin Dutra defeated Alf Padgham, 4 and 2, and Henry Picard defeated Ernest Whitcombe, 3 and 2.

Alliss Whips Wood.

The Britons' victory was turned in by the veteran Percy Allis, who beat Craig Wood on the 36th green where the American missed a three foot putt for a halve in 4s.

In addition to Cox and Smith the rival open champions, Alfred Perry of England and Sam Parks Jr. of Pittsburgh, also played to no decision. With a crowd estimated at 5,000 closed in around the 36th green, the youthful American champion ran down a thirty foot putt for a birdie three to clinch the hole and contribute half a point to his teams' score.

WHITE SOX BEAT TIGERS, 3-2, 14-2; HAMMER AUKER

Set Record with 10 Singles in One Inning.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

Mr. Mickey Cochrane, famed as an orator over the radio and banquet board, will do well to devote his eloquence from now till Wednesday in delivering pep talks to his jittery stalwarts. They looked terrible, taking a double licking from the White Sox yesterday, 3 to 2, in the first game and 14 to 2 in the 5½ inning second game which was called to enable the champs to catch a train, and, perhaps, take some headache powders.

The first game was a more or less routine affair in which the Sox won on an unearned run after the Tigers had tied the score with two out in the ninth. The most notable feature was that Vern Kennedy won his first victory in six starts since he pitched a no-hit no-run game against the Cleveland Indians on Aug. 31.

Wallop Auker for Record.

What the Sox did to Elden Auker, the American league's leading pitcher, in the second game is what should make Cub partisans take the yarn off bankrolls and place sizable wagers on their boys. In the second inning the Sox tied the American league record for singles in one inning by bumping Auker for 10. These ten safe ones, mostly line drives, a walk and a couple of fielder's choice plays gave the Sox eight runs.

Of less significance, because Joe Sullivan was pitching, is the fact that the Sox made six more runs in the third inning. Mike Kreevich, who made two hits in the second inning, led the attack in the third inning with a double.

Greenberg Flops at Bat.

And you should have seen Hank Greenberg, the great beeg bellwether of the Tigers! It is a sort of slogan, paraphrased from the Ruthian era, that as Greenberg goes so go the Tigers. It probably is hoped by one and all who are interested in keen competitive sport that this slogan isn't altogether true, or at least that Hank won't be as pitiful later this week as he was in the four games at Comiskey park yesterday and Saturday.

Here is Greenberg's record for the series:

First game—Struck out once, flied to outfield once, walked once, and popped to shortstop once.

Second game—Supplied five infield putouts.

Third game—Out on two flies to outfield, grounded out to shortstop, and struck out.

Fourth game—Made it three strikeouts in a row by fanning his first two times up, and then fouled to the catcher for his last out of the 1935 American league season.

Break Even With Champs.

The Sox, who must still be rated the Morning Glories of 1935, nevertheless ended the season like they started it, by kicking the Tigers around. With all chances for the first division gone, they quit gulping and in the final series looked just like a ball team again. Thus, whatever else you may say of their collapsible character, they broke even in the 22 games of the series with the league champs. Though they finished four games under the .500 mark, they finished fifth, which is higher than they have been since 1928.

FIRST GAME

The manner in which the Tigers made the first run of the first game led the Kennedy fans to fear the no hit expert still was in the throes of wildness which had been partly responsible for his failure to win any of five starts after his no hit performance prior to yesterday.

FIRST BUSINESS IS CUTTING UP SERIES MELON

Lose Final Game to Cardinals, 2 to 1.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

The Cubs, carrying their new league title, came home last night from St. Louis and today will be on their way again—this time toward Detroit, where they'll do a little preliminary rehersing before taking up their world series chores with the Tigers on Wednesday.

The new champions, as they arrived over a C. & E. I. special at the Dearborn street station, also had something besides their title to show the several hundred well wishers who were present for a closeup of the town heroes. This was a 2 to 1 defeat slipped to them during afternoon in the season's final with the Cardinals. The Cubs took the whipping with a smile, well knowing that 10,484 St. Louis constituents needed amusement.

Cut Up Series Cash.

Today the Cubs will have the pleasure that comes only to pennant winners. They'll assemble at their Wrigley field clubhouse some time this morning and take up the matter of splitting whatever they're going to get out of the world series pot. Woody English, team captain, will preside at the melon slicing ceremony, and to avoid embarrassment for everybody, including himself, Manager Charley Grimm will take no part. It is likely that about 26 full shares will be voted, one or two of which can be pooled to take care of attachés who usually are remembered at such times.

Capt. English will have one request to make of the boys before the melon slicing is completed. The captain, if he can get the floor long enough, is going to suggest it might be a good idea to contribute to the price of a new pair of pants to replace a pair which were cut off their owner last Friday evening while the Cubs were celebrating the pennant clinching. English is vitally interested in this because he was wearing the pants at the time. Of course, the other Cubs might present English with a bill for the neckties he snipped off with the same shears that later on destroyed his trousers.

Hold Workout Tomorrow.

After the money portioning, the Cubs will have nothing to do except catch a 4:10 p. m. Pennsylvania train for Detroit where they'll arrive early tonight. They'll work out at the Tiger field either tomorrow morning or afternoon, the time depending on what hours Mickey Cochrane, boss of the American league champions, picks for his own squad. Cochrane probably will drill his men in the morning as he did last fall on the day prior to the opener against the Cardinals.

In their season's final game yesterday the relaxed Cubs, besides spreading cheer among the customers, made the afternoon one of consequence for a fellow named Bill McGee, just imported from the Houston Texas league farm. The young man fixed up a swell item for his scrap book by pitching a three hit triumph and giving only one base on balls. Two of the Chicagoans who reached first traveled beyond second because two of the hits were for extra bases.

Carleton O. K., but Loses.

Tex Carleton, himself a Cardinal a year ago at this time, attempted to have some fun with his former mates and at the same time collect his twelfth victory of the year. Carleton did neither, although his exhibition was fairly classic. He allowed only four hits before he was yanked for a pinch hitter after five innings. One of the hits was a homer by Bill DeLancey and one of the others brought on a run because it was mixed with a pass and the Cards' mania for stealing, or trying to steal, on Ken O'Dea.

Two of the three hits off McGee were the work of Billy Herman, so he finished with the league cham-

VAUGHAN TAKES BATTING CROWN WITH .385 MARK

New York, Sept. 29.—(AP)—While Floyd [Arky] Vaughan of the Pittsburgh Pirates was assured of the National league batting championship held last year by his teammate, Paul Waner, a stirring race for the American league title wound up today with the issue still in doubt.

Buddy Myer, Washington veteran, slammed out four hits in five times up in his final game against the Athletics and, according to unofficial records, nosed out Joe Vosmik of Cleveland for the title.

Brothers' Football Rivalry Enters Its Ninth Year

Provo, Utah, Sept. 29.—(AP)—A brotherly football rivalry in the Rocky Mountain conference has entered its ninth year with honors even. Brigham Young university, coached by G. Ott Romney, and Utah State, coached by E. L. [Dick] Romney, have won four games each under the brothers' mentorship. Their annual game Nov. 16 at Logan, home of Utah State, will be a "rubber" contest.

Greenberg and Foxx Tie for Homer Title

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Jimmy Foxx of the Athletics walloped two home runs yesterday to share honors for the season with Hank Greenberg of the Detroit Tigers. Each hit 36 homers—far below last year's high marks, and even farther below the records set by Babe Ruth in his heyday. Lou Gehrig of the Yankees, who topped both leagues last year with 49, had only 30 this season. Wally Berger of the Boston Braves led the National league with 34. The leaders:

BIG AND MIGHTY FALL EARLY IN 1935 FOOTBALL

But Knox Comes Home in Front.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Alabama, Rose Bowl victor and undefeated last year, is tied. Illinois and Wisconsin are beaten in surprising upsets. Chicago's Maroons lose by three touchdowns. And Knox college finally wins a game. Does this sound like football news to which you have been accustomed?

Missouri wins its first game since 1933. And Cornell university is defeated by St. Lawrence. October and baseball's world series haven't arrived, yet the football world is topsyturvy. Well, at any rate Notre Dame romped over its Kansas jinx; Northwestern pushed across two fourth period touchdowns to whip De Paul, while Iowa and Minnesota took their inaugural contests.

More unusual news will be manufactured later, no doubt. Loss of recognized superplayers at some universities will level the competition. Other schools are better and now are proving it. Lateral passes are the order of the day and the duties of the defense are multiplied.

Two Real Half Backs.

The open style of game was exemplified at Lincoln, where Nebraska and Chicago threw the ball with complete disregard of consequences, and two great half backs, Lloyd Cardwell, of the Cornhuskers and Jay Berwanger of Chicago, staged a duel for a record opening throng of 30,000.

Cardwell had the better of the scoring and Nebraska was the better conditioned team, but no player carried the varied responsibilities that were Berwanger's. Jay called the signals, ran back punts, did the kicking and passing, and turned in a score tying dash of 19 yards that was a bit of art equal to any previous performance.

Maroon Laterals Fizzle.

For an opening game this battle was a nightmare for the coaches, a spectacle for the fans. Twice Chicago lost the ball on attempted laterals after good gains from scrimmage. Twice Nebraska had long gains canceled when attempted laterals actually were forward passes.

Since forward passes must be thrown from a point at least five yards behind the line of scrimmage, the ball was called back to the point it had been put in play with the loss of one down.

Chicago really isn't as indifferent an eleven as the score would indicate. Nebraska's superior condition, remarkable for this time of year, had Chicago's defense crumbling in the final minutes. Each team counted 11 first downs, and there was little to choose between them [except for the Cardwell fooler] in three quarters of play. At any rate, Nebraska now is even with the Maroons for that licking in 1906, when Walter Eckersall kicked five field goals.

Irish Start Well.

Notre Dame, 28; Kansas, 7. The Irish are off to a flying start. Carnegie Tech is next and the Scots only whipped Case 6 to 3 Saturday. Notre Dame undoubtedly has splendid backs. If the line develops, Pittsburgh looks like the first real test. The Badgers of Wisconsin follow Carnegie on the schedule, but see what happened Saturday to them: South Dakota, 13; Wisconsin, 6.

Nebraska opens its Big Six schedule Saturday against Iowa State, which was tied by Cornell college Saturday. Just the place for an upset, since the Cornhuskers are thinking of the Minnesota game a week later.

Purdue versus Northwestern is the best in the central states this week. The loser may land in the second division of the Big Ten race.

What a prospect for Michigan this week when the Wolverines, low man in Big Ten football last year, face Michigan State. The Spartans won, 41 to 0, from Grinnell Saturday.

Southern California is worried. Here's Illinois, the big intersectional foe in Los Angeles, tossed around by Ohio university.

Poor Old Gloomy Gil!

Gloomy Gil Dobie's gloomiest prediction for his Cornell university boys finally has come true with a licking on opening day, 12 to 6, by St. Lawrence.

Knox defeated Principia [St. Louis, Mo.], 18 to 0. Knox certainly ruined its own record for consecutive defeats. And Principia [we had to look this up in the records] won five games and lost only two in 1934.

SPARTA DEFEATS ARMOUR, 2-0, IN SOCCER LEAGUE

The Sparta soccer team defeated Armour, 2 to 0, yesterday at the Sparta stadium in a Chicago league game. The Armours forced the game in the first period, and it was only the strong defense of Scott and Myrnka that kept them from scoring.

Sparta took the lead after 15 minutes of the second period, when Tomik scored. Vleck a few minutes later got the second.

In the only other Chicago league match played yesterday the Moravskas defeated the Italians, 4 to 2. The Maccabees' Hungarian match was postponed.

The Vikings, last year's international amateur champions, won from the Schwabens, 4 to 1. Other scores:

STAPP WINS 3D STRAIGHT RACE AT ROBY TRACK

Babe Stapp of Los Angeles made it three victories in a row at the new Roby speedway yesterday by driving off with the 100 mile A. A. A. midwestern championship race. Varying his usual procedure, Stapp did not go into the lead at the start, but once he did get his blue racer in front he had to yield first place only once.

On the 16th lap Stapp skidded on a turn, but by daring driving on the bends succeeded in overtaking Frank Brisko, who then managed to stay in second place until forced out on the 69th lap. Brisko returned to the race, but he was unable to make up lost ground and second place went to Kelly Petillo, winner of the 1935 race at Indianapolis on Memorial day. Petillo finished half a lap behind Stapp.

Andres Is Third.

Emil Andres of Chicago took third place, two laps behind the winner. George Barringer of Carrollville, Wis., finished fourth, four laps behind. With one mile to go Barringer's machine developed mechanical trouble, but he managed to complete the race by driving in second gear. Brisko wound up in fifth place.

Stapp's time for the 100 miles was 76.2 minutes. His two previous victories were at 50 miles.

In the time trials the track record of 43.56 seconds set by Stapp last week, first was broken by Petillo and later by Brisko. The new record is 42.95 seconds.

Johnson Escapes Injury.

Fourteen cars started the race which was witnessed by a crowd of 6,000. Only five finished. Ted Johnson, a Chicago driver, escaped injury when his steering apparatus broke and his car hurtled into the infield.

Summaries:

Cardinals Play Detroit Lions to 10-10 Tie

and the Cardinals led, 10 to 7, with five and a half minutes to go.

Caddel brought back the kickoff 22 yards to Detroit's 32 yard line. Two smashes were stopped. The Lions went back to the air and Caddel threw a long, low pass to Schneller, who caught it on the Cardinals' 32 yard line for a 34 yard gain.

Caddel, Parker, a substitute full back, and Pressnell, who had replaced Clark, moved the ball up 18 yards to the Cardinals' 14 yard line in six plays. Further progress was impossible and Pressnell dropped back to the 21 yard line to place kick and even the score.

The Lions attempted five place kicks, one of which was blocked and two others so hurried by Cardinal linemen that they went wide of the mark. The Cardinals attempted two, Smith missing one.

The Lions made seven first downs, the Cardinals six. Four of the Lions' seven were from passes and three of the Cardinals came by the air route. The Lions completed four out of eight passes for 106 yards, and had one intercepted; the Cardinals, five out of eleven for 51 yards. The Lions made 91 yards by rushing and the Cardinals 87. The Lions led in total yards gained, 191 to 138.

PRESIDENT'S CUP BOAT RACE IS WON BY NOTRE DAME

Washington, D. C., Sept. 29.—(AP)—Herbert Mendelson's Notre Dame today won the President's cup race, chief fixture of the ninth annual regatta on the Potomac river.

The Detroit Sportsman's boat, skippered by Ciel Perry, won the first heat yesterday when the Hotsy-Totsy II., owned by Victor Kliesrath of South Bend, Ind., and piloted by Bill Horn, overturned. On the elapsed time basis, which decided the issue, the Notre Dame virtually won the race then. Today it was only necessary to run two moderately fast final heats.

Hotsy-Totsy II. won the second heat today, beating the Notre Dame by 1½ minutes over the 15 mile stretch.

Talking It Over

[Copyright: 1935: By The Chicago Tribune.]

LOU LITTLE, Columbia football coach, remarked at one of his summer schools that he would sell all his plays for five cents apiece. . . . The story reached the newspapers and next day Little received a letter from a high school coach inclosing 25 cents in stamps and requesting one off tackle, one reverse, one end run, one forward pass, and one cross buck play. . . . Little sent him half a dozen with the notation, "In job lots they are six for a quarter." . . .

Jimmy Nolan, Syracuse quarter back, is a brother-in-law of Edward Neil, Associated Press sports writer who soaked all his copper mines and the family jewels on Max Baer to whip Joe Louis. . . . A TRIBUNE writer, I am informed, got away with one of Neil's mines. . . . The Cardinals and Bears, scheduled to play at Wrigley field next Sunday, probably will put on a night game Oct. 9 after the world series is out of the way. . . . The $100,000 Santa Anita handicap promises to attract a lot of famous crippled horses again next winter. . . . One hears that Ladysman, Hadagal, and Head Play, all out of commission this year, are to be pointed for the rich race on the coast. . . .

The 1935 Cubs owe much of their success to the brilliant pitching they received in the closing weeks of the season, but none of the hurlers has sparkled like Ed Ruelbach of the old west side club. . . . He once pitched a double-header against the Dodgers and won both games by shutouts. . . . Brooklyn made three hits in the first and two in the second. . . . He might have had a no hit game if they had played a third contest that day. . . .

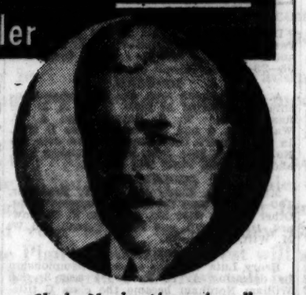
Capt. Ed Skoronski, center, and John Drake, full back, Purdue football veterans, are riveters in fact as well as in fancy. . . . The two burly Boilermakers spent the summer on a riveting crew in a railroad car shop. . . . Sam Barry, basketball coach at Southern California, will be in town for the world series. . . . Pepper Martin's ambition is to drive in the 500 mile race at Indianapolis. . . . Rockford High school's speedy sprinter, Packard, is attending Georgia Military academy.

The hobby of Jim McMillen, wrestler and football player, is surveying. . . . He keeps a complete outfit at his Antioch, Ill., home and establishes boundaries gratis for farmers in the neighborhood. . . . Harmon Meigs, who is expected to win a regular guard position on the University of Chicago eleven, will probably be the ninth son of a "C" man to win a letter. . . . His father, Merrill C. Meigs, Chicago newspaper publisher, starred on the 1905 Maroon team. . . . The first father and son letter combination at the Midway was that of Lloyd Neff, swimming captain in 1915, and his father, Theodore Neff, who won a track letter in 1895. . . . Ticket orders for Notre Dame's home football games are up 20 per cent this fall. . . .

There is plenty of legal talent around the Michigan football squad. . . . Fielding Yost has had training in law, Cliff Keen, No. 2 line coach, is a lawyer in his off hours, and Ralph Aigler, head of the athletic board, is a professor at law. . . . Paul Morrison, Nebraska center, developed his leg muscles climbing apartment house stairs as a milkman in New York. . . . Better keep an eye on Ford Smith, who defeated Buddy Baer at Yankee stadium last Tuesday night. . . . Not a bad heavyweight prospect.

Ten Years Ago Today—Mrs. Fred Letts of Onwentsia eliminated the defending champion, Mrs. Dorothy Campbell Hurd, in the second round of the women's national golf tournament. . . . College football ticket sales were breaking all records. . . . Hugh Fullerton, experting for THE TRIBUNE, picked the Washington Senators to defeat the Pirates in the world series.

Complete the "Hair Cycle" and HAIR LOSS STOPS says Charles Nessler



NO. You can't stop hair from falling out with Charles Nessler's Pro-Ker. Nor with anything else, for that matter. Nature intends that hair should fall out; and should be constantly replaced with a good, healthy growth of new, live, lustrous hair.

The trouble is following unscientific advice, we go at the proposition backwards. We fail to help nature replace fallen hair. We often hinder natural replacement.

Pro-Ker, Charles Nessler's latest achievement, assists the hair-growing cycle, causes the scalp to replace hair. Pro-Ker keeps the scalp active—alive. Pro-Ker encourages the scalp to restore a crop of new, healthy hair, no matter what your age—how great your hair loss—whether you now suffer from secondary scalp troubles as dandruff, over oiliness, itching scalp.

Monnett Makes Field Goal.

Three plays gained only a yard after which Monnett dropped back to the 20 yard line and booted a field goal.

The last score came in the final six minutes. With New York driven back near its own goal, Danowski attempted a pass, which Hubbard blocked and caught in almost the same maneuver and lumbered five yards for a touchdown. Monnett added the extra point with a placement kick.

LEO WINS FROM ST. GEORGE, 28-0; 3 PLAYERS HURT

Leo defeated St. George, 28 to 0, in the opening game of the Catholic High school football season yesterday at Shewbridge field.

Bub Mulcahy, Leo quarter back, playing his third and last season, suffered a broken collar bone on the first play, while Art Heil, full back, received a fractured hand. Tom Madden, end, was carried from the field with a badly wrenched knee.

Bowen Goes Over.

Leo scored in the first quarter when a blocked punt was recovered by Cahill on the St. George 18 yard line. Bowen went around left end for a touchdown and Murphy place kicked the extra point.

In the second period Brennan caught Bowen's 18 yard pass for a touchdown, Murphy again botted the point. St. George took the kickoff on its 8 yard line and a put was blocked, the ball rolling over the line, where Murphy fell on it for a safety.

Two Passes Score.

Two forward passes went for touchdowns in the third and fourth quarters. Clark, who replaced Bowen, passed 21 yards into the end zone to Rolwicz, who went in for Cahill. Clark shot a 19 yard aerial to Mackey, who ran 5 yards and over the goal line.

In a practice contest St. Rita defeated St. Philip at St. Rita field, 19 to 7.

Hawthorne Faces Loss if He Wins Gold Cup.

BY FRENCH LANE.

When definite word came yesterday that Alfred G. Vanderbilt's great race horse Discovery would leave Baltimore tomorrow and arrive at Hawthorne on Wednesday to fill his engagement in the Hawthorne Gold Cup Saturday, the men who operate the turnstiles were jubilant. Not so the men who handle the pari-mutuel betting department. Theirs was a feeling of alarm.

The turnstile operators know that Discovery is the biggest turf gate attraction in America, so they visioned their busiest afternoon of the season. But those who man the pari-mutuel betting department know that most everybody who visits the track will have a bet on Discovery, and that regardless of how many tickets are sold or what the actual odds should be, the mutuels must pay no less than $2.20 for each $2 wagered on the Vanderbilt champion.

Should Be 1 to 50.

With 126 pounds on his back in the weight-for-age Gold Cup event, Discovery looks like the standout favorite of the year in American racing. Bookmakers probably would make him a 1 to 50 choice or even prohibit folks from betting on him by making him a 1 to 100 shot.

It is the law of pari-mutuel betting, however, that the tracks must return to the bettor more than the percentage it extracts for each dollar wagered. In Illinois this percentage, called "the take," is 6½ per cent plus the breakage, which makes it about 8 per cent. The lowest the tracks can return is 10 cents on the dollar, thus making each winning $2 ticket worth $2.20. The same price must be paid in the place and show betting.

Got a Million?

Now if some person who had a million dollars thought enough of Discovery's chances of winning the Gold Cup that he would wager it on him through the mutuel betting machines at the track he would, in the event of a Discovery victory, receive in return $1,100,000. The track would have no chance of breaking even on what the suckers would bet on long shots in the race.

It isn't at all likely that anybody will be out at Hawthorne on Saturday afternoon with a million dollars in his pocket which he will wager on Discovery, but there could easily be $50,000 bet on him and much less bet on the other starters, which would cause the track to lose on the race—a situation which hasn't arisen often where the pari-mutuel system is the mode of betting.

Many to Shoot at Moon.

Of course, there will be some money wagered on Discovery's rivals in the Gold Cup even though their chance of beating him at weight for age appears to be a hopeless one. Two dollar players, who wager most of the money at the track, do not like to take a chance on a 1 to 10 favorite. They prefer to toss the two bucks at the moon, hoping and praying that a long shot may come tumbling down. This doesn't often happen when Discovery is in the race.

LaMonte Faces Engel Tonight at Marigold

Bob La Monte, Chicago welterweight, and George Engel, Plymouth, Ind., tonight will meet in a return bout at eight rounds at Marigold Gardens, Broadway and Grace street. La Monte scored an upset by beating Engel at Marigold Sept. 2 in a hard eight round battle. Prior to the match Engle had whipped Billy Miller Aug. 12 and Puggy Weinert July 24. La Monte, who finished his 1934 campaign by losing to Billy Celebron, includes Nick Ellenwood and Patrick Henry among his victims this year. The preliminary card:

Milt Aron vs. Aubrey [Kid] Martin [6], junior welterweights.
Willie Davis vs. Hershie Wilson [5], lightweights.
Nestor Brugsman vs. Harold Brown [4], welterweights.
Goldie O'Hara vs. Les Schultz [4], middleweights.
Lou Talaber vs. Zack Malkov [wrestling].
Babe Kasaboski and Dale Haddock.

Nango Singh and Pat Newman will clash in the main bout of the wrestling program tonight at White City, 63d street and South Park avenue. Supporting matches:

Ed Williams and Bill Brooks.
Jimmy Demetral and Jimmy Ryan.
Enrico Marchi and Charley Peterson.

Members of the Chicago Cardinals and their traditional National Professional league football rivals, the Chicago Bears, are expected to be in attendance at the wrestling show tomorrow night at Arcadia Gardens, the Cardinals to root for their teammate, Pete Mehringer, and the Bears to cheer for Jim McMillen, vice president of their organization. Mehringer will clash with Harry Kalademos and McMillen is matched against Pat Murphy, Columbus, O., in two of four supporting matches to the George Zaharias-Chief Little Wolf windup.

Max Marek, 1933 Chicago Golden Gloves light heavyweight champion, will be in quest of his fifth triumph in as many professional starts in an eight round contest at Chicago Stadium Friday. His opponent is Mickey Dugan of Cleveland, thus indicating that Marek is up against his strongest opposition. Dugan made a success of his Chicago debut at Arcadia Gardens Sept. 20 by scoring a one round knockout of Clinton Bridges. Marek, managed by the Catholic Youth organization, has knocked out Scotty Fuller and George Bittner and whipped Steve Roberts and Russ Schultz as a pro.

In the WAKE of the NEWS

EARLIER CHICAGO.

DEAR WAKE: We sometimes think street car and taxi fares are high in these days. I chanced to look at an old schedule of hack tarifs for 1886 when the dollar bought more than it does now.

The hack fare for conveying a passenger from one railroad depot to another was $1.

This dollar rate prevailed for any distance less than 1 mile, with 50 cents for each additional passenger.

Distances over 1 mile and less than 2 miles were $1.50, and $2 for any distance exceeding 2 miles. Children were additional at half the regular charge for adults.

Day rates for a hackney coach or other vehicle drawn by two horses was $8. Hour rates were $2 for the first hour and $1 for each additional hour or fraction thereof.

Present taxi fares do not seem stiff after that, do they?—T. I. B.

Before me I have an old program of the year's final reception on April 22, 1891. Many of the names among the fancy dancers have figured since in Chicago's business and social life. Here are some of them: Florence Mason, Anna Shannon, Trixie Fergus, Mamie Ring, Memay Kennedy, Allie Baker, Edwina Martine [now conducting the school of her father], David Oliver, Cora Spicer, Stella Woodbury, Willie Wade, Viva Snow, Willie Shannon, Ilda Follows, Milton Ehrlich, Libbie Marshall, Emily Liddell, Nettie Tuohy, Edna Richolson, Lillie Christie, Mabel Curran, Grace Albright, Edith Sheppard, Roy Oliver, Harry Kennedy, Louise Karcher, Hazel Henderson.—L. T. D.

Years ago we kids in the "valley" knew all the cops by their nicknames and at 9 p. m. when they yelled at us "Run home, ye devils, and tell yer mother she wants you," we called back at them "Goodnight" with their nickname attached. Some of these cops were Snorky Casey, Slewfoot O'Brien, Tug O'Malley, Clubfoot Regan, Sneaker Houlihan, Fancy McGuire, Balloon Burke, Four Fingers Brown, Freelunch Gabel, Baldy Root, Chinny Harding, Slats Slattery, Black Jack Mattox, Greasy Vest Lynch and Tubby Welbasky.—Friend Bat.

SALISBURY AND CUMMINGS TIE AT ONWENTSIA

Each Cards 159 in 23d Annual Powwow.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

The end of the trail in the 23d annual Pow-Wow tournament of the Onwentsia club yesterday found Dexter Cummings of Onwentsia and Kimball Salisbury of Shore Acres tied for the major prize of the two days' play. Each had a 36 hole low gross score of 159.

Cummings, former Yale star who held the national intercollegiate title twice, lagged in the first day's play Saturday with 84, but sprinted home yesterday with a 75, four over par and the best card of the tournament.

Salisbury Comes In With 78.

John D. Ames of Glen View, who had led the opening round with 80, slipped to 83 yesterday for 163. Other low gross scores for 36 holes included George McLaughlin, 81—81—162; Frank Snow, 82—80—162; H. P. Isham, 86—80—166; D. P. Welles, 88—79—167; Champ Carry, 85—85—170, and E. M. Barnhart, 82—88—170.

Tennis Player Tries Golf.

Willard N. Boyden, a tennis player who has just taken up golf this season, set some sort of a record on the 170 yard 14th hole, where he needed 31 strokes to hole out. Twenty-five of these were taken in escaping a trap, into which his drive trickled after apparently having carried the green.

The complete prize list follows:

SATURDAY.

Low net Class A—F. R. Blossom, 82—8—74, and E. M. Barnhart, 82—8—74.

Low net foursome—Kingman Douglass, 88—9—79; D. B. Fulton, 87—10—77; Kimball Salisbury, 81—6—75, and Peter Berkey, 93—11—82. Total 313.

High gross—W. N. Boyden, 119.

SUNDAY.

Low net—D. P. Welles, 79—8—71.

Low net twosome—H. T. Ashton and H. A. Coffin, 181—36—145.

36 HOLE PRIZES.

WORLD'S WHEAT STOCKS LOWEST IN SEVEN YEARS

Excess Reserve May Be Wiped Out.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

If the estimates of the United States department of agriculture are borne out the world surplus of wheat at the close of the current season will be the smallest since 1928. The excess world supply which has been built up in recent years, largely through operations of various national governments, is likely to be eliminated.

The world supply of wheat this season is reckoned by the government's statisticians as the smallest in 13 years and about 330 million bushels less than in 1934. Estimated world production is 3,340 million bushels. Adding to this the 800 million bushels carried over from last season, exclusive of Russia, the indicated total supply is 4,140 million bushels. Last year's production was 3,559 million bushels and the carryover was 1,100 million bushels, or a total of 4,659 millions.

Wheat Reserves Reduced.

By the end of the present season it is expected the world wheat reserve will have been cut to between 400 to 500 million bushels—an amount not greatly in excess of what was regarded as normal prior to 1928 as a normal carryover.

The decline in production this year is due to the poor conditions existing in the southern hemisphere. The northern hemisphere crop is about 112 million bushels larger than last year, but production in Argentina and Australia combined is expected to amount to only about 140 million bushels.

The United States wheat supply is tentatively put at 747 million bushels by the department. Deducting normal domestic requirements of 625 million bushels would leave an indicated carryover of nearly 125 millions. Such a carryover is regarded as near "normal," but the reserve has not dipped that low for several years.

Hard Wheat Below Needs.

The figures for the United States do not take into consideration the probability that domestic requirements this year will be larger because much of the hard spring wheat is light in weight. The supply of hard wheat is actually below domestic needs and the government expresses the opinion that it will be necessary to import about 35 million bushels of high protein wheat.

Excluding the September futures there was a moderate decline in grain prices in the Chicago market last week. Trading quieted down and prices eased slightly following the sharp advance of the preceding week occasioned by fears of an outbreak of war.

Price Range for Week.

FALL CLOTHING TRADE AIDED BY COOL WEATHER

Local business responded to cooler weather late last week as the drop in the mercury urged buyers to provide themselves with fall and winter clothing, the Chicago Association of Commerce reported yesterday.

Sales in fall and winter goods were heavy and many stores recalled temporary employés laid off earlier in the week. Wholesalers continued the pace of the preceding week. Buying in rural areas continued ahead of a year ago.

Chicago also continued to make industrial gains. Improvement was not sharp, but there was a tendency to add men to pay rolls and to increase production schedules.

Rails Pay Less in Claims for Robbery of Freight

Claims resulting from robbery of freight in transit on the railroads in the first six months of this year resulted in total payments by the railroads of $492,256 compared with $596,339 in the corresponding period last year, the Association of American Railroads reported yesterday.

Two Roads Cut New York Run to 16½ Hours

A new schedule reducing the running time of trains between New York and Chicago to 16 hours and 30 minutes was put into effect yesterday by the New York Central and Pennsylvania railroads. This is the second reduction within five months. On April 28 a schedule cutting the time from 18 hours to 17 hours was established by the two roads.

Company officials asserted yesterday that this new schedule between the largest and the second largest cities in the country is the fastest in the history of the roads. Railroad men, however, declared that they were looking forward to the time when the running time will be 15 hours flat.

Ceremonies Mark Departure.

Ceremonies were held yesterday in the La Salle street and Union depots as the Twentieth Century Limited of the New York Central and the Broadway Limited of the Pennsylvania railroads pulled out at 3:30 p. m. on the new running schedule. Lilly Pons, opera singer; Joan Crawford and Franchot Tone, motion picture stars, were among the passengers who boarded the Twentieth Century on its first record run to New York.

At the Union depot Pennsylvania company officials and business leaders gathered to witness the departure of the Broadway train. Veteran employés of the road were in charge of the train. Michael Brucks, engineer, has served 42 years in the cab, while Benjamin F. Carter, conductor, has been with the company 47 years.

Field and Kelly Aboard.

At New York 5,000 persons saws the Twentieth Century leave the Grand Central terminal in two sections with a passenger list headed by Marshall Field and Mayor Edward J. Kelly of Chicago. Music was furnished by a "red cap" band. The ramp leading to the trains was lined with flowers and plants.

The Twentieth Century will average 58 miles an hour, including stops, in its run to New York. The distance by rail on the New York Central road is 960 miles. The Broadway will average 55 miles an hour. The distance on the Pennsylvania road is 910 miles.

Reductions in the running time of other trains on the roads were also put into effect. The Wolverine of the New York Central will in the future arrive and depart from the La Salle street depot instead of the Central station at Roosevelt road.

Faster Time to St. Louis.

The Illinois Central railroad yesterday inaugurated a new schedule for trains between Chicago and St. Louis which will reduce by one hour the running time between the two cities. Two trains, the Michigan Boulevard and the Daylight, will make the run between the two cities in 5 hours and 30 minutes.

Ceremonies were held in the Central depot as the Michigan Boulevard left at 12:35 p. m. for St. Louis. The train will arrive at St. Louis at 6:03 p. m. The Daylight will leave Chicago each day at 4 p. m.

'CODE' IS SET UP FOR WHOLESALE TOBACCO TRADE

Washington, D. C., Sept. 29.—(AP)—A "code" for the wholesale tobacco industry, the first of its kind since NRA's collapse, was announced today by the federal trade commission.

Technically, the agreement is known as "trade practice rules" and is similar to those which have been issued by the commission since long before the NRA. Although liberalized somewhat beyond past commission practices, it still was far from the elaborate regulations which linked retail, wholesale, and tobacco manufacturing industries under the Blue Eagle.

The new agreement contains no labor provisions. It has two groups of rules. The first covers unfair practices under terms of the trade commission act. Persistence in them will prompt court action.

In the second category is a rule, termed new to commission practices, forbidding "loss leader" sales. These are sales of some articles at a loss with the intention of attracting business in other lines. Officials conceded court tests would be needed to insure enforcement of this section.

Brands Work of Congress 'Unfavorable'

A critical review of the work of the recently adjourned session of congress is made in the monthly review of business by the Guaranty Trust Company of New York, which sums up the work of the season as "mainly unfavorable."

While some of the laws enacted contained favorable features, the review says, "they are mostly of such a nature as to create uncertainty rather than confidence in the business outlook, either by imposing or threatening higher taxes, by raising the costs of doing business, by further straining public credit, by broadening the fields of regulation and of governmental competition with private business, or by striking at the security of property and the sanctity of contracts."

Record for Extravagance.

The bank expresses the view that congress not only set a new record for extravagance but also set a new high for "hasty and ill-considered legislation."

Discussing the banking act the review found that it "is much less unsound than the measure that was originally proposed."

"The unsound feature of deposit guarantee is made permanent but in a much less dangerous way than in the act of 1933," the bank says. "The law contains unfortunate provisions broadening the powers of national banks to make loans on real estate. More serious still, it further increases the authority of the federal reserve board over the management of the reserve banks, open market policies, rediscount rates, member bank reserves, and the elegibility of paper for rediscount."

Questions Political Control.

The bank questions the wisdom of endowing the board with such powers because all of its members are political appointees. On the social security legislation the review is equally critical.

"The social security act," it asserts, "has called forth less severe criticism than many other measures with far less dangerous possibilities because it is directed toward a humanitarian end that compels sympathy. Nevertheless, an analysis of its probable effects must give rise to grave misgivings. Its immediate effect will be to impose a financial burden on business that will grow progressively heavier as time goes on."

HELLER COMPANY PLANS OFFERING OF STOCK ISSUE

Walter E. Heller & Co., instalment bankers, have filed with the Securities and Exchange commission an application for registration of 65,465 shares of 7 per cent cumulative preferred stock, $25 par value, and 274,094 shares of common stock.

Of the preferred stock, 40,000 shares, with each share carrying a warant to purchase one share of common stock, will be offered for sale by a group headed by F. Eberstadt & Co., which will also dispose of 20,000 share of common stock. The remainder of the stock is to be registered, with the exception of 40,000 shares of common reserved for insurance upon use of warants, is to be issued for preferred and common stock outstanding at present.

COMMITTEE FORMED TO PROMOTE CITY AS WHOLESALE CENTER

The Chicago Wholesale Market council has appointed a dry goods committee of leading wholesalers in the Chimarket district as the first step in promoting the city as a wholesale center, the council announced yesterday. John T. Pirie Jr. of Carson Pirie Scott and company is chairman of the committee.

JOHN C. MANNERUD.

John C. Mannerud, former assistant to Rufus C. Dawes, president of A Century of Progress, and for many years an executive of Carson Pirie Scott and company, wholesale, has been appointed secretary-treasurer of the council to assist in the new activities.

Similar organizations of other industries within the district will follow immediately, according to Glenn G. Hayes, director of the council, formed three months ago to promote the area lying directly west of the loop which for three generations has been known as the Chicago wholesale market district.

Burlington Transportation to Open 2 New Bus Lines

The Burlington Transportation company will make two long extensions in bus service, A. Cottsworth Jr., trafic manager, announced yesterday. A new service starts today between Salt Lake City, Utah, and San Francisco, and another line will be opened between Kansas City, Mo., and St. Joseph, Mo., tomorrow.

Steel Output Eases; Expect Upturn Soon

Strength was displayed in the steel industry last week despite a decline of another point to 51 per cent in the operating rate, the magazine Steel reported yesterday. Favorable factors included the largest volume of structural steel awards since June and heavy commitments of pig iron for the fourth quarter.

Much of the immediate future of the industry still depends upon the automobile makers, the journal said. The motor car producers have been delaying steel releases for the new models, but this barrier is expected to be removed within a few days, when releases are to be made.

Best Period Still Ahead.

"Beginning the fourth quarter, steelmakers are convinced that the year's most promising period is just ahead," the magazine said. "September averaged about 52 per cent, practically on a parity with February, and also highest since that month. The more stable conditions this year are indicated by the fact that in between these two peaks the steel rate has not flucutated more than 12 points.

"Actual ingot tonnage for September, when official figures become available this week, will show that the year's total to Oct. 1 has been raised to about 16 per cent over the comparable period in 1934."

Raw Materials in Demand.

Demand for raw materials constitutes a dominant note in the market, the journal said, with Cleveland sellers booking 30,000 tons of pig iron last week, while a Pittsburgh steel interest is reported to have entered 10,000 tons of basic iron for an Ohio manufacturer.

War influences are figuring more conspicuously in the market, the report said.

CONTROL GROUP IN INVESTMENTS SOUGHT BY SEC

Old Code Committee Asked to Aid.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 29.—(AP)—The aid of investment bankers was asked by the securities commission today in a campaign to suppress fraud and promote fair trade standards. Twenty-one investment bankers, constituting the code committee of the old NRA code, were appealed to in a move which embraces "the desirability of developing plans for a permanent organization of a self-regulatory body of investment bankers to coöperate with the government for the elimination of fraud and the promotion of fair practices."

Joseph P. Kennedy, former commission chairman, who suggested the plan to the code committee, said that aside from providing the commission with a central advisory unit on investment banking problems and handling complaints, "it seems likely, as understanding and knowledge of our security markets advance, that legislation altering or expanding the present scope of control over these markets will become necessary."

Committee in Charge.

B. Howell Griswold Jr., chairman of the code committee, said that upon the commission's approval the committee would proceed to work out details of the program.

James M. Landis, new commission chairman, advised Griswold that, pending a permanent organization, the committee would be recognized as a medium for presenting views of investment bankers, setting up regional committees for hearings on unfair practice complaints against those recognizing the committee's supervision, and for centering continued studies of the investment banking problem. Landis did not mention legislative possibilities.

Similar to Exchange Plan.

Commission officials said the new arrangement may resolve ultimately into something similar to the business conduct committee on the New York Stock exchange, which has authority to expel members.

At the time of formation of the investment bankers' code it was planned to register all investment bankers and to build up public recognition of such registered bankers so that expulsion would be a real punishment.

The commission said it has asked about 3,200 bankers if they desired to support the proposed organization, and that 90 per cent of those replying were favorable.

Business Gain Creates Jobs, Lifts Wages

A pickup in business activity among manufacturing and mechanical industries during August resulted in increased employment, higher wages, and a reduction in the army of unemployed, according to surveys just released by the National Industrial Conference board.

The board estimated the number of unemployed persons in August was 9,901,000, a decrease of 220,000 persons, or 2.2 per cent, from the number of workers out of jobs in July, and a drop of 322,000 persons, or 3.2 per cent, from August last year. All classes of business activity are included in the board's compilation, but the manufacturing and mechanical industries contributed far more in absorbing unemployed persons than any other groups.

More Jobs than Year Ago.

August figures as compared with August, 1934, showed the following percentage declines in unemployment: manufacturing and mechanical industries, 14.4 per cent; domestic and personal service, 6.2 per cent; transportation, 2.6 per cent, and miscellaneous industries, 3.7 per cent. Unemployment in the trade group was 0.4 per cent higher, and the mining industry showed an increase of 5.8 per cent.

Another survey revealed higher earnings and increased employment among twenty-five manufacturing industries. Average hourly earnings for the month reached 60.1 cents, an increase of 0.5 per cent over July and the highest point reached since the upward movement in hourly wages began in the summer of 1933.

Although usually there is little change in manufacturing activity from July to August, this year an accelerated pace was noted by the board, with total man hours worked 3.1 per cent larger than in July.

One Per Cent Above July.

The number of employés in the industries as a whole was 1 per cent higher than in July and combined pay rolls were 3.4 per cent larger. Average weekly earnings were raised from $21.75 in July to $22.28 in August, an upturn of 2.4 per cent. An increase of 0.5 per cent in the cost of living, however, partly nullified the gain in actual weekly earnings.

Compared with August, 1934, a distinct improvement was shown. There were 5.6 per cent more workers employed in August of this year than a year ago, their combined working hours were up 17.2 per cent, and pay rolls swelled 20.2 per cent. Average hourly earnings were 2.2 per cent above 1934, average hours of work per week gained 11 per cent, and average weekly earnings stepped up 13.8 per cent over August last year, when NRA was still in effect.

STOCKS CLIMB DURING WEEK, BUT TRADE LAGS

Interest Is Centered in Utilities.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Sept. 29.—With most of the big scale operators on the sidelines awaiting clarification of the European war situation and the outlook on domestic trade, the stock market has lapsed once more into a state of comparative inertia. Trading last week lapsed into the slowest pace since last June and only 5,843,740 shares were traded.

Prices regained a point or so of the ground lost in the previous week's "war scare" reaction, but the last three sessions found the list growing more and more susceptible to selling, with the leaders showing a pronounced tendency to ease to lower levels. Important buying was almost totally lacking.

Report Sign of Betterment.

Brokerage house observers reported accumulating signs of returning confidence among the speculative fraternity, however. There is a growing disposition in the street to believe that the Ethiopian situation will be settled eventually without serious hostilities and despite the truculent attitude which Mussolini still maintains in face of pressure from Geneva.

That a war would bring about a period of liquidation of stocks and other securities is generally admitted notwithstanding the fact that this country now has most of the world's gold, is a creditor nation, and is unlikely to make big international loans.

Investors Retain Stocks.

Investors who have been laying in stocks so confidently during the last few months in anticipation of a fall upturn apparently cannot see any reason in the trade indices so far to turn loose their accumulated holdings. Steel output, for all its letup, is still more than double that of the corresponding week of last year, while retail buying holds 12 to 34 per cent above the 1934 figures.

Among the different stock groups interest was centered largely in the utilities, due to a number of developments, including the court action started at Baltimore to test the holding company act, and the bankruptcy motion of the big Standard Gas and Electric system.

PROTECTIVE COMMITTEE FOR THE HOLDERS OF DEBENTURES AND NOTES OF:

Standard Gas & Electric Company

(a Delaware Corporation)

*6% Gold Notes due October 1, 1935.
*6% Convertible Gold Notes due October 1, 1935.
6% Gold Debentures Series A, due February 1, 1951.
6% Gold Debentures Series B, due December 1, 1966.
6% Gold Debentures issued by Standard Power and Light Corporation and assumed by Standard Gas and Electric Company due February 1, 1957.

To the Holders of the Notes and Debentures aforesaid:

The Company has filed a petition for reorganization under Section 77B of the Bankruptcy Act. This action follows inability by the Company to secure sufficient assents from the holders of the Notes due October 1, 1935, in the total amount of $24,649,500, to a Plan of Extension making the said notes due October 1, 1940.

The present management has temporarily been continued in possession of the property. The Court has fixed October 25, 1935, as the return day to determine whether the present management shall remain in possession during the pendency of reorganization proceedings. Immediate representation of Noteholders and Debenture holders is therefore essential in order to make this vitally important determination within the short intervening period.

At the request of holders of a substantial amount of the Notes and Debentures, the undersigned have agreed to serve as a Committee for the protection of such securities, as announced September 25, 1935.

The Company received permission from the Court on its application to continue to seek consents of the Noteholders to the Company's Plan for a five year extension. This is apparently the Company's only solution for its problems.

There are outstanding Forty-nine million dollars in principal amount of long term debentures constituting approximately two-thirds of the total funded debt of the Company. The Notes and Debentures are equally unsecured and they have a mutual interest to effect a reorganization which will give them both a sound security and a sound company.

*(The Committee regards the 6% Notes and 6% Convertible Notes due October 1, 1935, as having the same interests as the Debentures, but the Committee proposes to defer representation of these notes until clarification of certain questions affecting October 1, 1935, interest upon them.)

Problems confronting the Company, which indicate the necessity for major structural changes, include, among others, the following:

1. The reduction in the coverage of earnings and assets upon the interest and principal of outstanding notes and debentures.
2. The enactment of the Public Utility Holding Company Bill.

No member of this Committee is associated with the Company or its bankers, nor is any member of this Committee associated directly or indirectly with the Standard system. The Committee proposes to act independently and from the investor's point of view.

The Committee is not seeking deposits of securities at this time, but requests that you communicate with the Secretary and register your holdings with the Committee upon a form therefor which will be furnished by the Secretary upon request. No financial obligation is assumed by any holder registering with the Committee.

To the Holders of

5½% First Mortgage Bonds
Series "A" Due 1951 Series "B" Due 1952

MANITOBA POWER COMPANY, LIMITED is one of five companies in the Winnipeg Electric group.

THE General Plan of Consolidation and Readjustment for these companies has now been formally approved by the bondholders of all the companies except Manitoba Power Company, Limited.

THE original meeting of Manitoba Power bondholders was adjourned to October 10, 1935, because there was not a sufficient amount of bonds represented to comply with certain unusually exacting provisions of the Trust Deed.

IT is distinctly in your interest for the adoption of the Plan to be facilitated by its approval at the meeting on October 10, 1935.

FOLLOWING this approval the necessary shareholders' meetings will be called as soon as possible. Upon the Plan becoming operative, steps will be taken forthwith to effect the exchange of your bonds for the new General Mortgage Bonds under the Plan on which interest will accrue from January 2, 1935. The accrued interest will be paid at the time the exchange is made.

NO bondholder will suffer any disadvantage by promptly sending in his proxy, nor can any bondholder obtain any advantage over others by deferring action, because if the Plan is approved, it will become binding on all the bondholders and others concerned, and if it is not approved, it cannot be carried out.

Whether the amount of your holdings is large or small you should send in your proxy immediately.

High Grade Company Liens in Demand Last Week.

New York, Sept. 29.—(AP)—Quiet and orderly improvement was the general tendency in the corporate bond market last week.

Investment demand for high priced issues that are non-callable was so persistent that this division of the market scored gains that compared favorably with other groups for the first time since the refunding vogue cut sharply into the popularity of low yield bonds. All sections of the list made progress.

Government bonds were erratic. On most every occasion when the list headed upward, offerings increased and the majority of treasury and guaranteed obligations sank back. Other than a continuance of the redistribution of recently sold bonds there was little to definitly account for their behavior.

Believe Institutions Switching.

Some investment circles professed to believe there was a certain amount of institutional liquidation for the purpose of converting funds into other classes of securities having a more attractive yield.

During the week it was made known that the treasury desired to redeem at par and interest all gold bonds of the government now outstanding before Jan. 1, thus complying with the congressional mandate in the shortest time allowable. About $8,424,000,000 is involved in the deal and if completed, will leave the United States without any securities outstanding bearing a promise to pay in gold. Most all of the securities now in the hands of the public are selling above par, and unless quoted values decline to that level it was considered unlikely holders would rush to turn them in at the government figure.

Foreign Bonds Irregular.

Foreign bonds were subjected to alternate periods of strength and weakness, depending upon the vagaries of the African war situation. British loans were in demand at higher prices most of the week but Italian obligations followed an up and down course, and ended the period with losses.

The Pacific Gas and Electric company and the Detroit Edison company were among other large corporations marketing new securities to retire presently outstanding obligations. Both issues were sold quickly. The state of New York sold a $30,000,000 issue at remarkably low interest rates. The syndicate that won the offering placed the securities on the market immediately after the award and sold them within an hour.

Indiana Telephone to Pay $274,000 of 6 Pct. Bonds

Indiana Telephone Utilities company will redeem on Nov. 1 at 103 and accrued interest all of its 6 per cent series A sinking fund gold bonds due Dec. 1, 1946, totaling $274,000.

International Shoe.

Investors' Guide: Will you please give me data on International Shoe?—C. M. L.

Answer: International Shoe company is the largest shoe manufacturer in the world. It produced almost 45,000,000 pairs in the 1934 fiscal year. It has 95 separate manufacturing units, some of which do tanning and others the manufacture of general supplies. Most of them are in the St. Louis area.

The bulk of its business is production of a few low priced staple lines, mostly for rural areas. They are handled by more than 70,000 dealers. The company also manufactures higher grade specialty lines and produces shoes to specifications for some chains.

The company processes most of the materials it uses.

Net sales in the six months to May 31, 1935, dropped about $1,100,000 to $36,891,000 and net income fell off about $1,300,000 to $3,568,000, or $1.07 a share. This compared with sales of $37,785,000 and net income of $4,860,000, or $1.46 a share, for the six months to May 31, 1934.

Two price increases of five to ten cents a pair each made in June and July may help earnings in the second half.

Year ended Nov. 30—	Net sales.	Net income.	Income per common share.
1934	$77,169,000	$8,967,000	$2.69
1933	70,343,000	9,091,000	2.60
1932	69,489,000	6,643,000	1.89
1931	88,802,000	9,745,000	2.00

In 1933 the company retired 100,000 shares of $100 par preferred stock.

Current position on May 31, 1935, was strong. Capitalization is represented solely by 3,350,000 no par shares, on which dividends of 50 cents a quarter are currently being paid. The stock is rather high grade.

Warren-teed Seed.

Investors' Guide: I have ten shares of Warren-teed Seed company stock. I have not heard a thing about the company since June 3, 1931. Can you give me any information on it?—D. A.

Answer: We have the following report from Commercial Warehouses, Inc., Chicago:

"Warren-teed Seed company was at one time a tenant in this building, but discontinued business in 1931. The assets were bought in at a bankruptcy sale at that time."

Apparently the stock is worthless.

ITALY BANKRUPT, GERMANY NEAR IT, SAY BRITISH

Fear Effects of War and Spending for Arms.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Sept. 29.—"Italy is bankrupt and financial disaster in Germany is only a matter of a short time if present methods are continued." This, in brief, is the opinion of the best informed international bankers in London.

Italy, it is argued, has less than 60 million dollars in gold to support her entire financial structure and if suddenly called upon to make any considerable payments would necessarily default. To engage in a world-wide unpopular war would immediately close down all sources of money and credit and bring pressure to bear to fulfill her obligations, both governmental and private.

Financial experts are, however, not infallible judges of what may or may not happen. A British banker today told THE TRIBUNE how, just before the Russian-Japanese war, the late Jacob Schiff was giving a dinner at his house in New York. The probability of a war between Russia and Japan was discussed.

War Despite Lack of Money.

Japan was then in great need of money. The government was borrowing at 7 per cent, with a heavy discount on the face amount of the securities.

One of Schiff's guests, a prominent New York banker, gave the opinion that Japan could not go to war, as she had no money. Schiff said if history were reviewed it would be found that no country had ever been prevented from going to war for lack of money or credit. The dinner progressed and late in the evening the butler brought in a telegram and handed it to Schiff. He read it and passed it around the table. It was a brief sentence informing Schiff that Japan had declared war on Russia.

The real danger to the present financial situation in Europe, the bankers declare, lies in Germany, however, as nearly every large country in Europe and the United States as well, are heavily interested in the German financial situation remaining sound.

Germany Spending on Arms.

On the surface there appears to be little change in German financial affairs, but London bankers with German connections are alarmed at the methods being used to secure money, vast sums of which are being spent on armament. It is stated with considerable show of knowledge and authority that the purchase of outstanding securities, which give the impression of a reduction in national debt, is not a genuine effort in that direction, but is in the nature of a trick which would in all other large countries be looked upon as very near the danger line of chicanery.

It is claimed that when outstanding national obligations are reduced by the purchase of securities evidences of indebtedness are not retired or destroyed, as they would be elsewhere, but are resold at a favorable moment and the money used to finance the huge national expenses incurred in the rapid expansion of armament.

Stocks of Crude Oil Fall 682,000 Barrels in Week

Washington, D. C., Sept. 29.—[Special.]—The bureau of mines reports stocks of domestic and foreign crude oil Sept. 21 totaled 306,637,000 barrels, a decrease of 682,000 barrels from the previous week. The bureau said current reports indicated a further increase in production, a material decline in imports, and an increase in crude runs to stills. Daily average production in the week was estimated at 2,835,000 barrels, or 20,000 above the previous week's average.

Five Dead and 10 Injured In Tenement House Blast and Fire—Cubs Come Home; Leave for Detroit Today

TENEMENT HOUSE IN WHICH FIVE LOST LIVES; FIRE FOLLOWS BASEMENT EXPLOSION—View of three story building at 558 Taylor street last night after occupants were trapped by flames which claimed lives of five and injured ten others. The dead included three women, one man, and a girl. The interior was in ruins. Note hole torn in basement wall by force of explosion. (Story on page 1.)

VICTORIOUS CUBS BACK HOME—Stanley Hack, third baseman of the National league champions, and Mrs. Hack as the Cubs returned here from St. Louis last night. They lost the season final to St. Louis yesterday, 2 to 1. (Story on page 17.) [TRIBUNE Photo.]

HUSBAND ASKS ALIMONY—Jan Drohojowski, former Polish count, and his wife, from whom he seeks $200 a month for support of his small daughter in Los Angeles court. He contends his wife is worth $1,500,000.

FIRE VICTIM—Rachael Angelesano, one of five dead in tenement house explosion and blaze. (Story on page 1.)

[TRIBUNE Photos.]

[Associated Press Wirephoto.]

JOE LOUIS BRINGS CROWD TO CHURCH—Hastings street, Detroit, turned out en masse yesterday when the "brown bomber" and his bride went to the Calvary Baptist church. Police had to help clear the way for the boxer and Mrs. Louis. The distinguished visitor put a $100 bill in the collection box. (Story on page 1.)

PLAYBOY OF ANOTHER DAY—The once dapper Harry K. Thaw, without a tie and his shoes unlaced, was wheeled from New York railroad station yesterday after his arrival from Quebec, where he had been seriously ill from grippe. (Story on page 9.) [Associated Press Wirephoto.]

LITTLE GIRL MEETS THE PRESIDENT—Alice Blodgette, a crippled child, being lifted to the platform of the presidential special during stop at North Platte, Neb. Yesterday Mr. Roosevelt's train rolled across Wyoming and Utah toward the Boulder canyon dam, which the President will dedicate today. (Story on page 1.)
